Red China Warns U.S. To Keep Out

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China warned the United States today to leave the peoples of Indochina alone and said America will be held responsible for whatever arises from U. S. action in the area.

An official statement by the Chinese government, broadcast by the New China News Agency, said the Indochinese people have "a powerful backing" of the 700 million Chinese people in their fight against "U. S. imperialism."

The statement was made in connection with the recent so-called "Summit Conference of Indochinese Peoples" which brought ousted Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk together with the Communist leaders of North Vietnam, Laos and South Vietnam last Friday and Saturday.

The Peking statement said:

"The Chinese government sternly warns U. S. imperialism:

"Since you have stretched your aggressive claws into Cambodia and are further expanding your war of aggression against Vietnam and Laos, you must be held responsible for the consequences arising therefrom."

Peking said the Indochina summit conference was of "great historical significance." It was attended by Sihanouk; Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos; Nguyen Huu Tho, president of South Vietnam's National Liberation Front, and Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam.

"It (the meeting) is a heavy blow to U. S imperialism and its lackeys," the official statement said.

"U. S. imperialism is the common enemy of the people of the whole world as well as the most ferocious enemy of the three Indochinese peoples."

It said Peking "condemns U. S. imperialism for instigating the Cambodian rightist clique to stage a reactionary coup d'etat.

"The Chinese government and people are closely watching with concern the development of the present situation in Cambodia."

Tiburon Council Renews Pitch To Annex Strawberry

Action Taken To Counter Bid By Mill Valley For Rich Land

Tiburon City Council, fighting Mill Valley's annexation bid, made its own pitch last night to annex lands in the Strawberry area (Other Tiburon council stories, page 12.)

Thus the battle which broke out four years ago over the area containing the tax-rich Town and Country Village Shopping Center was renewed.

Councilmen voted 4-1 to apply to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission "for the most extensive and feasible annexation of the Strawberry area."

Mill Valley has proposed annexation of 110 acres including the shopping center, but the area to be sought by Tiburon, not yet defined, would extend over a larger area.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said the council was talking about annexation of "all of Strawberry and other potential annexations."

The council called for formation of a citizens committee to determine other possible annexations "in the same general area," including Bel Aire.

The lone dissenter was Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood who felt the city wasn't prepared to take such a step at this time.

Mayor Denis T. Rice said the choice was to file an annexation bid "or sit back and be dog in the manger."

Tiburon has "got to show the LAFC we're serious and willing to take those people into the city," he said.

Annexation by Mill Valley would cut the tax base supporting the Richardson Bay Sanitary District and the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire Department which serve residents of both unincorporated area and sections of Tiburon, the council stated.

The loss of revenue in these districts cannot be taken lightly since they serve a substantial area of the peninsula, Fanning asserted.

Councilmen said Tiburon since its incorporation has worked to unite and annex the Tiburon Peninsula and Mill Valley was attempting to annex a

REACTION IN SENATE

Stern No To Arms Supply To Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has made it clear to the administration it opposes any U.S. arms aid to Cambodia despite that embattled nation's plea for enough military hardware to outift a large army.

"The committee was virtually in agreement and very firmly against sending assistance," said Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., after Secretary of State William P. Rogers briefed the panel behind closed doors Monday.

Agreeing with Fulbright, senior Republican committee member Sen. George Aiken of Vermont said he is sure "the President will take into consideration how this committee feels."

Fulbright and Aiken met with newsmen following the 2½-hour session with Rogers. The secretary left hurriedly saying he didn't have time to comment.

Fulbright quoted Rogers as saying the Cambodias had made a "very large request for equipping a very large army," including rifles, trucks, halftracks and airplanes—but not military personnel.

Pressed repeatedly to put a dollar figure on the amount, Fulbright said it was "in the hundreds of millions but I don't want to get into the numbers game."

"It was a helluva lot," said Aiken.

President Nixon met again today with Secretary of State Rogers, Secretary cof Defense Melvin R. Laird, and foreign afd fairs adviser Henry A. Kissinger to discuss the Cambodian situation. The session went on for nearly an hour but presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there was nothing he could report on the talks.

To a question whether the President has decided what to do about a Cambodian plea for arms aid, Ziegler said that the matter still is under discussion.

Ziegler also declined comment on developments at Monday Senate hearings and on Sen. Fulbright's statements afterward.

Ziegler appeared to rule out any specific request for congressional action in the event the administration says "yes" to the Cambodian bid for arms. The 1961 foreign aid act, he said, authorizes the President to provide aid to countries which request it.

Fulbright said the administration apparently has made no decision on going beyond what it already has done.

Publicly, at least, this has been confined to approving South Vietnamese shipment of captured Soviet AK47 rifles and allowing armed forays into Cambodian territory by South Vietnamese soldiers.

ROCKEFELLER NO LONGER NAIVE

A Millionaire Leaves Ghetto Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Rockefeller, the modest 25-year-old millionaire who became a block worker in Harlem, has retired after more than three years there. Neither Larry nor the block will be the same again.

Larry, a handsome, blond Harvard graduate who is the son of conservationist Laurance S. Rockefeller and nephew of two governors, said he is now much less "naive" about how fast change can be accomplished.

"Now I have an understanding of how deep and complex the problems are and how slow change comes with what great effort and with how many setbacks," said Larry after retiring Monday.

Some residents said Larry has done an immeasurable amount of good and point proudly to a bright, red and white block flag flying above the block as a symbol of their accomplishments.

"It's a symbol of our moving up," said Herbert Battle, a bicycle mechanic who is president of the block corporation. "People you couldn't talk to before will pitch in and help now. Larry didn't do everything for no one. He assisted us, because if someone does something for you it's no good."

Larry said that when he joined VISTA—Volunteers in Service to America, a federally sponsored volunteer program which trains block workers—he envisioned making his block an "extremely different place" after three years but that he immediately experienced setbacks.

One of his youth council leaders became a junkie, city agencies were filled with red tape, and a chicken franchise which he and the block corporation had planned to get to raise funds and employ welfare mothers fell through when a key person backed out.

On the other hand, a park opened Sunday where there once was a rubbish-filled lot and there's now a library in a once-vacant store. There's a classroom building, a full-scale tutoring program, a community center and a preschool building with a full-time teacher.

The block is still blighted by two rubble filled lots, an occasional abandoned car and garbage strewn about.

However, clean-ups are held periodically, 15 trees have been planted and seven previously blank walls are painted with the bright geometric designs by artist William Williams.

Larry has lived in a $90-a-month tenement, shared all the block's problems—even having the tires on his maroon sports car slashed—and learned all the residents' names.

Larry said he is leaving to work in conservation because he believes the block and its corporation can stand on its own. But the residents have been assured he'll be back anytime they need help.

Nudity, Words Block Paper's Funds Again

Photographs of nudes and obscene language have again brought a halt to the funding of the Sonoma State College newspaper, Cossack Steppes, this time perhaps till fall.

President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. forbade the Associated Students to publish a newspaper until a workable publications code could be established.

The Friday edition of the newspaper carried an advertisement which included a photograph of a nude woman as well as articles and letters laced with four letter words that Nichols said offended him.

"It is clear that earlier problems have not been resolved," Nichols said, referring to the freezing of funds after the March 20 edition.

The president later released the funds so the Communications Commission could meet to hear grievances brought against the editor Stanley De Witt. In a 4-to-4 vote with faculty and administrators pitted against student representatives for De Witt, he was retained as editor.

Nichols said that the newspaper is not in harmony with the policies of the state college board of trustees or the college communications code.

Editor De Witt and the student board of directors have defended the publication and called the criticism an attempt at censorship. A lawsuit to force Nichols to release the student funds which support the newspaper has been considered by the Associated Students executive board.

The president ordered that the Associated Students take no part in publishing a newspaper and that no student take part in any newspaper effort that purports to be representative of the student body.

When funds were frozen last month, the newspaper staff published three underground editions financed through personal contributions.

Nichols said any student publishing a newspaper giving the implication of campus recognition would be subject to disciplinary action.

Nichols made no provision for the establishment of a new and more workable communications code, leading students and faculty members to believe no action will be taken until the fall when a new president has been selected and Nichols returns to the ranks of the professors.

The newspaper, which has been strongly criticized by the state college board of trustees, first came under fire in the fall of 1968 with a series of articles on the successful cultivation of marijuana.

Subsequent publications under several different editors have been termed "highly offensive" with the use of nude photography and militant slogans.

Industrial Averages Take Dip

NEW YORK(UPI)—Prices tumbled across a broad front in stepped-up trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Declines routed advances for the 19th consecutive session, while the Dow Jones Industrial Average slumped to its lowest level in more than six years. The closely watched blue chip barometer was off 10.82 to 724.33.

The UPI Market Indicator, measuring all stocks traded, showed a loss of 1.56 on 1,609 issues. There were 1,066 losers and 319 winners.

Turnover of around 12.25 million shores compared with 10,240,000 shares Monday.

In the news background, economist Walter W. Heller said the nation will be lucky if it can hold inflation to an average of 3 per cent a year — about half the current rate — in the next five years.

One Wall Street analyst said that among other things, investors were jittery because they felt "the Administration has not yet mastered the problem of inflation."

Prices declined in moderately active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Amato Tops Big Field For Lagunitas Office

Joseph Amato, assistant superintendent of the Sausalito School District, has been named superintendent of the Lagunitas School District, replacing Marshall J. McCunniff, who held the post for six years. (Another Lagunitas district story, page 3.)

The 50-year-old Amato was chosen for the $17,000-a-year position unanimously last night by Lagunitas trustees. There were 74 applicants for the job. Amato has signed a two-year contract with the district and will take over his new duties July 1.

Amato's position in the Sausalito district, which he had held for four and a half years, was recently eliminated by Sausalito trustees as part of budget cuts for next year.

The new superintendent is a native of Chicago and holds a bachelor's degree from Pacific Union College in Angwin, Napa County, and a master's degree from Stanford University.

Before coming to Sausalito, Amato was principal-superintendent of the Guerneville Elementary School District in Guerneville and the Independent Elementary School District in Hayward.

He holds credentials in general elementary and general secondary education and elementary, secondary and general administration.

He and his wife and 13-year-old daughter Jennifer live at 360 Grandview Avenue, Black Point.

Rain and hail fell on San Rafael, San Anselmo and Tiburon at 5:55 p.m. A brief hail storm hit Petaluma at 4:50 p.m.

A low of 36 degrees and .05 of an inch of rain were reported in the Tamalpais Valley; a low of 40 and .01 of rain was reported in Sausalito; Bolinas had frost and .08 of rain and Petaluma reported a trace of rain and a biting 36 degrees.

Marine Jets Misfire Into Saigon Unit

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command said today an accidental attack by U.S. Marine Corps jets has killed 10 South Vietnamese troops and wounded 20 others and that fifteen Americans have died in five air crashes.

Military spokesmen said two Marine Corps A4 fighter-bombers attacked a government civilian irregular unit by mistake Monday while supporting Allied troops in battle 77 miles south-southeast of Da Nang. The accident is under investigation.

The military command reported a total of five aircraft losses—three helicopters and an Air Force AC119 gunship in Vietnam plus a fighter-bomber hit on a mission over Laos. Six GIs were wounded.

The costliest crash involved a U.S. Army transport helicopter crippled by ground fire Monday in the central highlands 244 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Eight Americans were killed and one was wounded.

The Air Force AC119 gunship crashed and burned in a rice paddy early today after takeoff from Tan Son Nhut Airport outside Saigon. Six Americans were killed and two others injured.

The twin-engine converted Flying Boxcar crashed shortly after midnight, only hours after the U.S. command reported six dead in the loss of another big gunship, an AC130, over Laos.

FACT BULLETIN #6 (The Strike) Or Who Cancelled The Contract?

In recent union circulars to Marin residents not a word is said that the union cancelled the I-J-Typographical Union #21 contract. The union does not mention that the publisher was notified in writing that as of Nov. 13, 1968, "any agreement—written, oral or implied—or any conditions of employment or other understanding now in effect between San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21 and the San Rafael Independent-Journal will terminate." Nor does the union mention that the union now insists that the very contract which it cancelled must be reinstituted with "unqualified acceptance by the company of all terms of the old contract' before it will sit down and negotiate! We leave it to our readers to judge by what strange logic a cancelled contract can become a condition for negotiating a new one.

Experts Say Inflation Slowing; Others Fear Economic Downturn

WASHINGTON (AP) —Economic indicators point to a sharp slowdown in inflation this fall, two top economists predict. They made their statements on a day the stock market suffered its worst slump in six years and other signs revealed a troubled economy.

In making this assessment in speeches to the United States Chamber of Commerce Monday, Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under former President Johnson, and Beryle W. Sprinkle of Chicago supported Nixon administration contentions that the over-all price rise will slow sharply in the autumn.

But, as they spoke, other indications of a sagging economy caused concern in the business community.

In New York, the stock market's Dow Jones Industrial average fell 12.14 points to 735.15, the worst drop since Nov. 22, 1963, the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

And, in Detroit, General Motors and Ford, the nation's largest automobile manufacturers, said that auto sales and profits were down in the opening quarter this year, although both still finished in the black.

Ford reported its consolidated sales in the opening three months down by 5 per cent, while GM's sales fell by 14 per cent during the same period.

At the White House, President Nixon conferred with his Council of Economic Advisers and five other economists called in for a special discussion of the nation's economic outlook.

Administration officials denied the talks were directly connected to the stock market slump. One informant said the discussion was scheduled some time ago and was "a general bull session—a kind of educational process for the President, to let him hear what others in the economic field are thinking."

Meantime a large bank in California announced it was reducing its prime interest rate from 8 per cent to 7½ per cent in a move it said was designed to boost the nation's economy.

Robert F. Parker, whose Community National Bank at Bakersfield, Calif., operates 17 branches in that state, said he hoped its action will trigger another round of nationwide prime interest rate reductions. Six weeks ago the bank was the nations' second to drop its rate from 8½ per cent to 8 per cent.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington, Heller, now a University of Minnesota professor, told the businessmen "enough slack has developed in the economy" to assure the over-all price rise will slow to about a 4 per cent rate at the end of the year.

"I am not afflicted with the doom and gloom that seems to pervade Wall Street and the business community," Heller said.

He said the situation is ripe for Nixon to call publicly for restraint on prices and wages by industry and labor.

Sprinkel said he disagreed with Heller's call for White House pressure, saying there is nothing supporting it as a workable method to slow inflation.

Hike In Disability Payments Advanced

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to increase disability compensation payments to two million veterans and dependents by an estimated $230 million a year has been passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

Monthly payments to totally disabled veterans would be boosted from $400 to $450 under the measure, and for others the increases would be 11 per cent.

Israel Alert Over Hotter Suez Clashes

TEL AVIV (AP) — A stepup in Egyptian military activity along the Suez Canal heightened concern among Israeli military officials today as more Israeli casualties along the waterway were announced.

The military command said one soldier was killed and one wounded Monday during an exchange of artillery fire across the canal.

It was the fifth fatality in two days among the Israelis dug in on the east bank of the 103-mile waterway.

An Israeli military spokesman told newsmen that 12 soldiers have been killed and 22 wounded since the pace of fighting quickened about April 10.

The Egyptians are again using planes in their attacks following a winter lull and are ranging deep into Israeli-held Sinai.

The spokesman said the shelling lasts longer and 200-500 rounds are directed at a single Israeli position.

Asked if the increase in Egyptian activity could be linked to reported entry into Egypt of Soviet SA3 surface to air missiles, the spokesman said Cairo may feel more confident, now that it has a more sophisticated defense against Israel's air force.

Laos has no paved roads, no railroad and few telephones. Two-thirds of its 91,428 square miles are mountainous jungle, dotted with villages averaging about 200 inhabitants.

New Atom Smashers Are Rushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of four nations are rushing to complete powerful new atom smashers that may prove useful in treating cancer and desalting and purifying water.

The devices, nuclear accelerators, are designed to create new superheavy chemical elements that scientists hope will have many practical uses.

But how these elements are to be produced may give science bonus benefits in medicine and in making salt water drinkable, reports at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society revealed.

The machines sport powerful beams of subnuclear "bullets" of a chemical element to bombard another element in an effort to produce new superheavy material.

OTHER USES

But Dr. H. Marshall Blann of the University of Rochester told in his report how the subnuclear beams hold promise in other fields.

"Outside of nuclear physics there is great interest in the beams for possible applications ranging from radiotherapy (against cancer and other diseases) to water desalinization and purification," he said.

"The rewards to society from research conducted with this new generation of accelerators may well exceed those from any previous particle-accelerator," he added.

The nations involved in the race to complete the machines are the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Germany.

Blann said it appeared France's device, called Allice, will probably go into operation first, possibly sometime this year.

The U.S. and the Soviet Union are running neck and neck, with prospects of having their machines operational by 1972, he said.

EARLIER DATE?

But another American scientist, Dr. Albert Ghiorso of the University of California at Berkeley, where the United States' device is being built, said it may be ready as early as mid-1971.

The most sophisticated machine will be the German device, called Unilac. It's not expected to be ready until 1974 or 1975.

Details of the effort to build the smashers came out after Ghiorso reported discovery of a new heavy radioactive chemical element created by an existing accelerator.

The new-found substance, called Hahnium, is light when compared with the new elements being sought.

It was created by bombarding a rather heavy element, Californium 249, with nitrogen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A landmark bill cracking down on obscene mail sent to youngsters and to adults who don't want it should sail through Congress "like motherhood and the flag," says a chief sponsor.

The bill, up for House approval today, defines in explicit terms nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement and sadomasochistic abuse considered obscene to minors.

The American Civil Liberties Union opposed it as an unconstitutional restriction of free speech and said Congress should have waited for a report from the President's Commission on Pornography and Obscenity before acting.

But Rep. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa., a principal sponsor, said he had heard of no opposition among his colleagues.

U.N. Leader Weds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Angie Brooks of Liberia, president of the 24th General Assembly, sent word to friends here Monday that she had married Isaac Randolph, an educator, in Monrovia.

Miss Brooks, 42, was married during her teens and divorced. She has two grown sons.

Grades Higher In Past Year

BERKELEY (AP) — Grades awarded at the nine University of California campuses were significantly higher last year than in the 1962-63 school year, a faculty committee says.

After a year-long study, the special committee said there were various reasons for the increase but noted particularly "the higher level of academic sophistication of our students."

Biochemistry Prof. Frederick H. Carpenter of Berkeley said "when you look at campuses like Davis and Riverisde, where there has been no student unrest, and see the same trend in grading, then that sort of washes out the argument that student activism alone has brought high grading by activist instructors."

Grade figures came from each campus and no average was taken.

Hickel Announces Cleanup Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel today announced plans for a national antipollution conference in Washington Sept. 29 through Oct. 2.

Hickel said more than 3,000 industry, education and government leaders will be invited to attend in an effort to carry out President Nixon's plea for "a total mobilization" to clean up the environment.

Dissident Roundup

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet secret police rounded up 160 Tatars to keep them from demonstrating during last week's Lenin centennial celebrations in Moscow, Russian dissidents report. Some of the dissidents fear a widespread purge is beginning.

KGB plainclothesmen arrested 100 Tatars from Uzbekistan, Kirgiz and the northern Caucasas last Tuesday, and another 60 were picked up Wednesday, according to an underground newsletter circulating in Moscow.

The Tatars had come to Moscow to demonstrate in front of the Lenin Library for the return of their Crimean homeland and the restoration of civil rights they lost during World War II.

Criticizes Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plea to lower the voting age to 18 by constitutional amendment has been criticized by a leading congressional Democrat as a means of defeating the Southern-opposed Voting Rights Act.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, termed the President's unexpected legislative maneuver "part of the Southern strategy to kill the voting rights bill."

Nixon touched off the row in Congress by telling congressional leaders in a letter Monday that while he supports lowering the voting age he believes it is unconstitutional to do so by statute. He asked the 18-year-old vote provision be separated from the voting rights bill and passed as a constitutional amendment.

The demonstrators were protesting U.S. military involvement in Vietnam.

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale received telephoned greetings from President Nixon before a dinner Monday night honoring the 71-year-old minister for his work in the field of mental health.

Later a taped message from the President was played for the gathering of 1,300 persons at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"Every American should have an interest in all Dr. Peale stands for—a reverence for God and country, a contagious enthusiasm and inspiring advocacy of the positive values in life—and, through all he does for his fellow man, a tough-minded optimism,' 'Nixon said in the message.

Heart Transplant

TORONTO (UPI)—A 50-year-old parish priest was the recipient and an unidentified young woman was the donor Monday in Canada's first human heart transplant in more than a year.

Rev. Edward F. Madigan, dying from heart disease, received the healthy heart late Monnday morning in an operation at St. Michael's Hospital. Cardiovascular surgeons Dr. Clare Baker and Dr. James Yao performed the transfer in 57 minutes.

The priest was in satisfactory condition.

Leaner Hotdogs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department says its new rules against "fatdogs" are working—today's hotdogs have 5 per cent to 6 per cent less fat than was the case last fall.

The rules adopted in October specify that hotdogs and other federally inspected cooked sausages may have a fat content no higher than 30 per cent. Before the rules, such meats had averaged 32 per cent to 33 per cent fat content.

Boots Brown Appeal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has rejected the contention that H. Rap Brown's trial on arson and riot charges should be held in federal court.

The three-judge panel ruled Monday there was no evidence that the black militant's civil rights would be jeopardized by his scheduled trial in the Howard County state court.

William M. Kunstler, chief defense counsel, said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary. A previous appeal for a change of venue was denied by the high court on Jan. 12.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss. . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss. . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try it for 32 days and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male patters baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any weak hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair. . . now is the time to do something about is before it's too late.

For more information, write Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., and if they believe the treatment will help you, they will advise how you can take advantage of this 32 day trial at a special introductory price with a money-back-guarantee. Just send them the informtion listed below. Adv.

Lagunitas Budgeting Marks Time

The Lagunitas School District board last night continued preliminary budget discussions, but took no action on the budget. (Another Lagunitas district story on page 1.)

Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff said that the board considered possible budget cuts if the proposed tax increase is not approved by the district's voters June 2.

Voters are being asked to approve an increase in the general operating tax rate limit from the present $2.65 to $3.55 per $100 assessed valuation. The increase could mean a total district tax rate of about $4.40 per $100 assessed valuation.

Inmate Vanishes On Work Furlough

A San Quentin work furlough prisoner, scheduled to be paroled in 10 days, failed to report Friday to his job as a truck driver for a private company in San Francisco, and prison officials said today they had no leads as to his whereabouts.

The prison listed Shelby L. Hodges, 29, of Fresno County, as an escapee.

According to Albert R. Jacobs, associate warden, Hodges had left the prison at 6 a.m. Friday but failed to report to his job or return to the prison.

Hodges, who began in the work furlough program on April 6, came to San Quentin in October 1967 on a burglary and two prior felony convictions.

Novato Trustees Eye Ways To Cut Budget

A tentative $8,277,154 budget for next school year, a $31,000 increase over this year's budget, was presented to the Novato Unified School District trustees last night.

In presenting the budget, Supt. James G. Bunker, explained the figure was based on an average daily attendance of 12,200 students in the district schools, according to Edward F. Dolan, district information and personnel officer.

The trustees discussed at the special meeting ways to trim the proposed figure by $285,000 to meet inflation costs and a $245,000 step-increase in salary for teachers, Dolan said.

The propsoed budget includes a carryover of $258,387 from the current year, Dolan noted. Board president Marett B. Boissevain urged that a 3 per cent reserve, that would equal this year's ending balance, be maintained next year, Dolan reported.

Bunker suggested that $72,000 might be trimmed from transportation costs by eliminating bus transportation for summer school students and serving a wider area during the regular school year, Dolan reported.

Another $5,500 could be saved by cutting in half the $10,500 reserved for school sites in the capital outlay section of the budget, Dolan said. The $21,000 for library books could be eliminated and also $12,200 for the district's hot lunch program.

The district's $89,681 reserve for equipment could be sliced to $39,681 and $14,000 might be taken from the district's allotted $281,868 for instructional supplies such as pencils and paper, Dolan said.

The trustees asked Bunker to attempt percentage cuts in all possible areas, Dolan reported, and to compile data on costs of field trips and portable classrooms.

The trustees generally agreed, according to Dolan, that another special tax election shuodl be held this year. They decided to vote on the matter at their regular meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Novato Community House.

The budget will be discussed again at that meeting, Dolan said.

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND MOVING TO MARIN

Prison Term Handed Down

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday sentenced Larry Donald Prude, 26, of Richmond, to state prison for an armed robbery conviction and ordered his co-defendant, Oscar Moon Hill, 29, also of Richmond, to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day evaluation before sentencing.

The two men had been convicted by Judge McGuire of first degree robbery after they had waived a trial.

Prude's prison sentence was ordered to run concurrently with any others he is now serving. It was reported that he was on parole at the time of the offense.

Hill, who carried the gun in the robbery of a clerk at the Short Stop Market in San Rafael last April, was reported to have a better record than his partner.

A mature male gorilla may be six feet tall and weigh 400 pounds or more. His enormous arms can span eight feet.

Alioto, State Iron Out Sewer Connection Dispute

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Agreement was reached Monday by city and state officials in the fight over new sewer connections in two sections of the city, Mayor Joseph L. Alioto announced.

The ban, which was ordered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board in March to force the city to improve sewage treatment plants, threatened to shut down millions of dollars in construction projects.

Mayor Alioto, after meeting with Kerry Mulligan, president of the State Water Quality Control Board, and William Weber, chairman of the Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, said he could not announce the details of the agreement "without endangering the situation."

The meeting took the place of a scheduled hearing before Superior Court Judge Clayton W. Horn. The hearing was to consider the ban and a temporary restraining order obtained by the city staying the ban.

The hearing was put over until May 8.

Alioto said terms of the settlement would need the approval of the Board of Supervisors and the state and regional water agencies.

The sewer connection affected the Southeast and North Point sewage treatment plants, said by the water boards to be overburdened and responsible for polluting the bay.

Good things come in little oak barrels.

What makes a brandy smooth?
Mostly, it's the wood the brandy is aged in. That's why the best barrels are small ones which allow close contact between wood and liquor.

Plans to develop major recreational facilities at Alicia and Benecia parks were presented last night in a joint meeting of the Rohnert Park City Council and Recreation Commission.

The landscape architecture firm of Ribera and Sue recommended development projects at the parks that could total a cost of $886,000.

Plans for Alicia Park included the development of grounds on the adjacent John Reed School. Projects suggested by the firm at an estimated cost of $386,000 included drainage, turf and irrigation improvements as well as a picnicking area, softball field, bleachers, tiny tots lot, lighted tennis courts, swimming pool improvements, parking lot and restroom facilities.

Projects suggested for Benecia Park included basic turf development, parking lots, two tiny tot lots, picnicking facilities for 400 persons, remodeling of the park's building, lights for existing tennis courts and softball fields, handball courts, gymnastics area, and expansion of swimming pool facilities to include a wading pool and slope for sunbathing.

Total cost for the Benecia Park improvements was estimated at $500,000.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the plans would be studied further by the recreation commission with recommendations on the plans and means of financing to be made to the city council.

The plans will also be sent to the Cotati School District and Petaluma Board of Education for comment and recommendation.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

Silt Blocks Boat Visits To Petaluma

Serious siltation problems in the turning basin on the Petaluma River at Petaluma will prohibit the usual mass visits by Marin and Bay Area yacht clubs this summer.

Mervin S. Waters, chairman of the chamber of commerce, called the situation "a disaster." Shoals prevent large boats from maneuvering in the basin.

Waters said that in this condition, only seven or eight boats can be docked at one time. The cause of the heavy siltation is not known.

The problem is limited only to the turning basin, Waters said, noting that the river beyond the D Street bridge is adequate for most craft.

He said the turning basin is in worse condition than last year prior to dredging. Although the basin should be dredged immediately, Waters and City Engineer David A. Young said it is not likely to be done again for three years, the normal dredging cycle.

Guilty Plea To Felony Count In Shotgun Case

John Bonner Davison, 34, of Geyserville, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to felony charges of possessing a sawed-off shotgun and a restricted drug, Desoxyephedrine, when arrested in April 1969, by the California Highway Patrol.

Additional charges of having a revolver and morphine were dismissed.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for July 6.

A second man arrested with Dvison, George Patrick Lake, 32, also of Geyserville, is being sought by authorities. A bench warrant was issued for him when he failed to appear in court shortly after being arrested.

The pair was arrested after an officer approached their stopped car on Highway 101 to ask if they needed assistance. When he noiced that the license plates of the car did not match the registration, the car was searched and the weapons and drugs found.

ABA Backs Blackmun For Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) --The American Bar Association today endorsed Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun as a man with "high standards of professional competence, temperament and integrity."

The ABA's Committee on the Federal Judiciary characterized Blackmun as "sincere, frank, understanding and cooperative."

He is one who "conscientiously and with an open mind weighs every reasonable argument with careful knowledge of the record, the arguments and the law," the report said.

The assessment was contained in a letter from the committee chairman, Lawrence E. Walsh of New York, to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Judiciary Committee begins hearings Wednesday on Blackmun — the third Nixon nominee for Supreme Court vacancy created last May by the resignation of Abe Fortas. The previous two choices, Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell—both federal appeals judges from the South —were rejected by the Senate.

ANNEX

substantial portion of Tiburon's "sphere of interest."

Fanning said the Mill Valley proposal, covering a technically uninhabited area, wouldn't require an annexation election, but Tiburon's proposal would be decided by the people involved.

Four years ago the cities filed conflicting bids for annexation, Mill Valley for the shopping center and Tiburon for the entire peninsula, and there was a bid to incorporate Alto.

The Mill Valley and Alto bids were withdrawn and Tiburon's plan failed when there were protests from owners representing more than 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of the area proposed for annexation.

The Strawberry annexation issue has never been put to a vote, Fanning said. Tiburon's proposal would permit the voters "to have the ultimate choice," he contended.

If 50 per cent of the land owners in the area to be incorporated opposed, there wouldn't be any election, Fanning said.

If that hurdle is cleared, then there would be an annexation election with voters from both the city and area to be annexed participating.

When Miss Ellinwood expressed concern that the move was premature, prompted by Mill Valley's bid, Fanning said the annexation proposal would have been presented to the council in several months anyway.

Regardless of Mill Valley's action, the council was close to considering annexation, he contended. "We have been contemplating it since the previous move failed."

Fanning said if there were popular support from such areas as Bel Aire and Bayview Heights, the city could file such annexation applications simultaneously with the Strawberry annexation.

The north side of the Tiburon Peninsula wouldn't be under consideration, he said.

Miss Ellinwood expressed reservations about expanding the city limits since there were unsolved problems within the present limits.

Councilmen Albert H. Sennett and Fanning, a council committee on annexation, are slated to submit their completed report at the May 11 council meeting when the council is scheduled to proceed toward filing its annexation application.

Crash On Rainy Black Point Road Leaves Four Hurt

Four persons were injured yesterday in an accident on Highway 37 near the Petaluma River Bridge, the California Highway Patrol has reported.

Jean L. Elkin, 45, of 1955 Center Road, Novato, was reported in good condition in the intensive care unit at Novato General Hospital today with scalp cuts and neck sprain suffered in the 5:30 p.m. accident.

Officers said a car driven by Fredrick A. Bickford, 20, of Vallejo, crashed through the center divider and came to rest on the opposite shoulder. When Bickford attempted to return the car to the eastbound side of the highway he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Elkin's husband, Lauren N. Elkin Jr., 49.

Bickford, Elkin and Steven J. Irons, 20, of Sonoma, a passenger in the Bickford vehicle, were treated at the hospital for unspecified unjuries.

The patrol said a heavy rain contributed to the accident.

Environmental Plea By Peevey

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state Senate, has proposed creation of a "state environmental ombudsmand to protect California's environment from destruction."

Peevey, speaking at a beach party Sunday sponsored by the Muil Beach Democratic Club, said the ombudsman should be technicians, biologists, attorneys, accountants, economists and other experts to bring legal action against polluters.

Peevey said the office would be funded by a penny tax on monthly utility bills.

Present laws against pollution offer the average citizen "no recourse but to cry out in anguish," Peevey said .

Youth Cited In Drug Probe

A 15-year-old San Rafael boy has been cited to appear before juvenile officers after a deputy sheriff said the youth had a small cube of suspected hashish in his shirt pocket.

The boy was a passenger in a car which the deputy stopped Friday night near Nicasio Dam because of complaints of cars on private roads in the area. The boy made a furtive gesture toward his pocket, the officer said.

Other teen-agers in the car were released.

Driver Treated For Cuts To Head

Dana Turpin, 48, of Alameda, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a head cut suffered when his car overturned yesterday at 5:10 p.m. on Highway 101, south of Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said his car skidded during a hail storm and overturned after striking a guardrail.

Funeral for Harvey Duncan Prather, 87, of Yuba City, Sutter County ,retired longtime court reporter in Marin, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of Twin Cities, Yuba City.

Prather, who held the world's record for speed in shorthand court reporting, died Sunday at Yuba City Hospital after an illness.

He had been a court reporter for 52 years, serving in superior and federal courts in Northern California and superior and municipal courts in Marin.

He held the shorthand record since 1935 and was a member of the California Shorthand Reporters' Association. Prather recorded 250 words a minute for a half hour period and 318 words a minute for five minutes.

A native of Philo, Mendocino County, he was a descendent of pioneers who were in the Donner party.

Prather, a resident of Yuba City for eight months, previously lived in San Rafael and Novato.

He and his wife, Helen, were married in Ukiah, Mendocino County in 1915, and celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in Petaluma at the home of their daughter, Mrs. William C. Lee.

His hobby was the raising and showing of thoroughbred horses and his stable, the Circle H.P., entered horses in fairs and horse shows along the West Coast and in Canada.

Prather was one of the founders of the Redwood Acres Fairgrounds in Eureka.

Surviving are his wife, a son, John Prather of Yuba City; his daughters, Mrs. Lee; a sister, Mrs. Ardis Connolly of Ukiah; 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Youth Held, Two Sought In Burglary

An 18-year-old Oakland youth was arrested yesterday at his home by Oakland police on suspicion of burglarizing Gemini clothing store in Sausalito earlier in the day.

Booked into Marin County jail and held in lieu of $1,500 bail to appear in municipal court today was Gaylon Gary Gilbreath of 157 Isleton Street.

Witnesses to the burglary at 7 a.m. told police three men in a white Mustang entered the store at 14 Princess Street and removed clothing. A passing motorist got the license number.

A check of that number indicated the car is registered to Lulu Mae Franklin on 1003 Bernhardt Drive, Oakland. Oakland police went to that address looking for Charles Franklin Jr., who had been cited at 1:45 a.m. Monday morning by Sausalito police for making a U-turn on Bridgeway at Caledonia and for driving with an expired license. The Sausalito police citation indicated he was driving a white Mustang with two passengers.

As Oakland police arrived at Franklin's house, a white Ford drove up, then took off, according to the Oakland report. The officers chased the car to 157 Isleton, but lost the two occupants in a backyard chase on foot.

Police examined the car and found a brown wallet with papers indicating its owner was Gilbreath, a quantity of leather coats in the trunk, and the traffic citation to Franklin in the glove compartment.

While they were searching, a car containing three men drove up and one got out. According to police, that man was Gilbreath and he was arrested on suspicion of burglary.

Franklin, 20, is still at large and the third is still unidentified.

Jones, of 31 Kinross Drive, San Rafael, died Sunday in a San Francisco hospital following a long illness.

He moved to San Rafael after retiring from the Air Force in 1953 after 36 years of service. He was one of the original 100 military fliers in World War I and so belonged to the Order of Daedalians.

Probe Into KRON-TV Is Nearing End

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Eleven witnesses testified Monday as the lengthy KRON-TV license renewal hearing appeared to be nearing a conclusion after almost seven weeks.

Al Kihn, former KRON cameraman who opened the hearings March 17, returned to the stand briefly. He said an entry in his detailed diary recalled a 1966 conversation he had with a KRON-TV writer who said he had to do a documentary on Vallejo "because of the station's cable television interests there."

Attorneys for KRON and Kihn exchanged sharp comments regarding whether Kihn's entire diary should be admitted as evidence. Only portions of it relating to KRON-TV have been admitted.

Hearing Examiner Chester F. Naumowicz Jr. said he expects today to be the final day of testimony.

Among those testifying Monday were five public witnesses or citizens who asked to express their views. They were J.B. Neilands, a professor of biochemistry at the University of California; Dora Perry, former public relations woman for Goodwill Industries; J.J. Spain, vice president of the Musicians Union; Andrew A. Stern, senior lecturer in the graduate school of journalism at the University of California, and William Seifert, an instructor in the UC graduate journalism school.

Look Editor Is Firm About Alioto Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The managing editor of Look magazine says he is convinced Mayor Joseph Alioto met with underworld figures, but he isn't certain the meetings were at the Nut Tree restaurant.

The statement was made Monday by Martin Goldman on the witness stand in the trial of Alioto's $12.5 million libel suit against the magazine.

The suit stems from a Sept. 23, 1969, Look article which linked Alioto with the Mafia. One such link alleged by the article was that Alioto held meetings with underworld figures at the Nut Tree, a popular restaurant beside Interstate 80, between San Francisco and Sacramento.

"That he had meetings, I am certain," said Goldman. "But as to where, I am not certain... yes, I am not entirely certain."

He continued, "It is possible they were at the Nut Tree, but I have heard indications they took place elsewhere."

Alioto's attorney, Maxwell Blecher, bore down continuously as Goldman time and again said he could not recall details or they "tended to be blurred."

The article alleged the mayor is "enmeshed in a web of alliances" with the Mafia.

Goldman discussed the prime source of information for the story, Tommy Thomas, former son-in-law of James Fratianno, identified in the article as a "notorious Cosa Nostra killer."

Goldman said he had "all kinds of reasons to place credibility in Tommy Thomas."

Asked whether he rejected as lies Alioto's denials of the alleged meetings, Goldman replied, "I had reason to rely on Thomas as the source."

The alleged Nut Tree meeting was for the purpose of organizing the First San Francisco Bank, the magazine claimed.

The magazine charged that Alioto was influential in arranging a loan from the bank for Fratianno.

Zoning Adjustments Board Wins Support

The Petaluma City Council last night agreed to an expansion of membership on the planning commission and the establishment of a board of zoning adjustments to handle routine matters.

Planning Director William C. McGivern told the council that the planning commission has been constantly bogged down with routine matters such as variances and minor use permits and has not been able to give enough time and study to immediate and long range planning.

Commission chairman Paul Stanley said the group should be making a thorough review of the general plan rather than devoting entire meetings to architectural site designs.

The commission recommended it be expanded from five to eight members with three to serve on the board of zoning adjustments.

While the council appeared to be in general agreement, Councilman Fred V. Mattei questioned if additional staffmembers will be required and at what cost.

McGivern said that only additional clerical assistance will be needed and that he did not foresee an expansion of the professional staff within the next year.

Councilman Albert L. Battaglia suggested that the the board of zoning adjustments could meet during the day so that the planners and secretaries would not be required to attend another night meeting.

Mayor Helen Putnam asked City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to meet with Stanley and McGivern to prepare an ordinance for consideration at a council meeting in May.

Dog Training, Art Classes Set

Persons interested in either class may register by phoning the recreation department.

Series Of Stereo Thefts Reported

San Rafael police today reported a series of stereo burglaries including a $220 stereo system theft during the weekend at the Pacific Plan office at 1290 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Officers said Super Sound of 509 Francisco Boulevard reported yesterday a $119 stereo was lifted from a store display stand at about 11:30 a.m. The store told police three men, all about 25 years old, had been looking at the unit before it was noticed as missing.

An auto stereo, worth about $200 was reported stolen yesterday from an auto owned by Elnora P. Admire of 3 Stevens Place, San Rafael. Mrs. Admire said the stereo was taken sometime Sunday night or Monday morning from her car parked in front of her home.

San Francisco Backs Bus Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Board of Supervisors has endorsed the idea of the Golden Gate Bridge District running a commuter bus service between San Francisco and Marin County.

Supervisors said Monday night, however, that the bridge district still must get their approval for routes and stops in the city.

The resolution also supported operating ferry boats to and from Marin County and expressed interest in rapid transit.

John A. Ertola, chairman of the board's streets and transportation committee, said "this resolution simply states a general policy of support for an integrated bridge-ferry-bus system as an immediate answer to the commuter problem."

Bagley Stings Demos On Tax Reform Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The author of Gov. Reagan's tax reform plan said today Democratic lawmakers "are in for a fiscal bloodbath" if they oppose the billion dollar package.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said the program — which includes withholding of the state income tax — has backing from every major segment of California's economy.

Bagley added that an attack on it by Assembly Democratic leaders "is so phony it's not worth the paper it's written on."

Bagley commented as the Assembly Ways and Means Committee prepared to hear pros and cons of the plan at a full-scale hearing today. Bagley appeared confident the Republican-dominated committee would move the program to the full Assembly.

The "bloodbath" comment was a play on Reagan's controversial statement in regard to campus violence. The governor said he meant it merely as a figure of speech.

Bagley and other GOP leaders have said they are certain legislative Democrats won't vote against such a tax reform package in an election year when 100 of the 120 seats in the Assembly and Senate are at stake.

Monday, Assembly Democratic Leader John J. Miller of Berkeley and George N. Zenovich of Fresno, the Democratic caucus chairman, issued a statement listing "eight glaring errors" in the program.

Heading the list was the allegation that the Reagan plan "soaks the consumer" to give business a tax break of $70 million to $80 million.

Bagley replied that the business community had complained that it pays a disproportionate share of the tax boosts — which will finance homeowner property tax breaks.

Bagley said homeowners will get more than $700 million of the $1 billion total tax break when the program is in full operation in its third year.

20 Weekends In Jail Ordered On Stolen Checks

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Robert Wayne Kitzmiller, 33, of San Rafael, to spend the next 20 weekends in the county jail after his conviction on two counts of possessing checks with intent to defraud others.

He also placed Kitzmiller on probation for two years and told him to make $323 restitution for the checks.

The judge blamed Kitzmiller's alcoholic problem for the offense and said that he would not send him back to state prison, where he has served time, for these offenses since "a 5-year-old child would have known he would be caught."

Kitzmiller cashed stolen checks at a San Rafael bar where he had been known for years.

Parts Of Old Ford Reported As Stolen

Wiles, who lives at 217 Bayview Street, told police the items taken totaled about $550 in value. They include chrome radiator covers, fenders, bumpers and lights.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Property Tax Ballot Doubtful; Hike Proposed In Tax On Liquor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sponsors of an initiative to drastically cut property taxes appear to have failed in their drive to place the proposed constitutional amendment on the November ballot.

Acting Secretary of tSate H. P. (Pat) Sullivan reported he received only about 20,000 signatures Monday, the first deadline for submitting petitions on the measure.

Sponsors have 40 additional days to gather the remainder of the 520,276 signatures to qualify the measure, which would limit taxes on singe-family homes to one per cent of their actual value.

But author of the proposal, Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, said chances of obtaining the required signatures looked slim.

LIQUOR TAX HIKE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative analyst A. Alan Post, contending California liquor prices are "excessive," has urged the legislature to increase taxes on liquor to balance the 1970-71 budget.

In a letter to the budget-handling Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means Committees, Post said raising the tax on distilled spirits from $2 to $4 a gallon would produce nearly $90 million for the state general fund.

Post also called for the repeal of the fair trade minimum price law on liquor products to provide a savings for consumers. Several repeal bills already have been introduced.

BUSSING CHANGE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An assemblyman has given up his long light for a vote of the people this year on the touchy subject of busing students to achieve racial integration.

Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, said Monday he would not press his proposed constitutional amendment to prevent busing with parental consent. It would take a two-thirds approval of the legislature to put the matter before voters in November. Wakefield indicated he wasn't confident he could get that big a margin in the legislature.

However, he did obtain a new hearing before the Assembly Education Committee on a bill to do exactly what the amendment proposes. The bill would require only a simple majority in each house and approval of the governor to become law.

Wakefield had asked two weeks ago that the bill be shelved in favor of the amendment ,but reversed himself Monday. It was the fourth time the amendment had been heard. The bill now will go through at least two more hearings before the committee votes on it.

POT AT CAPITOL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Police have discovered a small marijuana crop in Capitol Park but officers doubt the weed was intentionally planted by drug users.

"I think it would be a very bad place to try to grow marijuana," said Police Captain James Xanders. "We dug up the plants and gave them to the narcotics people."

One small plant was found flourishing in a flower garden Monday. He said six other plants were discovered last week in a nearby flower bed.

The plants were only a few inches tall and two small to be used in cigarettes, he said.

Xanders said the marijuana found in the park probably hadn't been deliberately planted. He theorized the seeds could have been dropped by birds, contained in fertilizer or "somebody may have cleaned out his pocket."

PRO-VANDEGRIFT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Republicans expressed confidence today that Lucian Vandegrift will be confirmed as Gov. Ronald Reagan's human resources secretary despite Democratic opposition.

"I think he'll make it," said Sen. Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles, a member of the Senate Rules Committee, which last week delayed a vote on confirmation of the former Butte County district attorney.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People criticized Vandegrift for taking the "ax handle approach" to welfare abusers.

Stevens, who said he has not been asked by Reagan to formally sponsor Vandegrift's appointment, said he may request further hearings on the matter.

"He should have a chance to defend himself," the lawmaker said, noting Vandegrift was not allowed to rebut the charges made by his critics.

Sen. Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, said the Vandegrift appointment would probably be approved by the committee and then confirmed by a majority of the full Senate.

"I don't think he'll have any problem," said Burgener. "You might have a party-line vote."

Republicans control the Senate 21-19. Some Democrats have vowed to fight the appointment on the floor if the committee endorses Vandegrift.

TV IN CAPITOL?

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The legislature has started testing closed circuit television systems to tighten Capitol security and prevent a bombing similar to one that ripped the Louisiana Senate.

The Joint Rules Committee in conjunction with the state Department of General Services has asked the television manufacturers to demonstrate their product.

James Schoning, chief Assembly administrative officer, said the first system was demonstrated Monday, although neither the state agency nor the Rules Committee has decided how much they intend to spend for the new security gadgets.

Schoning said future demonstrations were planned before a decision is made on whether to install the closed circuit network.

License Fees Shares Reported

Marin County has received $722,387 and Sonoma County $781,879 as a partial advance on their share of the state-collected vehicle license fees, controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced.

Advances to Marin County cities were Belvedere, $12,761; Corte Madera, $40,496; Fairfax, $36,197; Larkspur, $40,521; Mill Valley, $59,049; Novato, $141,961; Ross, $13,585; San Anselmo, $64,555; San Rafael, $179,179; Sausalito, $32,884, and Tiburon, $30,346.

Southern Sonoma cities advances were Cotati, $7362; Petaluma, $116,581, and Rohnert Park, $28,834.

The amounts given to each city are based on population figures.

Hayakawa Urges Special Training

SACRAMENTO (AP) — San Francisco State College President S. I. Hayakawa says he didn't need any state credentials to pull wires from a sound truck but he did wish he had special training for the day-to-day running of his college.

Hayakawa testified Monday before the Senate Education Committee against a bill to simplify requirements for teaching credentials and eliminate special credentials for administrators.

Referring to an incident that made him a national figure, Mill Valley resident Hayakawa told the committee, "I became famous because I pulled wires out of a sound truck and that didn't take an administrative credential." But, he said, he had difficulty with his routine administrative duties as a new college president because he had had no administrative training.

"At a time when business, industry, government and the armed forces spend millions of dollars to teach management, administration and leadership, we would be doing the teaching profession and the school systems a real injustice by downgrading administration," Hayakawa said.

Hayakawa said he favored a commission of professional educators which the proposed law would create but he thought the commission should have the job of spelling out specific teaching credential requirements. He said it was a poor idea for legislation to spell out such details.

"I think schools of education have very often deserved much of the criticism directed against them," Hayakawa told newsmen before he testified, "but that doesn't mean we do away with colleges of education. It means we improve them."

Hayakawa said the bill, authored by Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-Burlingame, was based on a bias against the value of special teacher training.

Speaking in favor of his proposals, Ryan told the committee: "Einstein probably would have made a poor teacher according to the present rules."

The 11-member committee took no action on the bill Monday. Chairman Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, himself a former college instructor, said the three hours of testimony would be considered by the committee in closed session before a vote is taken.

A 17-year-old San Rafael youth was arrested yesterday on suspicion of stealing an auto stereo valued at about $100 from Super Sound at 509 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, police said today.

Officers said store manager, Steve J. Scapra told them he saw the youth take the stereo from a store shelf and place it under his jacket.

The youth, Steven B. Hansen, of 193 Ridgewood Drive, was cited to juvenile authorities as he left the store.

Kentfield Board Budgets Pay Hike

The Kentfield School District board last night approved a tentative $1,495,275 budget for the 1970-71 school year.

The budget includes a 6 per cent salary scale increase for the district's teaching and non-teaching staffs, Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said today.

He said salary increases for the administrative staff will be considered by the board later.

The district's budget for the current school year is $1,429,629.

The budget will remain tentative, he said, until the district ascertains what its total income for next year will be.

The board also gave final approval to a citizens' advisory council report recommending shifts in attendance area limits to even up the pupil load in the three district schools.

The changes will shift about 50 pupils from Adaline E. Kent School to Wolfe Grade School and 30 from Wolfe Grade to Greenbrae School.

The shifts will be effective in September.

The rental of a classroom to the county for $1,000 a year was approved by the board. The classroom is already used by the county schools office for a hearing handicapped program.

The board instructed Bacich to discuss with the district's county supervisor, Peter R. Arrigoni, and with the county traffic safety engineer proposals to increase safety precautions at the school crossing at Wolfe Grade and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Bacich and the district's business manager were authorized to attend a planned program budgeting system workshop at the Terra Linda Holiday Inn May 22 and 23.

The board adopted a calendar for the next school year. Teachers will report Sept. 1, students Sept. 10. The calendar contains 175 school days.

The board also approved the hiring of three new teachers for next year: Wendy Portnuff of San Francisco, at $9,320; Terri Monte of San Rafael at $10,400, and Robert Caine of San Rafael at $6,500.

Miss Portnuff was also hired effective April 20 as a replacement teacher for the rest of the present school year for $2,000.

The entire current teaching staff was rehired for next year and tenure was granted to Diane Davis, Robert Geurts and Elizabeth Lyons, all teachers at Wolfe Grade School; William Tasca, the district's foreign language instructor, and Dale Alstrom, district instrumental music teacher.

The board adjourned to its next regular meeitng May 11.

Womack Criticizes 'Needless Welfare'

"Too many people are working too hard to support families to be able to afford the cost of needless welfare," according to Wayne Womack candidate for supervisor for the Fifth District.

At a coffee meeting Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter, 2155 Vineyard Road, Novato, Womack advocited a wide-spread and workable state and county program where able-bodied individuals can be taken off the welfare rolls and suitable employed.

"Let me set the record straight," said Womack. "I believe in a just welfare system which covers our senior citizens, children and those in genuine need, but I do not believe in welfare fraud and the welfare way of living. I believe in able-bodied persons being taken off the welfare rolls and employed.

"One of the many tasks of the Marin County Board of Supervisors is sitting and listening to each welfare applicant to determine if they are to receive the minimum or maximum amount to which they are entitled, according to present law," said Womack. "Your supervisor from the Fifth District is in a position to try to keep welfare costs down—yet be fair."

Birth Defect Conference Tomorrow

The Marin Chapter of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes Teen Action Program will sponsor its second youth conference on birth defects for all Marin County high school students at San Rafael High School Auditorium from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Students who haven't preregistered still may attend the conference by informing their school authorities, said Joseph Gargiulo, principal of North Marin High School who is in charge of transportation.

Chartered buses will leave San Marin High School at 1:45 p.m. and Novato High School at 2 p.m., Redwood High School at 1:45 p.m., Ross School at 1:55 p.m. and San Domenico school at 2:15 p.m.

The conference will include films, talk and panel discussion on genetic counseling, chromosomal disorders and congenital malformations.

Injuries Minor In Auto Accident

Marion Hewitt, 25, of 181 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, suffered a head bump and a swollen left ankle in a two-car crash at 12:05 a.m. Sunday, north of the north tower of the Golden Gate Bridge.

California Highway Patrol officers reported yesterday that she was a passenger in a southbound car driven by Lloyd L. Dulbecco, 36, of Daly City, which collided with a southbound car driven by John Patrick Olsen, 66, of San Francisco, which had slowed because of a stalled car in front of him. She refused hospitalization, officers reported.

Group To Get Nominations

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen will receive nominations for election to key posts, including the Golden Gate Bridge District board at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Dean N. Meyer, who represented Marin cities on the bridge board, didn't seek reelection to the Mill Valley Council, and therefore gave up his bridge board seat.

The council also will consider nominations for election to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board, a seat now held by John A. Miskimen, a San Rafael city councilman, whose term on the district board is to expire.

Elections are scheduled to be held at the May meeting of the council.

Pessner Is Backed By Irate Taxpayers

Hugh O. Pessner, a Greenbrae Republican, has been endorsed for state senator by directors of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

The directors also have endorsed a state Senate resolution which calls for a review of Field Act standards, under which public buildings in California are judged for earthquake safety, but took no action on a request for endorsement of a Senate bill which calls for a cost-of-living adjustment in the payment schedule of Aid to Families with Dependent Children

Additional Clerks' Pay Hike Denied

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday denied a request from law enforcement clerks for an additional 5 per cent salary increase.

Victor J. Van Bourg, attorney for Office and Professional Workers Local 3, said the 5 per cent approved by the board to be effective in July was not sufficient and that the clerks de-

The supervisors pointed out that a survey made by County Administrator David L. Nichols showed that the clerks' salary was comparable to that paid by private industry and that an additional raise could not be justified.

Van Bourg said the raise request was reasonable because the clerks received only a 2.5 per cent increase last year while other county employees received as much as 12 per cent.

In addition to the annual July raises, all county employees also receive a cost-of-living raise in March.

The union, which represents 80 clerks has received strike sanction from the Sonoma County Labor Council. Nichols said that employees who miss three days of work without just cause must be automatically fired, according to county employment regulations.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors also:

D STREET — Approved plans to widen and improve D Street from the Marin County line to San Antonio Road. Bids will be opened May 26 at 3:15 p.m.

WORKSHOP — Gave permission to Rolland C. Webb, clerk of the Southern Municipal Court, to attend a court administration workshop at San Jose State May 4-8.

INSURANCE — Approved establishment of an insurance committee to study new fringe benefits for county employees. Committee members will be named later.

Napa Valley Hit Hard By Frosts

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Spring frosts have caused the worst damage in about 20 years to the grape crop in the Napa Valley, sources of many California wines.

Al Delfino, Napa County agricultural commissioner, toured stricken areas 75 miles northeast of San Francisco Monday and estimated damages at $3 million.

He said about one third of the 22,000 acres of wine-producing grape buds were frostbitten and would not produce grapes.

Stereo Stolen

A stereo tape deck worth $70 was reported stolen yesterday from an auto parked in a lot at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, police reported yestrday. Owner Evan Daily, 7 Edgewater Road, Belvedere, said the stereo was taken between 9 and 9:30 a.m. from the locked car by forcing open a window.

Mill Valley Schools Budget Surplus Fades

Supt. James A. Collins presented a tentative budget to the Mill Valley School District board last night and then watched as proposed additions by trustees shrank the reserve fund from $192,000 to an $18,000 deficit.

With Chairman William P. Everts Jr. and John H. Cutler out of town, three trustees, led vice chairman John K. Robinson, were told by Collins that "anything that happens must happen out of the $192,000 surplus," and then discussed adding $60,000 in increment raises for personnel, a $40,000 inflation factor and a 5 per cent cost-of-living wage increase that would cost $110,000.

Addition of these programs, a total of $210,000, would eat up the reserve and leave the district $18,000 in debt, Trustee John G. Eliot pointed out.

"So you're telling us," Trustee Joseph E. Bodovitz said to Collins, "that unless some manna comes from heaven, we'll have to cut some programs to give teachers a raise." Collins said this was so.

The budget, which Carroll D. Killingsworth, district business director, emphasized several times was tentative, was $3,177,000. It was up from the adopted 1969-70 budget of $3,069,000 but matched item for item this year's estimated final budget.

Collins said he had "agonized" over decisions not to ask for any increases for the coming year. "We're in the midst of painful times,' he said, "The same situation in which school districts all over the state are finding themselves. But we have to start somewhere and I believe this is where we must start."

Killingsworth said some of last night's recommendations by trustees would be included in a revised tentative budget to be presented to the board at its next regular meeting May 11 at 8 p.m. in Park School.

Mill Valley School District Board Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Announced no action was taken as a result of a closed session to consider disciplinary action against a student.

MARIN CITY — Saw Collins display a copy of "Marin City U.S.A.," which he called "a quality piece of work," and heard him say that copies of the magazine produced in Marin City had been purchased for the district's libraries.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Agreed to hold a four-week summer school program in cooperation with Sausalito at six schools: Alto, Homestead, Marin Terrace, Park, Tamalpais Valley and Edna Maguire.

FACILITIES — Accepted for study a report from Collins on proposed facility changes in the district next year that would include moving three portable classrooms to Edna Maguire School.

AGENDA — Agreed to schedule on an upcoming meeting's agenda a review of the district's gifted children program.

DEVELOPMENT — Heard a proposal by Collins that a volunteer committee composed of an architect, engineer and attorney be formed to review the effect of planned developments on the district. Killingsworth said that five developments in the planning stages would add 473 students in five years.

LEAVES — Approved maternity leaves for teachers Lorna Strotz, Park School, and Delores Nicholas, Tamalpais Valley School; and one-year personal leaves for teachers Donalee Fey and Nancy M. Campbell of Edna Maguire and Sally Willetts of Old Mill. The board declined a leave extension to teacher Mary Ann Steel.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Teachers Chizuko Williams, Marin Terrace; Ann Halversen, Homestead, and Rhoda J. Brassfield, Marin Terrace.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired four interns at Edna Maguire school for next year at salaries of $7,197; Marita Hayhurst, language arts; Stacia Horn, physical education; Laurie Kirk Laurie, arts and Keith Wilson, language arts.

Boating Safety Classes Slated

A series of boating safety classes for Marin Boy Scouts will be conducted from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday and May 9 and 16 by the Marin Power Squadron.

The course will cover fundamentals of equipment, government regulations, rules of the road, lines, compass, first aid and accidents, fire safety and boat hanndling.

Registration, limited to 30 boys, may be made at Scout Hall, Second Avenue and A Street, San Rafael.

Robin Sweeny Not Mayor Of Sausalito

Robin Sweeny was incorrectly identified as mayor of Sausalito in a story in Saturday's Independent-Journal reporting the Golden Gate Bridge District directors' approval of purchase of a ferry.

Alexander R. Imlay is mayor of Sausalito. Mrs. Sweeney was appearing as acting mayor in his absence to present the City of Sausalito's views and concerns in connection with establishment of ferry service between the city and San Francisco.

FCC Orders End To Press Special Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission today ordered an end to preferential telegraph and telephoto rates for the press.

The FCC ordered American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Western Union to file any new rate schedules needed within 30 days and to eliminate the preferential rates within 50 days.

The decision applies, the FCC said, to "private line services for press associations, news agencies, radio networks, radio broadcasting stations, newspapers, periodicals, and other general circulation publications publishing general news for public informatin."

The FCC affirmed an initial decision issued June 17, 1969, by hearing examiner Forest L. McClenning, and agreed with him that press spokesmen had failed to prove that application to them of commercial wire rates would significantly impair the dissemination of news.

The FCC said ATT&T and Western Union were receiving unreasonably low earnings from private line telegraph services and that there were "no service or cost differences that would justify either lower press rates or preferential press conditions, such as part-time leasing privileges, lower night rates, or other clock-hour rate differences advocated by the press."

Greenbrae Collision Injures Novato Man

James Spencer, 22, of 667 Olive Street, Novato, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a sprained neck suffered in an auto accident at 4:05 p.m. yesterday at the east entrance to the Bon Air Shopping Center in Greenbrae.

Larkspur police said Spencer's vehicle collided with a car driven by Evelyn Fink, 25, of 414 Via Hidalgo, Greenbrae, as he was leaving the parking lot and she was entering.

Behr Asks Funds Shift For Point Reyes Land

Peter H. Behr, chairman of the Save Our Seashore Committee, has asked the Department of the Interior to make funds available immediately for purchase of land in the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Behr, reacting to reports that land destined for inclusion in the seashore was being sold at suddenly inflated prices, asked the department to "reprogram funds already appropriated for acquisition of public lands elsewhere and replace such funds with the $7 million which should be approved and available well before June 1."

Behr, whose committee collected 450,000 signatures on petitions which played a major role in securing congressional and administration appropriation of money to complete the seashore, called recent sales "a slap in the face to a public interested in the park."

Portions of the Lake Ranch in the seashore area were recently sold by its owner, A. W. Sweet of Oregon, to his brother and acquaintances at prices ranging from four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

Behr, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Fourth Senatorial District, also asked the Department of the Interior to request the Department of Justice to file a complaint in condemnation at once against any property owner within the park boundaries who is obviously expecting to create evidence by private sales of market values greater than they otherwise would be."

Faculty Seeks Isla Vista Probe

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — The academic senate at University of California campus here has asked the Santa Barbara County Grand Jury to investigate the actions of demonstrators and law officers in the recent Isla Vista disruptions.

Prof. James L. Walters, senate chairman, said Monday the unanimous vote by the faculty body mirrored faculty concern that officers might have used excessive force in putting down the trouble.

One student was fatally wounded by a bullet police say was apparently accidentally fired by an officer.

Lottery System For May's Draft

Marin County's draft quota of 39 men for May will be held to men with lottery numbers under 145, according to Joy Kinzer executive secretary of the Marin Selective Service board.

A typographical error in Saturday's Independent-Journal changed the meaning of a sentence to indicate that only two Marin men would be drafted in May.

Tiburon Delays On Plan For Downtown

Tiburon City Council last night over the strong opposition of Councilman Branwell D. Fanning postponed approval of the Buskirk-Noble downtown plan. (Another Tiburon council story page 1)

The vote to delay action on the plan, long in the making, until May 11, was 4-1 with Fanning dissenting.

Mayor Denis T. Rice said at the outset of a scheduled hearing that perhaps the council wasn't ready to "bring it to a head tonight."

Fanning said the plan approval "has been delayed and delayed" after months of study," and contended further delay would be the "same old stall and stall and restall."

Other council members indicated there were some parts of the plan that were open to study, such as the call for a boatyard, and the road plan.

John S. Hoffmire, former mayor, said if changes were made the plan would have to go back to the planning commission, and then he could foresee a delay of six months. He said the questions that arose during public hearings could be resolved after adoption.

Fanning moved that the council adopt the plan, but there wasn't any second. "I feel the public expected action and we should move ahead tonight," he said.

Still no second and he commented: "If the downtown plan fails after six years work by lack of a second, so be it."

Rice said the plan would be the first matter on the agenda at the next council meeting at 8 p.m. May 11 at city hall.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood as the city's representative to the Association of Bay Area Government with M. Carlisle Becker as alternate, and Miss Ellinwood to the City-County Planning Council with Becker as alternate.

COMMITTEES — Appointed to the council's administration and finance committee, Rice, chairman, and Albert H. Sennett; to the public services committee, Miss Ellinwood, chairman, and Sennett; to the lands and development committee, Fanning, chairman, and Becker.

AD HOC COMMITTEES — Created a special committee on annexation of areas outside the city consisting of Fanning and Sennett, with a recommendation from Rice that there be a special committee on acquisition of city hall facilities and possibly a special committee on downtown, and a recommendation from Fanning that there be a policy committee consisting of the council and the chairmen of the planning commission and parks and recreation commission.

REZONING — Approved rezoning several parcels, owned by North Bay Properties Inc. along Marinero Circle from multiple and single family to planned development, with the intention to hold density at 32 units but the possibility of up to 38 if design of the proposed project warranted it.

RESTAURANT PLAN — Approved a precise plan for additions to Kappie's restaurant at 38 Main Street, submitted by Fred G. Zelinsky.

DRAINAGE PROJECTS — Approved four projects to better surface water drainage systems in the city, at a cost of $9,000 in gasoline tax funds and $3,000 from the general fund.

DIVISO STREET — Authorized calling for bids to improve Diviso Street at Centro West Street, estimated to cost $6,700.

SPRING FESTIVAL — Endorsed plans by the Parks and Recreation Commission to a Spring Festival at Richardson Bay Park, and suggested May 16 rather than May 9 as the date.

POLICY MEETING — Agreed with a recommendation by Sennett that the council have a special meeting within the next four or five weeks to discuss council procedures and the "direction of the community."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until May 11 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Planning Commission Spot Open

Tiburon is seeking applicants for the city planning commission because the April 14 municipal election created a vacancy.

Albert H. Sennett,a planning commissioner, was elected to the city council.

Mayor Denis T. Rice last night issued a call for interested residents to apply for the seat.

Councilmen held a closed session at 12:20 a.m. today to discuss appointing a planning commissioner, but no action was taken.

Seaman Will Be Drummed Out Of Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seaman Roger L. Priest, ordered demoted and drummed out of the Navy for "promoting disloyalty and disaffection" through his antiwar newsletter, says he expected a harsher sentence but will appeal it just the same.

With tears in his eyes, the 26-year-old sailor from Houston, Tex., told reporters he found the sentence of a five-man Navy court-martial Monday "amazing . . . I'm very fortunate."

Priest could have been imprisoned for a maximum of six years on the two counts for which he was convicted last Thursday. He was found innocent of the two more serious charges, urging desertion and soliciting sedition by members of the armed services.

The young sailor called the punishment unwarranted and added he doesn't think "what I've done is bad."

Unless Monday's sentence is reversed, Priest will be reduced from seaman apprentice to seaman recruit—the lowest pay grade—and given a bad conduct discharge.

The sentence was seen as a disappointment to the prosecution.

The convictions came on charges against the May and June 1969 issues of "OM," Priest's newsletter.

De Gaulle 'Great'

PARISH (UPI) — The newspaper France-Soir released today the results of a poll that showed 57 per cent of Frenchmen polled thought Charles de Gaulle was a great president but only 32 per cent regretted his departure. DeGaulle resigned a year ago.

Slide Fear Voiced In Condominium Area

Oceana Marin subdivision, where condominiums and townhouses have been approved north of Dillon Beach, is a dangerous slide area and should not be developed before a thorough engineering and geological survey, in the opinion ofa p rofessor of geology at the University of California in Berkeley.

The warning, by Prof. Clyde Wahrhaftig, was presented to the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday by Acting County Planner Werner Von Gundell.

The commissioners asked Von Gundell to let the Marin County Board of Supervisors know about the slide dangers.

A rezoning to allow 340 condominiums, some of them to be built on bluffs overlooking the Pacific Ocean and Estero de San Antonio, will go before supervisors May. 5.

"The coast north of Dillon Beach is underlain largely by unstable masses of relatively impermeable crushed sandstone and shale, and is subject to very active landsliding," wrote Wahrhaftig.

He said his studies show that in the near future, a block of upland along the bluff-top about 40 feet wide and 100 to 200 feet long will drop into the sea, and that blocks of upland 20 feet or more wide could slip away overnight.

"Geologic considerations zased on our brief survey suggest the very strong liklihood that the planned urban development will be unsuccessful . . ." said the professor.

"A sewage disposal plant, if disrupted by sliding, may pose a threat of epidemic requiring the area to be condemned and access prohibited."

This is the same development that drew strong disapproval from former county planning commissioner, Michael Praszker, on April 13, just before he retired from the commission.

Praszker, a soils engineer, warned fellow commissioners who approved the development that cluster homes on the bluffs north of Dillon Beach could result in disaster because of the poor soil condition and the San Andreas fault.

A total of 675 units have been approved on 688 acres of Oceana Marin. Bodega Bay Lands Inc. and Highway Properties Inc., owners of the property, plan a mixture of residential including conventional homes, townhouses and condominiums.

Tires Taken

Four tires with a total value of $112 and four wheels worth $178 were stolen Thursday from three 1970 Fiats parked at Doug Dicker Sport Car Center, 933 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police reported today.

Campground In Bolinas Is Rejected

A travel-trailer campground in the pastoral Horseshoe Hill-Paradise Valley area of Bolinas was turned down yesterday by a 6-to-0 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission.

Claude and Louise Powell, who own 17 acres on the west side of Olema-Bolinas Upper Road, wanted rezoning from limited agricultural to resort-commercial so that campsites for travel-trailers could be installed.

Capt. David Edwards and attorneys Warren Perry and Roderick P. Martinelli, who own property in Bolinas, declared that the area is surrounded by "country-type residentials" of three to five acres. They charged that trailer campsites would destroy the rural setting.

"It's the wrong zoning, at the wrong place at the wrong time," said Perry.

County Planner Rowland Darnell recommended against the rezoning. He said the Bolinas-Stinson Beach master plan has other areas closer to Bolinas set aside for resort-commercial, but Upper Road is designated for low density residential.

On a motion by Hugh Dougherty and a second by John F. West, commissioners denied the rezoning. Clay Wright, real estate man, represented Mr. and Mrs. Powell in the rezoning request.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

BIKE TRAILS — Incorporated into the county parks and recreation master plan a system of bicycle trails from Sausalito to North Marin. The trail plan calls for use of existing roads, and wherever possible, the improvement of existing paths or construction of new trails devoted primarily to cycling.

TOMALES FILL — Continued until June 8 a request by Sven B. Berg to build an eight-foot retaining wall about 35 feet into Tomales Bay on his property adjacent to Marshall Hotel, and put fill behind the wall so that summer homes can be built. Bryan R. McCarthy, attorney for Berg, asked for the continuance.

VARIANCE — Continued until May 11 a request for variance on lot split by Maurice Schoder, who owns property at 366-A Richardson Way, Tamalpais Valley. Deputy Zoning Administrator Ralph D. Cairns opposed the request because one of the lots proposed by Schoder has no access to a public right of way but will be served by a 10-foot alley.

DETACHED BUILDING — Denied by split vote Robert Franceschini's request for a detached building to house pool equipment at 100 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow. Cairns said Franceschini's home is a corner lot, which requires that a detached building be placed in the rearmost quadrant, not in the location proposed by the owner.

TOMALES BAY FARM — Set May 11 as the time for a public hearing to reconsider Herbert Angress' plans for his Tomales Bay Farm north of Marshall. Planning commissioners had approved the master plan for 62 acres of Angress' property, but county supervisors last week dissected the plan, approving only 22 acres on the bay side of Shoreline Highway.

Artist Takes On A New Role

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A fairly new kind of position—Affiliate Artist—should be of great interest to women with high musical qualifications, and to men too.

Holding such a position is soprano Elizabeth Cole, who has been assigned to the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. She is one of three on the West Coast, the others being in Seattle and Los Angeles.

"The title is Affiliate Artist, not Artist-in-Residence," the vivacious brunette explains, "for we visit the performing arts centers or educational institutions where we are assigned several times during the year. I am in residence at the seminary for three periods of 10 days each.

"During this time our total artistic resources are available to the institutions and communities for such activities as performing formally and informally, talking and demonstrating many phases of performing arts in workshops or conferences that may be held in living rooms, coffee shops or just under the trees.

"OUR PRIMARY purpose is to be cultural ambassadors, creating new and more audiences for the performing arts and breaking down barriers between the audiences and performers.

"Affiliate Artists is founded on the idea that America needs her artists as much as they need her. Many performing artists have had to pay for economic stability by exiling themselves to state-supported theaters of Europe or by taking another job and making a hobby of the profession they love and have taken years to perfect.

"Also being an Affiliate Artist offers a performer the chance to continue developing his art in that capacity and privately. We are paid the year around just as if we resided continually at our place of assignment.

"The program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts, various foundations and business corporations. Sears Roebuck is my sponsor.

"Affiliate Artists are not just talented young beginners," the singer stresses," for the age range is about 28 to 40, and they have a very high level of training and experience so that they are really qualified to be leaders in their institutions and communities."

Miss Cole is an example of the caliber of artist in the program.

She is a graduate of Vassar College with a B.A. degree as music major in voice and piano, and she has done graduate work at the Juilliard School of Music and Columbia University in New York City.

Her vocal and dramatic versatility has won acclaim for her on opera stages from New York to Honolulu, in Broadway musical comedy and operetta. She has appeared in every major TV network and in concert in such places as Carnegie Hall and Town Hall and with many big symphony orchestras. She was a performing member of the Lincoln Center Repertory Company in New York.

Miss Cole went on to explain why after such a distinguished performing career she decided to become an Affiliate Artist.

"THE CONCERT field is dead," she says, "especially in the East, except for top names, and big urban musical organizations like operas and symphonies are in trouble because of rising costs. The arts are going through a tremendous revolution, and artists are going to have to create their own audiences of a different sort and go to the audiences instead of waiting for the audiences to come to them.

"Also they are going to have to redefine their standards of success—at present, a large filled formal concert hall where people are used to being performed at.

"Success should be merely doing the thing for which you are trained and for whihch you put your life on the line. Art centers in smaller communities are better than great big halls. In smaller communities you can create an atmosphere favorable to the arts among ordinary people, not the privileged few. A smaller community is a good place for an artist to live and raise a family because he has a stake in its artistic future. He may even be able to control what is offered in the performing arts instead of allowing commercial agents to determine this."

Having a family was another reason Miss Cole chose to become an Affiliate Artist. She is the widow of playwright Morton Wishengrad and mother of two children, Nina, 15, and Dan, 13, both of whom have performed on stage with her in the East.

"I could not accept many leading roles because I was not free to travel," she says, "when I became a mother. I found I had to give them up, but I just had to keep performing somehow."

"I have been an Affiliate Artist two years and was one of the first 10, but when I was assigned to the Theological Seminary here I thought, 'Good heavens, what am I going to do with a bunch of ministers!' Now I see they are human, with many of the same problems artists have.

"Most are from fairly conservative backgrounds and are about to enter a life very different from what they grew up in. They want to be where the action is. A lot of them have talents they would like to integrate into their ministry.

"MANY MINISTERS are now using music to get to young people. They have found they can go from rock to other types of music. It helps them break down barriers.

"One of the things I will do here is act as a liaison between the seminary, which is rather isolated, and the community. It has many cultural resources which have been available to the community, and there probably could be more things on campus that could be free to the public."

Miss Cole and Wilbur Russell, head of music at the seminary, are already planning some programs for her next visit in the fall.

During her just-concluded second visit she performed at the Tamalpais Retirement Center in Greenbrae, at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo and at San Quentin prison.

She hopes to broaden contacts with the community, singing with some of the Marin musical organizations, which may be persuaded to open rehearsals to the public—a very good way to create new interest in music, she says. She also hopes to go into the public schools and perform for business organizations like Rotary.

"Getting business leaders involved," she suggests, "is a good way to introduce music to people who do not necessarily know much about it, and besides, business can use the arts. Sears Roebuck is at present underwriting 18 Affiliate Artist appointments, including mine.

"One of the greatest ways to build new audiences is getting to the children before they are in junior high school when their tastes are being formed They make great audiences. Retirement villages or homes are another good field."

The San Francisco Theological Seminary is an excellent place for the Affiliate Artist program, because the arts and their relationship to man, his life and his faith have long been a keen interest of the seminary faculty and student body.

ONE OF THREE Affiliate Artists on the West Coast, Elizabeth Cole sees her role at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo as that of cultural ambassador. "In smaller communities you can create an atmosphere favorable to the arts among ordinary people, not the privileged few," she says.

British Mothers Push Marriage Before Career

By JACK HILL
London Express Service

LONDON — A girl's worst friend is her mother, 200 women delegates at a national conference were told Friday.

And the reason — claimed woman journalist Nina Gadd — is because in many cases the mothers of Britain are putting marriage before careers.

There were gasps and giggles at the 40th annual Women's Trade Unions Council meeting in Weymouth's pavillion when 35-year-old Miss Gadd — a National Union of Journalists delegate from the Central London Branch — got up to support a motion calling for wider government publicity on its training plans for women.

It went through unanimously — but only after ash blonde Nina had declared through the rostrum microphone:

"The reason why girls don't get opportunities in education and training is because their worst friend is the mum in many cases.

"Mothers of Britain encourage girls to get their man. Jobs are a stopgap between school and marriage."

She went on: "If only a mother would realize that it's far better for her daughter to get a good education and learn a profession properly, this would probably lead to a fuller life and happier marraige."

In some small towns, Miss Gadd said, "social pressures by parents and their contemporaries are so great that young girls spend far more time hunting for husbands than in carving out a career."

Perhaps because of these "social pressures," she suggested, some young people tried to escape by taking drugs and "dropping out."

Too many women today were merely regarded as domestic drudges "because they have little knowledge apart from what goes on in their kitchen.

"It is claimed in many cases," said Miss Gadd, "it's the women's own fault. I don't agree with this generalization.

"The conditioning of British girls makes early marriages the Utopian peak of a girl's life."

And finally she had this bit of advice for the mothers of Britain:

"Wake up and actively encourage your daughters to train themselves for a career in the widest sense — so that at marriage they do not become just cabbages."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

How Can We Bring About Peace If Neighbors Can't Get Along

DEAR HELEN:

We all say we want peace, but if we can't make it work in a small community, a neighborhood block, or in our own homes, how do we expect to ever bring about world peace?

How many people are there who really get along with their families? How many neighbors seem to enjoy fighting and feuding? Look at all the dissension about the way your city is run.

It seems that we're saying, "We want peace so bad we'll fight for it!" That's like the father saying to his kids, "Shut up and get along, or I'll brain you!"

We'll never have peace anywhere unless we learn to love our fellowman, and that doesn't mean only the ones who look and think like us. Why can't people really like each other? — FOR TRUE PEACE

DEAR FTP:

Because people don't really try to understand each other. May that day come. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm dating a boy who has had trouble with the law. He's been busted twice for drugs. He wants me to go away with him, but I'd rather wait a year and get married. My folks are raising Cain about me going with him. How can I make them understand the problem is just insecurity? — KNOWS SHE CAN HELP

DEAR KSCH:

Your parents do understand the problem is just insecurity — theirs. It won't be solved until you break off with this two-time loser.

You're headed for a messed-up life of drugs and drifting unless you drop the little mother role and realize that a boy can only be helped when he's ready to help himself. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If my big brother and I could get along together, things would be a lot quieter around the house.

I can't help arguing with him when he acts so darn superior. He says I act bratty, but it's just because he riles me into it.

How can I make life easier for both of us, and especially my parents? — TROUBLED 12-YEAR-OLD GIRL

DEAR GIRL:

Try praise. Let your brother know you think he's great (even if you must act a bit), and pretty soon he may start living up to the role. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was practically engaged to this fellow I never met. We started corresponding when he was in the Service (he's a friend of a friend), and he wrote for two years. He said we'd be married when he came home, and I believed him.

Now I hear from the friend who introduced us that he is engaged to another girl, and the wedding date has been set.

I've saved all of his letters. Could I take him to court for breach of promise or something? — LEFT 3,000 MILES FROM THE ALTAR

DEAR LEFT:

A man can't be sued for changing his mind about marrying a girl he never met.

"Breach of promise?" Such suits went out of style with the flapper. How did a teen-ager ever hear the phrase? — H.

Also a graduate of Tamalpais High School, Charles is employed by H. Koch and Sons in Corte Madera.

The couple are on a wedding trip driving from Libby to Seattle and then down the West Coast to San Anselmo where they will live.

Pat Nixon Is 'Interested' But Mum On Equality Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First Lady Pat Nixon is "very interested" in women's equality but prefers not to discuss it publicly while Congress is studying legislation in that field, the White House said Monday.

"She does not speak out on issues where she does not consider herself an expert, and particularly matters of legislation," said Mrs. Connie Stuart, Mrs. Nixon's staff director.

Reminded that President Nixon has long been on record in favor of the amendment proposed, a constitutional amendment on women's rights, Mrs. Stuart replied: "Mrs. Nixon does indeed support what her husband believes."

"She has indeed indicated a great interest in this type of legislation . . .but does not like to speak because it is pending before Congress," Mrs. Stuart said.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., introduced the amendment, which would rule that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

PAT NIXON

Similar women's rights amendments have been introduced during every congressional session since 1923. The Senate approved such amendments in 1950 and 1953, but they died in the House.

Both Mrs. Nixon and her daughter Julie Eisenhower "are aware women do not always have equal rights," Mrs. Stuart said, and "obviously they hope they will."

Women's groups have been urging the White House to make a public a task force report on women's rights and responsibilities submitted to Nixon last Dec. 15. The report cites "discriminatory practices against women" and urges passage of the equal rights amendment.

It also recommends that Nixon set up a White House office on womens' rights to provide a link between government and private programs to wipe out such discrimination.

GARDENING IS the major interest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Michael Barber of Mill Valley, who are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary today. Mr. Barber cuts some of her favorite roses for his wife.

Barbers Celebrate 50 Years

Nina and Carl Michael Barber of Mill Valley, teen-age sweethearts since they met in Denver, Colo., were married 50 years ago today, and their four children will host a reception for them Saturday.

Nina and Carl attended schools in Denver and were working when they met, she as a stenographer and he as a machinist with the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad. They were married on April 28, 1920, in Denver.

Three years later they moved to McGill, Nev., when Mr. Barber got a job with the Kennecott Copper Company in Ely, and they lived there 21 years. At the end of that time they moved to their present home in Mill Valley on Amicita Street.

Mr. Barber worked at Marinship during World War II until it was closed and was employed as superintendent of the shop at A. G. Schoonmaker until he retired last year.

The Barbers' oldest son, Robert John Barber, was killed in an accident while he was in training for the U.S. Navy Air Force. They have two sons and two daughters.

Their daughter Claire Ruth, Mrs. Phillip Hyatt of Loma Verde, has three children, Catherine and Michael Hyatt, and Mrs. Michael Burrell of Novato, whose children, David and Beth Ann, are the Barbers' only great grandchildren.

Their daughter Nina Jane, Mrs. Harrison Miller of Colorado Springs, Colo., has three children, Gary Michael, Karen and Cherryl.

Gordon Grant Barber of St. Helena has four children, Deborah, Steven, Albert and Justin, and Richard Carl Barber of Yorba Linda, Colo., has two children, Kevin Michael and Kerri.

Gardening is the major interest of the Barbers, but Nina Barber also enjoys crocheting and making wall plaques of crushed glass, beads and marbles and taking family movies.

Mr. Barber, his wife says, is known as Mr. Fix-It for the neighborhood.

Mrs. Barber is a charter member of the Women's Auxiliary of Muir Woods Post 6741, Veterans of Foreign Wars, founded in 1947 and has held all of its offices. She is the current treasurer.

The Barbers are members of the Senior Citizens of the International Association of Machinists.

The reception given by their children will be held Saturday from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall in Mill Valley with some 60 guests attending.

Hospital Tour For Expectant

A kaffee klatch for expectant women in the Petaluma Hospital District will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma. Mrs. Margarethe Kircher, R.N. in the maternity department will conduct a tour of the hospital for the guests.

The hospital is located at Hayes Lane and El Rose Drive in Petaluma.

If you don't get the point of this new research*, you're losing customers

The percentages of women planning, shopping and spending for each item in a week are very small.

This finding, from the most complete research ever done on the retail customer, is nothing to brush off lightly. (Unless you want to brush off business).

Let's see what it means: Take women's dresses. Only 7 women out of 100 interviewed in Week I planned to buy a dress soon. In Week II, 5 out of 100 actually shopped for a dress. And only 3 bought. But the ones who bought weren't necessarily among the 7 who planned to buy!

This pattern is true for every item in all stores, except food and drug-sundries (the necessities). The market is fantastically small on any given day, in any given week. It is not a huge, faceless group just waiting for your merchandise.

Take major appliances: the findings show that 16,700 women must be reached to sell every 100 major appliances sold in all stores in town in a week!

And wouldn't you know it? Three out of four items bought by women in the second week of the survey weren't even planned in the first week. So, those who plan don't necessarily buy, and those who buy didn't even know a few days before that they would soon make a purchase decision!

The point is: no store can know when or where women will actually buy. If you're out of the market with your advertising you're out of sight, out of mind. But if you're in, with a consistent schedule of smaller-space ads to supplement your larger ads, you draw this ever-changing, dynamic market to you. You turn "planners" into buyers of your items. And you get the random buyer to become an actual purchaser.

Your ads in the Independent-Journal give you "market command." Because here you reach 70% of all Marin County households. You reach a tremendous audience. And you get immediate response. Just a better way of doing more business. Call your I-J Ad-Man now and make this research work for you.

Nixon To Hold Off School Plan Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has decided against pressing for a Supreme Court ruling on the legality of segregated schools resulting from housing patterns, the Justice Department's top civil rights lawyer says.

The reason, Jerris Leonard said Monday, is the administration has no solutions to offer should the high court strike down unofficial—or de facto—segregation as unconstitutional.

Leonard thus made clear what President Nixon had implied in his recent statement on school segregation in which he said the administration would avoid "provoking the courts into extreme decision."

The Supreme Court has not ruled that "racial isolation by itself requires a constitutional remedy, even where that racial isolation may be brought about by official action or inaction," Leonard told newsmen.

The high court has held unconstitutional the official—or de jure—type of segregation existing in the South but has not spoken on the question of whether the Constitution requires widespread busing to achieve racial balance in neighborhood schools.

Leonard also said statewide desegregation suits once contemplated against Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina may not need to be filed since, he said, voluntary compliance is coming along.

Famous Rockwell Painting Stolen

NEW YORK (UPI)—An oil painting by Norman Rockwell of a doctor ministering to a broken doll while a young girl anxiously looks on was reported stolen Monday by a New York physician who valued it at $50,000.

The original painting, reproduced on the cover of the defunct Saturday Evening Post, apparently was stolen from the office of Dr. George Roberts on the first floor of a Brooklyn apartment building where he also lives.

The office had been closed over the weekend, Roberts told police.

New York Police On Strike Verge

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

As they approach a midnight deadline for a strike by 80 per cent of the force, New York City policemen have scheduled a meeting to decide their response to a city-requested court order prohibiting the strike. Elsewhere, Minneapolis teachers moved to end a three-week strike.

New York City obtained the temporary court restraint Monday after Mayor John V. Lindsay charged that the policemen's salary demands would "drive the city into bankruptcy." He added that the "unlawful action ... could place in jeopardy the safety of the citizens."

President Edward J. Kiernan of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association said the strike, which he contended was a "job action," was called to back police demands for an additional $2,700 in pay over their 27-month contract.

Kiernan conceded that the plan violates the state's Taylor Law, which forbids strikes, work stoppages or slowdowns by public employes. The city used it as the basis for obtaining the court order, but the law has been violated in several walkouts.

The PBA has based its salary demand on a contract clause that calls for salaries of patrolmen to be maintained in a ratio of 3.0 to 3.5 to those of sergeants, who were given a pay hike in February. Current pay for a first-grade patrolman is $10,950 a year.

In Minneapolis, the Minneapolis Federation of Teachers Local 59, AFL-CIO, scheduled a vote Tuesday on a tentative contract.

Jubilation swept a meeting of the 1,800-member MFT Monday when word was received of the tentative agreement. Details of the settlement were not immediately available, but one union leader praised its provisions regarding class size and preparation time.

During most of the strike—the city has kept the schools closed to the system's 68,000 pupils.

In another development, the Chicago Sun-Times reported that the top leadership of the Teamsters Union has been summoned to Washington for a final preballoting review on Thursday of a tentative national contract.

The contract provides $1.10 an hour in increased wages over three years. However, wildcat strikes by truck drivers have developed in scattered locations to demand a better settlement.

Under the contract that expired March 31, drivers earned $4.15 an hour.

In North Brunswick, N.J., Robert J. Coar, president of Teamsters Local 701, said his local has reached the "first major breakthrough in the East" by obtaining a three-year contract with wage increases adding up to $1.65 an hour.

Some Chicago truckers earlier won a similar agreement with carriers and many of the striking truckers have cited the $1.65 figure as their demand.

Carr said his agreement was worked out with Moore Trucking Co. of Piscataway.

Meanwhile, pressure mounted in the protracted New York newspaper negotiations as the printers union increased by an hour the length of its slowdowns at the New York Times.

The printers, who have singled out the Times for slowdowns since union contracts expired March 30, increased the length of their no-work periods to an estimated 15½ hours out of 21½ working hours.

The printers have been considered the key union in negotiations between 10 unions and the Times, the Daily News, the New York Post and the Long Island Press.

The unions have turned down a management offer which provided wage increases totalling 24.79 per cent over three years.

Stolen Auto Found Stripped At School

A 1947 Buick belonging to Harry W. McCarley, 59, of 119 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, was discovered stripped at Miller Creek School Saturday, after it apparently had been used by joyriding juveniles, police reported today.

McCarley had earlier listed the car as stolen, the police said.

Work Furlough Inmate Missing

A San Quentin work furlough prisoner, scheduled to be paroled in 10 days, failed to report Friday to his job as a truck driver for a private company in San Francisco.

The prison listed Shelby L. Hodges, 29, of Fresno County, as having escaped.

According to Albert R. Jacobs, associate warden, Hodges had left the prison at 6 a.m. Friday but failed to report to his job or return to the prison.

Hodges, who began in the work furlough program on April 6, came to San Quentin in October 1967 on a burglary and two prior felony convictions.

FCC Survey Pinpoints Phone Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Statistics gathered by the Federal Communications Commission indicate the nation's phone service has deteriorated over the past two years with New Yorkers—as many of them suspect—getting the worst service of all.

Los Angeles seems to be getting some of the best service.

The FCC, in a study initiated last fall has collected figures from the Bell Telephone System on the quality of phone service in 20 major population areas, and is awaiting statistics from seven independent telephone companies.

While a final analysis is still in the works the commission's Common Carrier Bureau is willing to reveal the raw statistics, but not interpret them.

But some of the figures speak for themselves.

NEW YORK SERVICE

They show, for example, it takes longer to get a phone installed in New York City than anywhere else. And once you get it, you'll have a harder time getting a dial tone or an operator on it. If you ask the operator to help put your call through, she'll have a harder time doing it from New York than anywhere else.

New Yorkers also find themselves seeking phone repairs more often than anybody except the folks in Southern Florida, and, like the Floridians, they have to call back more than most people to get it.

On the other hand, New Yorkers' experience with direct-dialed calls, both incoming and outgoing, seems about typical.

BEST RECORD

Los Angeles shows the best service record in only one of the nine major tests—Angelenos don't have to call back so often after they order repairs.

But their service can be rated best in general because performance in each category usually is above average.

Whether the phone service in one area is better than in another depends what kind of service is studied; and whether any service is good or bad depends how fast and reliable one expects it to be.

The FCC has drawn no conclusions yet from its statistics, but by adding each area's rank in all nine categories a kind of score can be reached to serve as a rough rule of thumb—a tally of who seems to be having the most or least problems.

Approximately 100 million automobiles are now registered in the U.S.

$3,500 MOUSETRAP

Festival Troupe In Fight To Stay Alive

By LARRY MOWELL

The Festival Theater, Marin's innovative experimental theater for the past nine years, is faced with extinction unless it can raise $3,500 before its new play's scheduled opening night, May 8, according to producer Elizabeth Berryhill.

The theater group led by its producer and founder, Miss Berryhill, made a bold jump into experimental theater last summer and landed in very deep water.

"I Wish I Were A Trumpet," written by Miss Berryhill and Mark Bucci of New York, took a financial bath, costing $25,000 that has threatened the existence of the theater.

Miss Berryhill's group has a mailing list of more than 12,000 people who have expressed interest in following performances, but the greatest support in its time of crisis has come from its cast.

At Friday's rehearsal of the new play, "Better Mouse Trap," opened to the public to raise funds, the cast itself pledged to cover $1,675 of the debt, Miss Berryhill said. All are working without pay.

The theater which has delighted so many Bay Area residents for 24 years, got only $400 in outside donations instead of the hoped-for $4,800.

Festival's woes began last year when it separated from a two-year, $48,000 federal education grant, which had keyed it to children's theater, and struck out for the uncharted waters of experimental theater.

The Festival has performed a smorgasbord of plays ranging from "Rumpelstiltskin" to "All My Sons" by Arthur Miller and Samuel Beckett's "Waiting For Godot."

In all its work the theater group has won a reputation for courage in presenting new material; a trait that finally endangered its existence.

The Festival Theater, started by Miss Berryhill in Berkeley in 1946 came to San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo in 1960 with its Straw Hat Revue, "The Face Is Familiar" and "The Cup of Trembling," based on the life of persecuted German theologian Deitrich Boenhoffer.

Miss Berryhill wrote and directed both works and has written many of the group's productions since then.

"Better Mousetrap" is no exception. She wrote it and directs the revue that is not a revue or a play or anything conventional, it's a theatrical cheesehouse, according to Miss Berryhill.

It is as avant-garde as its predecessor that failed so miserably, but Miss Berryhill is optimistic about it.

If some saviors produce $3,500, the Festival Theater will present a very innovative play in Mousetrap. "We're completely changing the environment of Festival Theater. . .," Miss Berryhill said.

Rows of chairs for the audience have been replaced by small tables for food and the stage is gone, replaced by a series of screens and small stages.

The 12-member revue cast will be an all-purpose one—singing, dancing, working the lights and even waiting on tables.

For the revue itself, Miss Berryhill has gathered songs, sketches, poems and graffiti into 20-to-30-minute units with intermissions enabling the audience to order food and chat.

"Mousetrap" is designed for informality and friendliness and enjoyment of life, according to its author.

Meanwhile, she is waiting to find out whether the theater group can survive.

How Do You Judge A Judge? Voter League Tries

How do you judge a judge?

Answers to that question are important to Marin voters this year because, for the first time in nearly a quarter-century, they will have a choice of candidates for a judgeship.

Thirteen candidates are in the field for the municipal court vacancy created by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.'s decision not to seek another term. It is the first time there has been a contest for a court position in Marin since the late N. Charles Brusatori defeated Carlos Freitas for a Superior Court seat in 1956.

THE CENTRAL MARIN League of Women Voters went to many attorneys — the men most knowledgeable about the courts — seeking answers to the questions, "How do you judge a judge?"

The league also asked each of the 13 candidates: "What opportunities for effecting change do you foresee as a municipal judge?"

The answers they got, plus a description of the Municipal Court for the Marin Central Judicial District, in which the vacancy occurs, and of the jurisdiction of municipal court are contained in a "Briefs on the Judiciary" folder the league has just issued. It will be distributed to league members and any others who want it. Copies may be obtained by writing or calling the league at P. O. Box 2174, San Rafael, or Mrs. H. James Compton, voter service chairman, in Kentfield.

THE LEAGUE FOUND that, in addition to knowledge of the law, a judge's qualifications should include a wide variety of legal experience, fairness, wisdom, patience, objectivity, and dignity. None of these, of course, is easy to judge in a candidate with whom the voter is not personally acquainted.

"The above qualities," says the league's folder, "comprise the characteristic known as 'judicial temperament,' considered to be the most important qualification for a judge. . .

"A judge must possess the ability to communicate clearly, to express himself and charge the jury with duties on a level which can be readily understood by the layman. He must provide a just and fair trial for each individual, striking a balance between efficiency and careful application of justice to each case."

IN THEIR RESPONSES to the league's question, many of the candidates stressed speeding up the trial process. Several of them advocated night court. Others put stress on strict enforcement, or on retaining or recapturing the dignity of courts.

The candidates — all attorneys, since that is a requirement — are Charles R. Best of San Anselmo, A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr. of Mill Valley, Jack L. Blaine of Greenbrae, Howard K. Morehouse of San Rafael, Harry E. Rice of Tiburon, Donald Rosenberg of Tiburon, Robert A. Smallman of Kentfield, Frank Solomon Jr. of Marinwood, Thomas T. Storer of Novato, Joshua W. Thomas of Novato, Tom Thorner of Kentfield, Harold J. Truett of San Anselmo, and Ernest C. Zunino of Fairfax.

BEST suggested improving court efficiency by appointing attorneys at temporary referees to dispose of non-jury matters.

BJORKLUND emphasized: "Enforce the law as the legislature intended it to be enforced; . . decisions based on this law and not on what they think this law should be."

BLAINE held that "most changes must of necessity be legislative," but cited the need "to work with citizenry to restore respect and dignity to courts."

MOREHOUSE stressed the need for speedier justice. He suggested eliminating minor traffic charges from municipal court, as provided in proposed legislation.

RICE declared: "By appropriate sentencing, convicted pushers and perpetrators of violence can be isolated from society."

ROSENBERG proposed a night court for traffic cases, and simplifying procedure in minor traffic cases "by expanding 1968 legislation which I drafted." He proposed treatment facilities instead of jail for alcoholics. "We must," he said, "restore public confidence in the courts."

SMALLMAN said: "Purpose of the courts is determination of guilt or innocence and should not be used for an attack on our American system of jurisprudence . . . Convicted drug pushers must be punished severely . . . Unecessary delays must be eliminated."

SOLOMON advocated night court for both traffic and small claims cases, "simpler procedures, fewer delays. . . . improved methods of scheduling jury matters."

STORER held that the municipal court judge "can effect a positive influence upon the community" and perhaps "improve relationships with young people."

THOMAS urged reduction of delays by granting continuances only with good cause, adoption by municipal court of the superior court's jury selection system, and emphasis on the responsibilities of probation.

THORNER said, "The judge's attitude and his explanation of the law are as important . . . as the law itself."

TRUETT proposed transferring juvenile traffis cases to juvenile court and appointing referees to handle minor contested traffic matters.

ZUNINO called for "reevaluation of judicial attitudes" and promised to try to "eliminate the tremendous backlog of cases pending." He, too, suggested a night court.

Conflicts Of Interest Widespread Among Judges

The extent of conflict of interest, as it affects the judiciary, is becoming more and more evident as the Senate looks closely into the qualifications of Supreme Court justices for the first time in many years.

The first disclosure of such conflict came with President Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination of Justice Abe Fortas to replace Earl Warren as chief justice. Although Fortas had been confirmed as associate justice earlier with only cursory study, his nomination to head the court touched off a bitter wrangle based largely on his receiving legal fees from wheeler-dealer Louis Wolfson while a member of the court.

A much lesser conflict of interest was dredged up to against Clement Haynsworth when President Richard M. Nixon nominated him for the court. It resulted in Haynsworth's rejection by the Senate.

NOW, REP. GERALD R. FORD, R-Mich., has initiated a move for impeachment proceedings against Justice William O. Douglas. And the heart of Congressman Ford's case lies in the conflicts of interest represented by Douglas's association with pornography publisher Ralph Ginzburg, and with Albert Parvin, former associate of gangland figures whose Parvin Foundation has figured in a series of Washington scandals running back to the Bobby Baker case.

And a couple of very minor conflicts of interest have been brought to light involving President Nixon's newest Supreme Court nominee, Harry A. Blackmun.

THERE HAS LONG been a sort of protective myth about gentlemen who don the judicial robes. The public, by and large, has chosen to believe that in becoming judges, these men cast aside more mundane interests.

Of course, this isn't true. Appointment to the bench does not cut a man off from the business associations he may have established as an attorney. And many attorneys build their fortunes through the corporations they serve.

Since widespread conflict of interest involving judges seems indicated by the recent disclosures, it might be well to require that every judge file a public declaration of all his financial holdings. Such a requirement was included in the California conflict of interest law which the judges of our state Supreme Court decided was unconstitutional.

MARIN VOTERS have this year, for the first time in many years, an opportunity to choose among a wide field of candidates for one judgeship, that on the municipal court bench being vacated by Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

Wouldn't a statement of financial holdings by each of the 13 candidates give Marin voters the same kind of information that has played such a heavy role in Senate actions on Supreme Court justices?

Of course, this would do nothing about disclosing conflicts that may involve our judges already on the bench. But it would be a start.

"While you're at it, chief, just in case . . "

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Names Reversed On Two Letters

Some kind of composing room gremlin reversed the names on two letters to "What Our Readers Say" in last Friday's Independent Journal.

As a result, a letter on "Max Rafferty's Reading Gains" written by Gail B. Rey of Belvedere appeared over the name of Jan Hayward of Terra Linda. And a letter on "Knitting, 'Feelies' Good for Children" (on which the lines of the headline also were reversed) appeared over Mrs. Rey's name.

Mrs. Rey is one of Rafferty's campaign officials in Marin. We don't know how Mrs. Hayward feels about Rafferty, but she is a booster for such projects as knitting in nursery school.

The Independent-Journal regrets the error and hopes everything is now set straight.

Who Best Serves Catholic Church?

There are 50,000 "statistical" Catholics in Marin. Many, I am sure, were appalled to read in your April 22 issue of the refusal of Msgr. Thomas J. Bowe, pastor of the new $6,000,000 cathedral, to permit I-J pictures and story. What has the San Francisco Typographical Union strike, with over $100,000 sabotage to date, got to do with the new cathedral which needs favorable publicity, especially in the suburbs?

Msgr. Bowe and Msgr. Donnell Walsh, chancellor of the archdiocese, may not realize that the I-J publishes more reviews of Catholic books (which I write) than the Monitor, "official newspaper of the Archdiocese of San Francisco." More Marin Catholics read the I-J than all Catholic publications combined.

Who best serves the Catholic Church and all faiths, the I-J or union terrorists?

Catholic Distressed By Priest's Stand

Today I am ashamed to be a Catholic, and also ashamed that I scrimped for 30 months to pay a pledge to rebuild your catehdral.

Enclosed please find the building certificate, which you may keep which was awarded to my husband and myself upon completion of our pledge. Also enclosed please find an article clipped from last night's Independent - Journal (April 22). I have underlined the offending statements which are purported to have been made by Msgr. Walsh speaking on your behalf. What right do you have to speak for the thousands of Catholic in this archdiocese and elsewhere who made the sacrifices and paid the pledges to build, what in my opinion is a monstrosity but more than that a total waste of money? In this day when children are starving all over the world and a goodly number of the world's population goes to bed hungry each night the sight of such grandeur makes one quite sick to the stomach.

I would like to know what kind of man is in such a position of authority as to be the spiritual leader of our archdiocese yet can make so irresponsible a statement as to say "he is in complete agreement with Msgr. Bowe even though he is not familiar with the issues." He claims "we do not interfere with our priests.". Maybe it is about time you started interfering when they make totally irresponsible statements to the press that give the whole Catholic Church a black eye . . .

Young Man's Blood On Reagan's Hands

When the actor-governor of one of the United States of America can call for "bloodbaths" one week and cry crocodile tears the next because someone was killed — something is rotten.

The San Rafael I-J is a study in reaction, with their April 21 editorial canonizing Kevin Moran, and calling for "tougher laws" (Ronnie's goal in stirring up trouble). When a young man watching in Berkeley was killed, reaction's view was "so what, he shouldn't have been there."

Right, no one should be killed — but Ronald Reagan has the blood on his hands. Since the day he took office he has been encouraging violence. It's his ticket to reelection.

Editorial Support Helped Tax Issue

Please accept this letter as my sincere expression of appreciation to the Independent-Journal for your very supportive editorial on behalf of our April 14 school tax and bond election.

As you well know, this district was quite successful, with the community reaffirming strongly its desire for quality education in its schools. I am certain your editorial on behalf of the district had considerable influence upon those who read it. ...

I know I speak for the board of trustees, the vast majority of parents, and all the employees in the school district when I say thank you for helping us maintain a quality school system in Dixie.

Snow And Music Help Build Austria Back To Prosperity

VIENNA—On the day after the treaty was signed in 1955 freeing Austria of occupation troops, Bruno Kreisky, then state secretary for foreign affairs, got a rude shock. He was told by a highly placed British official that Austria was economically not a viable country and therefore its future was dark.

Kreisky (who has just become chancellor heading a minority government of Social Democrats) pondered this a moment. Then he said: "You forgot one important resource we have. Snow."

IN THE 15 YEARS that have intervened, Austria has harnessed mountain rivers fed by melting snows to create large resources of electric power for industry. The Austrian schilling is today one of the strongest currencies in Europe.

Snow supplies another form of revenue. Skiers from all over the world use Austria's superb slopes and thereby contribute to the flow of tourist dollars. On a per capita basis Austria's earnings from tourism are greater than those of any other country in Europe. Kreisky puts tourist revenue at $300 million and the returns from electric power at $200 million.

And there is an intangible that is attracting thousands of visitors who never see the ski slopes. That is music. In the capital of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Strauss and Brahms, the Austrians have made music a national industry.

WITH THE MUSICAL arts in the United States struggling to stay alive, the relationship between government and the performing arts in this country of 7,400,000 population is instructive. The government provides a subsidy of about $20 million for opera, theater and such galas as the annual Salzburg Music Festivals. When he was foreign minister, from 1959 to 1966, Kreisky often wryly observed that the subsidy for the performing arts was larger than the budget for the foreign ministry.

It has produced splendid rewards. An initial performance at the Vienna Opera the other evening of Verdi's "Macbeth" was of a standard that New York or London might envy. Voices, staging, chorus, the ensemble were superb, and repeatedly the packed house stopped the opera with prolonged bravos and applause. Music is for the Austrians not merely a tourist attraction but a cherished heritage.

The subsidy also covers a theater presenting light opera, where a recent production was "West Side Story," and a straight dramatic theater. It also pays part of the cost of the Salzburg Music Festivals that draw so many students and music lovers each year.

All this would be impossible without the federal subsidy and, so far as the visitor can tell, no one questions the role of government in the performing arts. It has, of course, ancient lineage. The opera and the state theaters were under royal patronage when the Hapsburgs ruled the Austro-Hungarian Empire. This meant that the money to sustain these cultural institutions, above and beyond revenue from the box office, came out of the public purse.

Indochina Trial Balloon Shot Down By Peking

By BRUCE W. MUNN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— The Soviet Union held out promise of a new Geneva conference on Southeast Asia recently and, after letting the idea incubate for 92 hours, deftly but definitely backpedaled.

Diplomatic sources at the U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Vienna say that Russian Ambassador Jacob Malik was talking not to the United States and the West but to Communist China when he told a news conference:

"The real situation appears to be that only a new Geneva conference could bring about a fresh situation and relax tensions in the Indochina peninsula."

VIENNA REPORTS said the Soviet Union backed off the suggestion because of negative reaction from Communist China and North Vietnam, both of which would be represented at new talks on the Vietnam-Laos-Cambodia situation.

Later, in a recorded interview, Malik added qualifications.

"Only a new Geneva conference alone can decide the problem of activity of the (international control) commission (for Indochina)," he said. "However, convening such a conference is unrealistic at the present time."

The International Control Commission—now all but defunct—was set up by the 1954 Geneva conference to police agreements ending the French Indochina war. The Soviet Union and Britain are cochairmen of that conference and could convene a new meeting for the purpose of giving the Control Commission a bigger role in keeping peace.

THE DIPLOMATIC trial balloon— this one probably shot down by Red China—is not new to the Kremlin. Nor is Malik's role as a clever middleman.

In February, 1949, Malik and U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup met at the United Nations—one version is that it was in a men's room—and as result of a Malik reply to a Jessup question, negotiations followed that ended the Berlin blockade.

In May, 1951, U.S. Ambassador George C. Kennan called on Malik to talk about the Korean war. Malik offered views which he expanded later in a U.N. radio broadcast and armistice talks followed.

Bridge Board Adopts Gag Rule For Long-Winded Commuters

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin commuters like children, are to be seen but not heard at board meetings of Golden Gate Bridge District directors.

This was the directors' paternal lesson last week when they adopted a policy to permit members of the public to address them only with the unanimous consent of all directors.

Even persons who request in writing to speak at a board meeting, and then come expecting to speak, can be blackballed by any one of the 18 directors.

And if anyone wanting to speak survives these tests of his determination, he still will get a voice only if he "can be accommodated on the agenda."

IN ONE of the least enlightened pronouncements heard recently at the bridge board, San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras said, "If there is some reason a director doesn't want someone to speak, he should have that right." He actually is one of the commuters' best friends on the bridge board, but his imperial view this time did not do him credit.

Several directors, led by Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley, unsuccessfully argued for requiring only a majority of board members' approval to speak, but he won only four other votes.

In fairness to the board, the new policy was generated by a horde of gloriously uninformed commuters which recently beset its meetings. Granted that such persons should not be given board time to get a basic education, the repressive new policy still was unwarranted.

The board has an out, of course. It can ignore the new policy unless it sees fit to use It. This has been the case with its policy to wait two weeks to act on committee recommendations.

Little has been heard of this policy, and it now is common to see recommendations voted in committee on Thursdays come before the board for final action the next morning.

It may be more efficient, but does little for democratic processes.

FURTHER INSULT was heaped on Marin commuters last week by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, which tried to scuttle the bridge district's joint bus and ferry system when it came before a committee of county supervisors.

Chamber members, of course, eagerly welcome commuters when they go shopping. To kick when these same Marinites try to get to work seems ungracious.

TRY AND STOP ME

Admirers of the late comedian Bert Lahr (and they were legion) like to recall the skit in which, impersonating a park sanitation worker, he leaned on his spear and spoge scathingly of a younger and more enterprising co-worker. "That fellow," he concluded, "will pick up anything!"

QUICKIES:

Prize telephone interruption of the year came to the lady who was telling her husband she wanted a divorce. The operator cut in to inform her courteously, "Your phone is off the hook, ma'am."

Rohnert Park's Quiet Days Ended By Election Bitterness

Rohnert Park — A placid and calm community on the surface — saw a city council election vigorously fought on a highly personal basis and appears headed for months of continued controversy.

The city was incorporated in August of 1962. Past election campaigns have been low-key affairs generating little interest. Now that the city has reached a population of more than 6,000, those days seem to be a vague part of history.

Incumbent city Councilmen Arthur N. Roberts and James W. Rogers met strong challengers in Louis G. Beary and Billy C. Ayers. As in any small town, the campaign was largely waged over the fencetops. There were rumors of corruption and badly managed personal lives being bandied about.

EVEN THOUGH the election is done with both men re-elected, the matter does not rest.

Spearheaded by developer and attorney Paul Golis, the drive against Rogers, as well as Councilman Jack Buchanan and City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan continues.

There are those who believe the action to seek a grand jury investigation into business dealings the three men have with the manager of Storer Cable TV is the culmination of years of increasing animosity between Golis and the council.

Golis, known as the "father of Rohnert Park," was the original developer. He has been at odds continually with the council when development varies from his original plans for the community.

Supporters of the councilmen and city manager maintain that only spite caused Golis to level the charges. His supporters claim that he could not longer remain silent about corruption he knew was evident.

An investigation by either the grand jury or state attorney general's office would clear the air over specific conflict of interest charges, but whether it would mend the basic divisions in the community is uncertain.

ROHNERT PARK is unusual in that it is a totally planned city with virtually no "old—timers" or precedents to follow.

Golis, in requesting approval for his various development projects, has been at odds with the council, but has not caused residents and community leaders to choose sides. Now that is inevitable.

How deeply the community will be polarized cannot yet be estimated. The many supporters of the defeated council candidates appear to be rallying for the ouster of the three men.

Council supporters, who were in the majority at the election, view the investigation as an unnecessary waste of time and money and seem reluctant to expect the councilmen to divest themselves of all money-making ventures for their council salary of $150 per month.

ART BUCHWALD

Very Deep Southern Strategy: The Carswell Senate Boom

WASHINGTON — The Republican Party, through its southern strategy committee, has pulled off one of the most interesting political coups in modern history. They managed to make a practically unknown federal judge the leading candidate to win the senatorial race in Florida this year.

I can now reveal how they did it.

THE REPUBLICANS were very worried about winning a senatorial seat in Florida in 1970. None of their candidates had any glamor or charisma and Florida had been written off to the Democrats.

But then someone in the White House (there is still some confusion as to who it was) remembered that there was a Supreme Court vacancy.

"Why don't we," he suggested, "use the vacancy as a means of building up someone to run for senator from Florida?"

"How?" one of the denser Republican Party officers asked.

"Let's put someone up for the Supreme Court from Florida who couldn't possibly be confirmed. Then after he is turned down, he'll announce he's running for the Senate. By this time he'll have become a household word."

AN OLD-TIME political pro said, "Wait a minute. Suppose we find this guy, put him up for the court, and the Senate confirms him? Then we'll have wasted a lot of time and money."

"Agreed," a southern strategy expert said. "The trick is to find someone for the court that the Senate wouldn't confirm in a million years."

The strategy committee agreed to find someone in Florida that the President could nominate for the court, at the same time one the Senate would turn down. After going over the records of every judge in Florida they finally concluded that federal Judge Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee was their man.

A quick check of the nation's law schools revealed that the majority of the deans were against him, which was encouraging as far as the southern strategy committee was concerned. Judge Carswell would also be opposed by labor, liberal and black groups, a good sing — not only to keep him off the court, but also to be used later in the senatorial campaign.

AT THE NEXT meeting of the southern strategy committee everyone made his report. The White House man said, "The President wants to make it perfectly clear he's willing to go along with this strategy to get a Republican senator from Florida, but he doesn't want it to take too long because he does want a justice on the Supreme Court, and he can't afford to nominate too many straw men."

The committee assured the White House man that Carswell would be defeated in no time and then the President could get on with filling the seat.

But what the southern strategy committee hadn't counted on was how close the Carswell vote would be. Many senators, who were not informed as to what the Republicans really wanted Carswell for, indicated they would vote for him for the court.

This scared the pants off the Republican strategists, as they didn't want to lose Carswell for the Senate election. They also had assured the President, Carswell could never make it for the court, which was the only reason President Nixon had nominated him.

In desperation they called up Bryce Harlow, the White House lobbyist, and said, "Bryce, you've got to help Carswell lose."

REALIZING the implications of what was at stake, Harlow immediately started calling up senators saying Margaret Chase Smith was going to vote for Carswell. He had someone leak to her what he was doing, and predictably she voted against Carswell and saved the day for the southern strategy.

It was one of the smoothest operations Washington ever saw. Now the big question: Can the Republicans defeat Judge Blackmun so he'll get to run against Hubert Humphrey in the Senate race in Minnesota?

$113,250 Worth Of U.S. Bonds Bought

Marinites purchased $113,250 worth of U. S. Savings Bonds during March, William P. Murray Jr., county savings bonds chairman, has announced.

Murray said statewide sales totaled about $30 million during March and this represented about a $1 million increase over the total collected the same month last year.

New Directors Are Elected

The Mariner Cove Improvement Association has elected five board members to two-year terms.

The five are Lawrence Elleson, Richard T. Hollingsworth, Herber C. Leney, Virgil Hammock and William J. Ridyard.

Ridyard, president of the association, said the board would meet May 13 to elect new officers.

The association's annual dinner, which was to have been held in conjunction with the annual meeting Friday, was cancelled because of too few reservations.

Ridyard said the board has discussed the possibility of dropping the dinner each year, but decided to continue it.

Center Action To Be Charted

The Tiburon City Council will decide its next action in opposing Mill Valley's attempt to annex 110 acres of commercial land at the Strawberry Shopping Center area when it meets today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Mill Valley opened another round last week in the four-year feud with Tiburon over the tax-rich parcel when it asked the Marin County Local Agency Formation committee to approve the annexation.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on the Buskirk-Noble general plan for downtown Tiburon. The council declined at its regular meeting last Monday to approve the plan until two new councilmen were seated.

Woman Forger Gets 100 Illegal Pills

A young woman about 21, using a forged prescription from a San Francisco physician, obtained 100 seconal tablets Thursday from the Northgate Drug Co., 290 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael police reported today.

The bogus prescription was made out to a Jean Simpson of 1461 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, on a prescription blank from Dr. Carmelo C. Celestre. Dr. Celestre told police he would report the forgery to San Francisco police.

A Tournament Champion Who Is Willing To Take A Gamble

TV producer Barry Crane didn't win his top spot in the all-time master point ranking by sitting tight. Crane's willingness to go for broke both in the bidding and in the play is illustrated in today's hand, taken from a regional tournament played last month.

WEIRD BIDDING

If the bidding seems weird, it isn't because the tournment was held just across the street from Disneyland; a few tournament players stick to the textbook methods recommended for rubber bridge players. Crane's opening bid was based on the fact that no-trump contracts score more than minor suits. West's overcall of two diamonds was, of course, artificial, promising length in spades and in some other suit. (Don't bother to try this yourself; not even tournment players agree on this kind of artificial bid.)

If West had led the king of hearts, you wouldn't be reading about this hand. But West led a spade, and Crane was sure of the first ten tricks instead of losing the first ten.

NOT SATISFIED

Craine saw how narrowly he had escaped from disaster, but he was not satisfied. He cashed one of the top clubs, noting the fall of the jack, and then ran the six diamonds to see if anybody turned blue in the face.

West discarded two low hearts, then two low spades. His next discard was the jack of spades, made with obvious reluctance. West finally parted with the king of hearts with even more reluctance.

KNEW HAND

Crane knew just what was going on. Even though he was already sure of a good score for 10 tricks at no-trump, Crane led his remaining club, and took a finesse with dummy's nine. This gave him all 13 tricks and a clear top.

Tournament bridge is a very comfortable game as long as you don't look down.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your left, bids one club. Your partner doubles, and the next player bids two clubs.

You hold:
S Q 10 4
H- 10 9 6 3 2
D- 10 9 6 4
C- J

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You have only two points in high cards (don't count anything for the jack of clubs), but you have length in one major suit and help for the other major. This is just about enough for a free response to the take-out double.

Vandal Cuts Power At Police Station

The San Rafael police station lost its communication system for about 30 minutes Saturday after a vandal smashed a Pacific Gas and Electric meter on San Rafael Hill that services the station.

The police used the Marin County Communications Center services at the Civic Center until their power was restored, they reported today. The breakage was discovered at 4:30 a.m.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, April 28, the 118th day of 1970 with 247 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1788 Maryland was admitted to the Union as the seventh state.

In 1945 Fascist leader Benito Mussolini was executed by Italian patriots.

In 1951 the war with Japan officially ended when a peace treaty with the United States and 47 other nations was signed.

In 1969 French President Charles De Gaulle resigned after being defeated in a referendum.

Store Seeking Carnival Permit

An application from the Disco store to operate a carnival in its parking lot at Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive May 20-24 will be before the Larkspur Planning Commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The commission also will consider applications for a zoning change on property at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane, for architectural supervision for a proposed warehouse at 30 Rich Street, for a lot split of property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near El Portal Drive, and for architectural supervision for a bank and office buildings at Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue.

Discussion of parking policies, definition of an enclosed structure, and time limits on approved architectural supervision is also on the agenda.

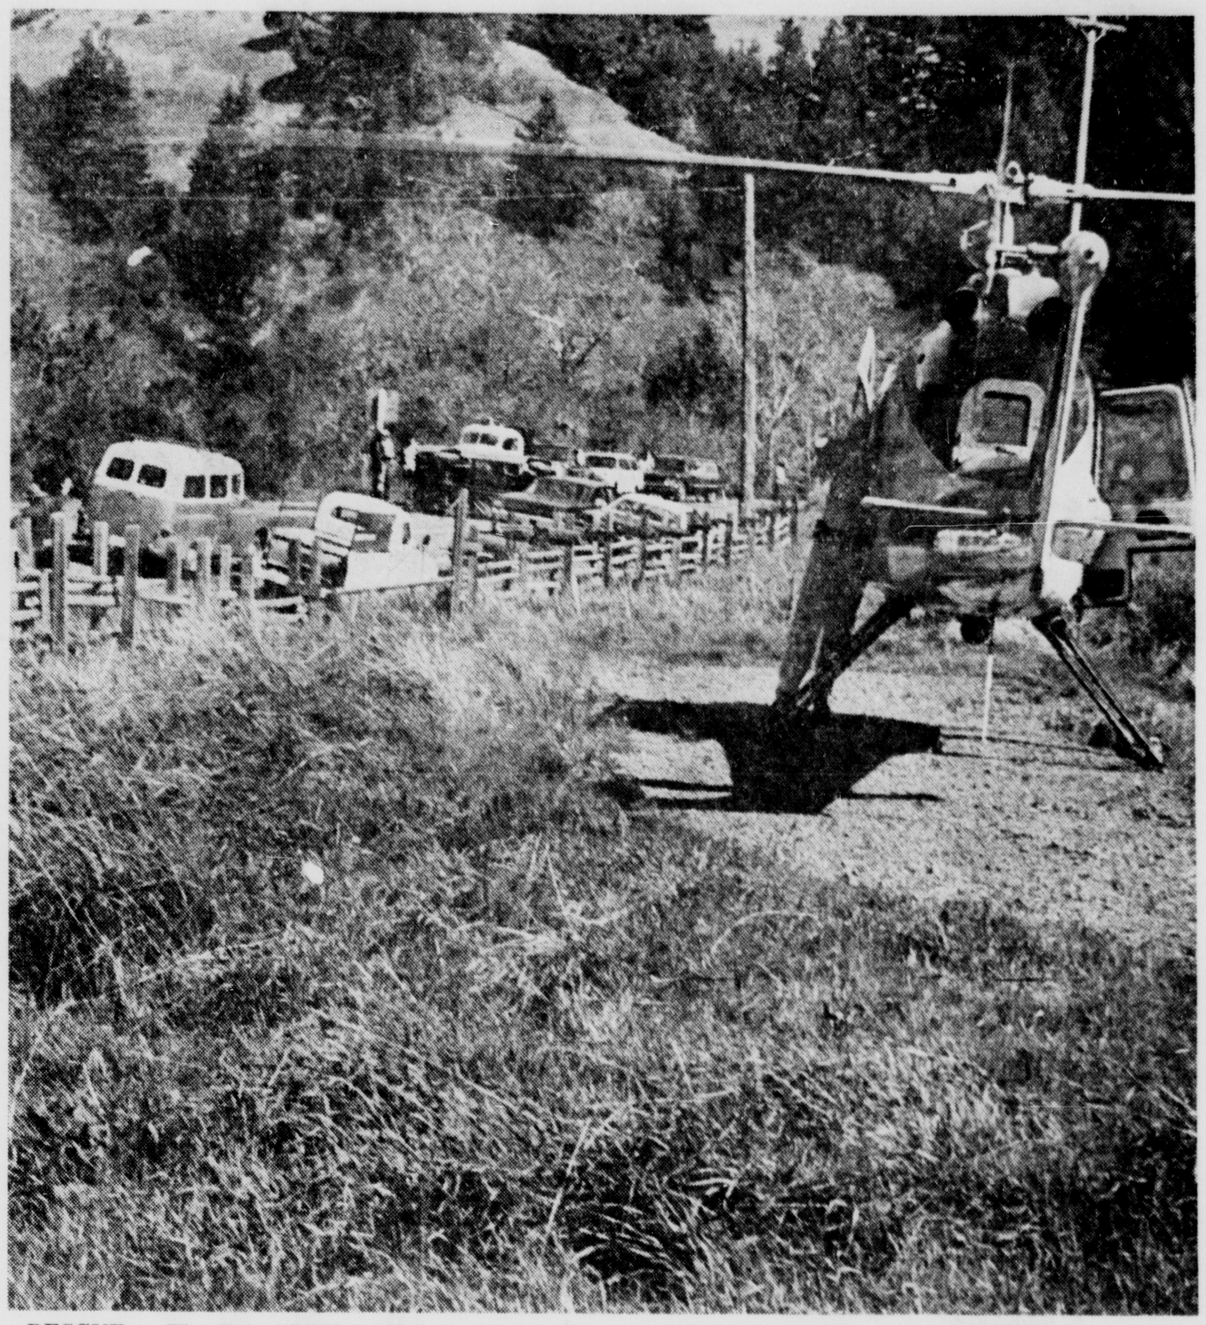
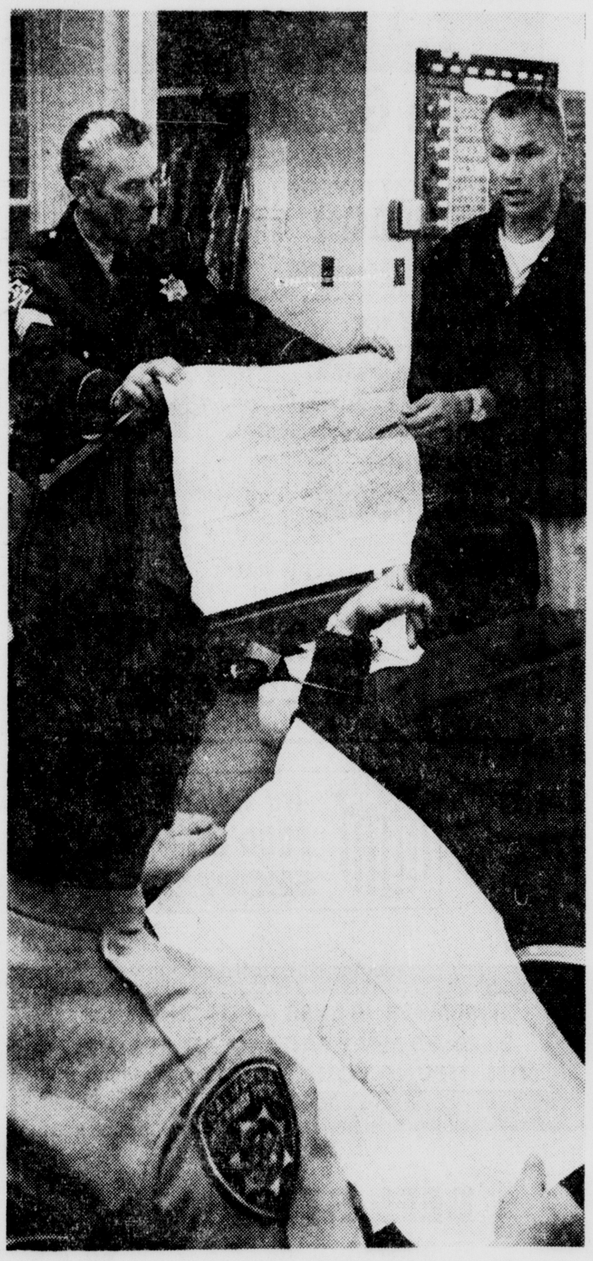
A Copter View Of Traffic

SEARCHING — Patrolman David Hayitt guides a turbo-jet California Highway Patrol helicopter over Highway 101 in San Rafael as observer, Patrolman Joseph Hansen, points out a possible trouble spot. The 130-mile-per-hour chopper is used to observe traffic patterns.



RESCUE — The Fairchild-Hiller helicopter, most effective in remote areas like West Marin, rests in a field after offering assistance to officers in West Marin dealing with the overturned car on the highway. (Photo by John Grant; other photos are Independent-Journal photos by Alfred Arn)



MAP READING — Hayitt shows other patrolmen how to give a map location to him so that all patrolmen will know how to summon the chopper in emergencies. Sgt. James C. Duke holds the map.

A DAY'S WORK — Buzzing over accident scenes like this one at Sir Francis Drake and Highway 1 in Olema to offer assistance is all in a day's work for the speedy helicopter. The patrolman standing next to his car managed the Sunday accident without any help from the helicopter.

SUNDAY RUSH HOUR — The helicopter looks down on a ribbon of cars strung out on Highway 101 at Grant Avenue in Novato. Working with a patrolman on the ground, Hayitt and Hansen and Highway Patrol Captain Dan Lyons cleared the Sunday traffic jam in about 15 minutes.

WHERE TO? — Hayitt and Hansen confer at Novato Airport prior to taking off. The $107,900 vehicle was purchased with federal funds last year to test a jet helicopter's effectiveness.

THE HUNT — Hayitt and Hansen scan West Marin for reference points for future flights in the area. The helicopter can reach any point in the Bay Area in minutes for emergencies.

BIRD FOOD — Hayitt helps Novato Airport employee John Mowatt gas up the whirlybird. It holds four people and two stretchers as well as fuel.

JIM GILMARTIN

An Unusual Athlete, That Bob McLennan

Bob McLennan is hurdler and captain for the University of California track and field squad.

For a guy who has the second best time in Cal lumber skimming history and who is given a chance to win the Pacific-Eigh Conference 440-yard intedmediate hurdles championship, McLennan is an unusual athlete.

Why? Because he pays his own way to Cal! No scholarship, no nothing — a fact that embarrasses Cal's new coach Dave Maggard into apologizing: "Oh, I do take him out to lunch once in a while."

That McLennan didn't receive the almighty athletic free ride to the hallowed halls of Berkeley didn't surprise those who watched him at San Rafael High School four years ago. He finished fifth and eighth in the Marin County Athletic League hurdles races, he recalls, and performances like that did not exactly draw talent scouts rushing to his doorstep.

But, McLennan is one of those rarities so admired in the world of sports. He's one of those guys who makes up for the lack of talent with sheer determination.

'Attacks Hurdles Fiercely'

"He attacks the hurdles fiercely and he just gets stronger and stronger as time goes by," reports one Cal track observer, who adds, "His form is a long way from perfect, but he more than makes up for it with determination."

McLennan admits he is not a model of form, attributing "my less than blinding speed" to his good times "since my form is so bad."

Bob, an impish looking, 21-year-old shaggy haired blond continues to surprise Cal track followers. For example, in a recent meet against a strong Oregon team, he scored a double victory with a 14.2 seconds clocking in the high boards and 51.7 in the intermediates, both his all-tie bests (without the aid of wind) and also both No. 2 ranking in the all-time Cal lists.

Not bad for a young man whose only "free ride" is an occasional lunch from a thankful coach.

McLennan, who is majoring in social and cultural theories of political philosophy, hopes to enter the Harvard law school next semester.

Chances are good that this young man will succeed in anything he undertakes.

Anyone who can do so much with so little has to be listed as a favorite.

You might say McLennan already has cleared a lot of hurdles . . .

Miss Walsh Scores Upset

SHARON WALSH'S performance in the Ojai Valley Tennis Tourney in Ventura County was quite gratifying to the 18-year-old San Rafael High School senior.

Although she lost in the finals of the women's singles, Miss Walsh recorded a big upset in Saturday's semi finals, a 6-4, 6-4 decision over seventh-ranked U.S. women's player Betty Ann Grubb of Santa Monica, the Ojai tourney's defending champ.

ANOTHER MARIN girl who fared well at Ojai was Abbe Wise, lefthanded sophomore at the Katharine Branson School in Ross who reached the semifinals, the best performance of any Marin junior division entrant. She finally lost in the semis to a girl who went on to win the girls' 16 group title.

Miss Wise's teammates from Branson School who performed well at Ojai were Ann Elliott, Cathie Tuttle, Wendy Boyd, Rachel Robb, Ann Welisch, Jessica Brown and Jane-Leslie Morris.

THE SPORTING GENTRY: BOB CUMMING

Competitive Rowing Comes To Marin

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Bob Cumming is retiring from Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. Thursday and instead of a gold watch he would probably be more comfortable with a wooden oar.

Cumming, 65, is an engineer for Pacific T & T and has been with the company for 42½ years. He is also president of the Marin Rowing Association, a new club still in its first year of existence.

Cumming and the other members of the club, with the joint sponsorship of the Greenbrae Sailing Club, are going to let Marin County people see what competitive rowing is all about this Sunday with a series of races in Corte Madera Creek, starting at noon.

There will be two teams from University of California at Berkeley and two from Stanford competing in 1,000-meter races, and a schoolboy team from Redwood High School will be up against a team from the Lake Merritt Rowing Club of Oakland in a 500-meter test. There will also be girls' teams from Lake Merrit's club and some single and double shell events.

Following the rowing, four classes of sailing races will be held on the same course, stretching from opposite Tamalpais Retirement Center in Corte Madera to the finish line on Corte Madera Creek opposite the Greenbrae fire station on South Eliseo Drive. There will be three races in each of four classes — El Toro, Melody, Sunfish and Banshee. The sailing is scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

The rowing events will be in four-oared shells with coxwain. Members of the Redwood team are John Vallee, bowman; Woody Buckner, Mike Sullivan, Steve Barbour and Eric Gray, coxswain.

Cumming, a native of Paisley, Scotland, still carries his Scottish brogue. He keeps active in rowing and says it's a great exercise.

"You can row as hard or as easy as you want," he said. "We started the club for two reasons — for exercise and to do something for the kids, give them a chance to learn rowing."

There are 15 adult members and six boys from Redwood High in the club.

After leaving Scotland in 1919, Cumming lived in British Columbia and then moved on to the United State in 1927. In July of that year he was living in the Bay Area and two months later started his long career with Pacific T & T.

While living in Canada, a friend introduced Cumming to the sport of rowing and when he came to the Bay Area he joined the South En Rowing Club of San Francisco, and was active in that club from 1928 to '35.

Wanting to advance with the Pacific Telephone Co., he went to Healds Engineering School in S. F. from 1932 to '33 and was able to work his way up from his starting job of installer.

Cumming, who now lives in Kentfield, was one of the key men to start the Marin Rowing Club last June. "There were nine of us then and now there are 15," he proudly says.

Working with Cumming for the Sunday free show are A. L. Horstmeyer Jr., vice president of the Marin Rowing Association, and Dennis Beall and Jim Gray, commodore and vice commodore of the Greenbrae Sailing Club.

The 44-foot long shells to be used in Sunday's races have been provided by the Lake Merritt Rowing Club and honorary regatta chairman will be Larkspur Mayor Benton A. Sifford Jr.

N. L. RABBIT BALL

Jansen Says Glue The Cause Of It

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—If the baseball is going farther faster this season, as some pitchers claim, San Francisco Giants pitching coach Larry Jansen thinks he knows the reason.

Jansen, who has been doing some carving with his pocket knife, claims the newest balls have a rubberized glue just under the leather cover and that balls manufactured earlier do not have the glue.

Charles Feeney, in his first season as National League president, replacing Warren Giles, already has denied a dozen times that the ball is any different than it was 30 years ago.

RUBBERIZED

"Last year, we started to get balls with a rubberized glue between the leather cover and the inside wrapping," Jansen said Monday as the Giants were off, awaiting Tuesday night's game in Candlestick Park against the New York Mets.

"If anything is making the ball go farther faster this season, the glue must be it," Jansen says.

The Giants were issued 750 dozen balls at the start of the season, all with Giles' signature stamped on them.

Jansen inspected the balls with Feeney's signature when Giants visited Houston, Cincinnati and Atlanta.

"I've torn open discarded balls and found some Giles balls with the glue and some without," Jansen said. "The Feeney balls I've opened all have it."

At Houston, Jansen pointed out, the Giants hit five homers in their first two games there. All last season, the Giants hit only three homers in the Astrodome.

10 HOMERS

In an Atlanta-Cincinnati game 10 homers were hit.

"These things run in cycles," says Feeney's public relations assistant, Dave Grote. "I might point out that there have been some good pitching performances, such as Wayne Simpson's one-hitter and Tom Seaver's 19 strikeouts.

"Every year, somebody says the ball has been changed to make it livelier. It's not so."

He can't convince Giants' second baseman Ron Hunt, who wears a thigh bruise he swears was made by a lively ball hit by a teammate in batting practice.

When Hunt examined the injury, he joked, "there was Feeney's autograph."

Day At The Movies Works Wonders For Chamberlain

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain spent the day at the movies . . . and the New York Knicks paid for it later.

Chamberlain studied films of last Friday night's loss to New York, then adjusted his style accordingly to lead Los Angeles over the Knicks 105-103 in the National Basketball Association playoffs Monday night.

The title-hungry Lakers thus tied at 1-1 the best-of-7 championship series which resumes in Los Angeles with games three and four Wednesday and Friday nights.

NOT PROUD

"I watched movies of the first game . . . and I wasn't too proud of my performance," said the gimpy-kneed Chamberlain, who let Reed slip by for 37 points as the Knicks grabbed the opener 124-112.

It was different Monday night as Chamberlain turned into an animated horror show for Reed. The king-size Los Angeles center, despite knees ravaged by surgery and chronic arthritis, took down a game-high 24 rebounds, scored 19 points and intimidated Reed.

The play of the game came in the closing seconds when Chamberlain practically jammed a Reed layup down his throat. The shot would have tied the score.

CREDIT

"I have to give Chamberlain credit," said Reed. "He did a heck of a job rehabilitating himself after that operation on his knees earlier this year.

"I play with bad knees and I know what he's going through to play. It's a double effort to do it on those knees."

Chamberlain missed 70 games of the regular season after knee surgery, and admits the operation and the years are beginning to take their toll.

"I'm sure not the Wilt of old," the muscular, goateed giant said, "but it doesn't matter if the team plays as well together as we did tonight. "Some people expect the miracle job because my name is Chamberlain. But Reed has always been tough for me to handle.

"I just try to do my best, take the shot that I have most confidence in. We won tonight because the team did the defensive job."

Coach Joe Mullaney of Los Angeles admitted he needed a quick change of script after Friday night's loss.

What was the difference, coach?

"Well, first it helps not getting so far behind," said Mullaney, alluding to New York's 20-point first have advantage that had Los Angeles playing catchup most of the night Friday. "Both Wilt and Jerry (West) said they were tired after running after the Knicks Friday night.

"Tonight, I told Wilt to go to the basket more. You can stop the Knicks' fast break by putting the ball in the hole. And we also played a little defense."

While Reed scored 29 points, he had a poor 12-for-29 shooting mark from the field. This was mostly attributed to Chamberlain's imposing figuree, a windmill in purple and gold shorts.

One Reggie Flies High, Other Still On Ground

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Reggie is flying high. Oakland's Reggie can't get off the ground.

Reggie Smith had a perfect day Monday lifting the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Oakland Athletics with an eighth-inning home run.

Reggie Jackson of the A's, who blasted 47 homers last year and hit .275, went hitless in three trips to the plate.

DOBSON VS. LEE

Going into tonights game, with Chuck Dobson, 1-3, scheduled to pitch against Boston's Bill Lee (of Terra Linda), 0-1, Jackson had eight hits—three of them homers—in 57 times at bat for a .140 average.

Jackson, at his request, was moved up to No. 3 in the batting order from No. 7.

Oakland Manager John McNamara had moved Jackson down to No. 7, figuring he would get more good pitches to hit.

The pitchers seem to want to avoid throwing strikes to Jackson no matter where he hits.

In last weekend's series at Yankee Stadium, New York pitchers walked Jackson five out of the eight times they faced him.

Against Red Sox winner Vicente Romo Jackson flied out deep to center, struck out swinging with two men on base, and grounded out.

Smith, meanwhile, tripled and singled twice before hitting his game-winning homer off loser Jim Hunter, 3-2.

Smith's triple and Hunter's wild pitch gave the Red Sox a 1-0 first inning lead. They made it 2-0 in the third on a walk and singles by Smith and Carl Yastrzemski.

Frank Fernandez of the A's hit his first homer of the season, a solo blast into the left field screen, in the fourth. Don Mincher tied it for the A's at 2-2 in the sixth with his sixth homer, a solo shot inside the right field foul pole.

DOUBLES

Doubles by George Scott and Rico Petrocelli put Boston back on top 3-2 in the seventh, but Rick Monday's solo homer, his second of the year, tied it again in the eighth.

Mincher's shot would have been a two-run homer but for a fine play by Yastrzemski in left field. Sal Bando singled off the wall but was cut down trying to stretch it into a double when Yaz barehanded the ball and fired a strike to second. Mincher then followed with his blast.

UMPIRES OR USHERS FOR A'S, RED SOX

BOSTON (AP) — Ed Runge's American League umpiring crew ran into unexpected problems yesterday before the start of the Oakland A's-Boston Red Sox game.

Bill Kunkel, a member of the crew, was stricken ill shortly before the game, leaving Runge, Bill Haller and Jim Odom to work as a threesome.

The crew's equipment also was lost, at least temporarily, in shipment from Kansas City. Runge, Haller and Odom donned Fenway Park usher's uniforms and Red Sox caps for the game.

Six-Run First Inning Does Job For Cal's

Cal's Steak House scored six runs in the first inning and went on to defeat Mike's Bar and Grill, 11-5 last night in the San Rafael adult softball league.

In other games, Round Table Pizza downed Native Sons, 8-3, and the Harding Gophers won by forfeit over the San Rafael Jaycees.

FISH AND GAME

Some Timely Advice On Fishing Sierra

By AL GIDDINGS

I have received some calls about fishing the Sierra where one has a chance for larger trout in some of the mountain lakes. People ask if the baits and gear are the same? What about trolling and fly fishing?

First of all, one has to get to some of these mountain lakes. It's a good idea to check with the Department of Fish and Game in Sacramento or with the Forestry Service before trying to reach lakes with altitudes over 5,000 or 6,000 feet. Many of the roads are snowed-in, and in many cases the lakes are frozen over. Some of the higher altitude lakes are not fishable until July.

But let's say we have successfully reached a Sierra lake. A light cartop boat can certainly be a big help. Trolling is usually a pretty sure way of getting fish. I usually start by trolling streamer flies, fairly large, tied on a number six or eight hook. If you use a fly rod with a sinking fly line, no sinker is usually needed. If you use light monofilament line, a small sinker can be added for better depth.

Small, quiet motors, certainly no larger then 10 horsepower, are best. Slow speeds are also best, so your motor should be finely tuned before leaving home.

IF FLIES don't work, try lures such as a Wobblerite, abalone killers or small Dardevle. If there are big fish in the lake, trolling with flat fish or the new Rapala or Rebel is the most effective. If you have the boat but no motor, rowing a calm lake is fairly easy.

It is also possible to just drift and cast these different lures. If the lake isn't too deep, anchoring (use two anchors, front and stern) to keep the boat still can be great if you can find the baits the fish are hitting. Good baits? I like roe or large nite crawlers, but people catch fish on cheese, liver, worms, salmon eggs and even marshmellows. The new Potsky eggs have been killers, but they are expensive.

Remember, too, that the Sierra lakes can be very clear, making light leaders essential. I remember going to French Lake above Truckee where the fish would only take a single egg with a number 12 gold short-shanked hook hidden in the egg, and only tied to a one half pound test tippet. No one else in the lake caught a fish, though the fish could be seen all along the shoreline. We had to tie a new set-up after every fish or so. And having a small landing net is most essential under these conditions.

I guess I've left out the most sure-fire trolling method. Using attractor blades with a worm or a grub, or even a lure or a fly trailing can be deadly, but it's not my choice as the most sporting method. But lots of people do it this way, especially in the midsummer when the fish are deep.

EVERY ONCE in a while you may be on a lake when there is an ant or a bug hatch or some type going on. When this happens, get your fly rod out, using a tapered floating fly line, a nine foot tapered leader and a fly that resembles the bugs hatching or flying around you. This can be the ultimate in fishing.

I remember an ant hatch on Webber Lake some years back. It was a ball with fish rising all over the place. They hit like a bomb, and being mouth hooked were able to give exceptional fights. Sure, lots are lost, and it's easy to release a hooked fish, all of which makes the sport what it is!

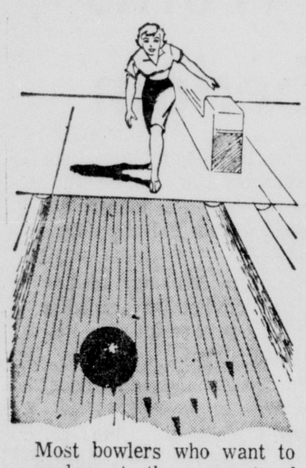
Casting out the fly, watching it sit and drift on the surface; then having a fish take it completely out of the water, and having you either hit or miss the set will keep you alive.

Bob Wise, the old Webber Lake pro, says, "Cast to the rise. The fish, after taking a bug, always looks back to see what he missed. And if your fly hits the spot, you'll have a fish on!"

Now you can't beat that advice.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Most bowlers who want to complement the amount of hook they develop choose a spot over which the ball should be rolled. This is generally the second spot from the right (see illustration). This type of bowler depends on a consistent pocket hit, or at least comes as close as can be expected. But remember not to look at the pin until your ball has rolled over the selected spot.

MARIN HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS NOTES

North-South Ball Game Set June 18

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Gary Hughes, baseball coach at Marin Catholic High School has announced the selection of coaches for the first annual North-South Marin County Athletic League game, to be played the evening of June 18 at Albert Park.

Heading the North team, which will be composed of players from San Rafael, Terra Linda, Novato and San Marin, will be San Rafael's Jack Sims.

Al Endriss of Redwood will coach the South, whose players will come from Tamalpais, Redwood, Drake and Marin Catholic.

Hughes, who says he got the idea for such a game a few years ago, brought the affair into reality this year when he found a worthy sponsor, the San Rafael Knights of Columbus.

All proceeds from the game will go to set up a scholarship for needy students in Marin County, Hughes said.

QUESTION: WHO'S the best knuckleball pitcher in the MCAL? Answer: Jerry Warburg, Redwood's junior varsity star who has won six games and lost none while leading the Giants to first place with a league record of 5 and 0.

Warburg, who has allowed seven earned runs in 40 innings (Redwood has played 13 games overall), struck out 43 and walked only 5, could never claim that his teammates don't support him. They've scored 50 runs in league games so far against only 15 for the opposition. Third baseman Jamie Williams is the team's leading hitter with a .451 average.

THIS YEAR'S award for the "Athlete Who's So Much Better Than Everyone Else That It's Silly" goes to Novato diver John Summerfield. His coach, Harland Bartholomew, puts it succinctly: "Wherever he dives people just stand around and stare at him. They've never seen anything like him before."

Neither, to be sure, has the MCAL. Only a sophomore, Summerfield is rated as having a good chance to take all the marbles in the upcoming North Coast Sectional meets. As for the MCAL meet this Saturday, Summerfield is to the rest of the league's divers as the Lions were to the Christians.

SPEAKING OF favorites, Tamalpais' doubles team of Andy Moffat and Terry Moor are, according to coach George Gustafson, a good bet to make it to the finals in the NCS tournament May 9 at Cal State in Hayward. They took Jerry Suyderhoud and Andy Giddings of Drake, 6-1, 6-0 Saturday to gain the right to represent the MCAL in post season action.

The league's singles entry will be either Suyderhoud or Redwood's Bob Knight, who were to square off this afternoon when the schools met at Drake.

WHEN THE Tam and Terra Linda swimming teams collide this afternoon at Terra Linda, the MCAL championship will be on the line, but in the B class it's all over. Terra Linda, led by Rick Lund and Casey Flaherty, has a perfect 13 and 0 record, while every other team in the league has lost at least twice.

Cubs' Joe Decker A Slow Starter

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Decker, a former pitching star at Petaluma High School, is a slow starter, but luckily for the Chicago Cubs Hank Aguirre and Phil Regan are fast finishers.

That triumvirate teamed up Monday night to pitch the Cubs to their 11th consecutive victory, a 1-0 squeaker over Pittsburgh. The last time the Cubs won 11 in a row was 1945, which just happens to be the last time they won the National League pennant.

FOURTH STARTER

Somehow (translation: New York Mets) the Cubs didn't win in 1969. And one of the reasons was their overworked pitching staff. But if Monday night's game is any indication, Manager Leo Durocher has finally found his long-sought fourth starter.

His name is Joe Decker. Well, actually, his name is George Henry Decker, but as far back as he can remember—he'll be 23 on June 16—everyone's called him Joe, or Joey, and he doesn't know why.

And the Cubs don't much care, by George. Not after the way the 6-foot, 175-pound righthander throttled the Pirates on six hits for 8 1-3 innings.

TRIPLE

Decker left after Roberto Clemente's one-out triple in the ninth. Aguirre walked Bob Robertson, but Clemente was nailed in a rundown when Al Oliver tapped back to the mound. Regan then came on and got Jerry May to bounce into a game-ending force play.

Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 4-3 in the only other NL action. Montreal's scheduled game at San Diego was rained out.

In the American League, it was Cleveland 5, Minnesota 1; Boston 4, Oakland 3 and Washington 6, Milwaukee 5 in 10 innings.

SIXTH YEAR

Decker, who beat the Mets on the final day last season for his only other major league decision, is in his sixth year as a pro. But his development was slowed in 1966-67-68 when he attended Arizona State University and didn't play baseball until June.

"By the time I was ready to pitch," he recalled, "the season was half over. What complicated things even more was the fact that I'm a slow starter."

Decker got in shape for baseball this season by serving a five-month hitch with the Arizona National Guard. He didn't get to the Cubs' camp until mid-March.

"Our hours in the Army were supposed to be from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. and then we were supposed to be on our own," he said. "But it never works that way. They'll find something for you to do—guard duty, raking detail or some other special duty.

NO THROWING

"I didn't throw a baseball while I was in service. The only thing I managed a few times was to do some running in my combat boots."

He threw enough baseballs Monday night to impress Pittsburgh skipper Danny Murtaugh.

"I liked him, I liked him," Murtaugh said. "He's got a fine arm, and also a good knowledge of the hitters. He couldn't make that many good pitches by accident."

The Cubs' run was unearned and came with two out in the third inning when Glenn Beckert tripled off Steve Blass and scored when catcher Manny Sanguillen let the relay get by him for an error.

FIVE GAMES

The Phillies ran their winning streak to five games thanks to the potent bat of Rick Wise, a good hitting pitcher. Wise singled to start a two-run rally in the third, with Don Money and Johnny Briggs singling home the runs.

In the fourth, after Larry Hisle alertly scored from third on a pop foul to the third baseman, Wise singled across what proved to be the winning run

Joe Hoerner came on in the seventh to nail down the victory after the Dodgers scored twice in the fourth on Willie Crawford's double and added an unearned run in the sixth.

The 20-year-old Haywood was the overwhelming choice, receiving 17 first place votes from the 20 sports writers voting. The ABA commissioned the U. S. Basketball Writers Association to make the selection.

Roger Brown of Indiana received two first place votes and Mel Daniels of Indiana, last year's MVP, received one. However, Rick Barry of Washington was second in the overall voting.

Haywood received 97 points of a possible 100, and Barry had 48 points. Daniels, Brown and Bob Verga of Carolina were next in the voting.

KENTUCKY DERBY

No Clear-Cut Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs is set to take a double-barreled shot at a goal that eluded his late, and famous, father, Hirsch—win a Kentucky Derby.

But John makes it clear that should either Personality or High Echelon win Saturday's 96th running of America's most famous horse race, the credit belongs to his father who bred both colts.

WIDE OPEN

"It will be without question a win for him," said John Tuesday morning while observing his two charges, both owned by his mother, at Churchill Downs.

Should the victory come — Hirsch Jacobs missed in seven tries—it will be accomplished in the most wide-open Derby in many years.

Without a solid favorite coming out of the series of Derby preps, a field of 18 to 20 3-year-olds is saping up for the $125,000-added, 1¼-mile classic.

At least four starters were expected to come from today's one-mile Derby Trial in which 11 were entered including High Echelon; California Derby winner George Lewis, Gotham winner Native Royality, Supreme Quality and Admiral's Shield.

High Echelon, considered the lesser half of the Jacobs threat, definitely will run in the Derby, barring injury, Jacobs said.

GOOD CHANCE

Besides Personality, the winner of the Wood Memorial, others given good chances of winning include Raymond Curtis' My Dad George, the probable early favorite after consecutive victories in the Flamingo, Florida Derby and Stepping Stone; Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen, the 1969 juvenile champion, and Samuel J. Agnew's Terlago, winner of the Santa Anita Derby.

Also drawing interest is Robert Lehmanns' Dust Commander, upset victory in the Blue Grass Stakes, a race that has produced seven Derby purse winners in the last 11 years.

But if bloodlines were the sole basis for winning a Derby then it is easy to understand John Jacobs' enthusiasm over Personality's chances Saturday.

"To him (Hirsch Jacobs) this one is the epitome of breeding," John said. "He felt now he had reached the peak. He said he felt this should be a classic horse."

Personality is by Hail To Reason, a champion race horse and sire, out of the champion mare, Affectionately.

Hail To Reason, a winner of nine races as a 2-year-old, the only year he raced, has sired many stakes winners including Proud Clarion, winner of the 1967 Derby.

Affectionately, by Swaps, winner of the 1955 Derby and sire of 1963 winner Chateaugay, won numerous stakes during a lengthy racing career.

Two Derby hopefuls worked out Monday. Native Royality went three-eighths of a mile in 34 seconds and out a half in 46. Mrs. J. Simpson Dean Jr.'s Holy Land moved a mile in 1:39 2-5 and galloped out another eighth in 1:53.

In other Derby developments, Silent Screen, My Dad George and Charles Windle's Cassie Red were walked, Her-Jac Stable's Naskra was shod and Kuhn's and Hickey's Robin's Bug, winner of the Survivor Stakes at Pimlico last Saturday, arrived at the Downs.

Soccer In Denver

Buy Plough For Sound Growth Stock

By Roger E. Spear

Q. For retirement we are building a portfolio committed primarily to growth stocks. Can you suggest a suitable purchase at this time? — A.F.

A. Plough, Inc., which produces cosmetics, medicines and household products and operates a radio network, appears to fit your objectives. Well-managed with an excellent trade position, PLO has exhibited a genius for stable growth over an extended period. Profits increased at a compounded annual rate of approximately 15 per cent over 1957-1969. Moreover, this medium-sized (1969 sales of only $134 million) producer has achieved this healthy growth at a seemingly effortless pace.

The company has no long-term debt and less than seven million common shares outstanding. Net sales for 1969 improved 10 per cent while per-share profit, assuming conversion of outstanding preferred stock and after deduction of federal surtaxes, was $2 compared with $1.85 in 1968. Continued gains are expected in 1970.

In short, Plough is an attractive commitment for long-haul purposes.

Q. I bought Research-Cottrell at a higher price than it is now. Should I hold or sell at current levels? — L. K.

A. Research Cottrell reported a 47 per cent advance in sales for the first quarter ended January 1970. Net income rose 7 per cent but, because of a greater number of shares outstanding, per-share results were flat year-to-year at 12 cents. Under current market conditions, high-multiple glamor stocks, such as RC, are extremely vulnerable to profit taking.

Loss For Western

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Western Airlines reported a loss of $2 million for the first quarter on revenues of $67.8 million compared with $2.8 million loss a year ago on revenues of $58.8 million.

Another Bad Session For Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market suffered another sharp decline today, with the Dow Jones average plummeting once again to a new six-year low. Trading was active.

Earlier in the day, the market jumped a notch, and at one point the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up almost two points.

Analysts attributed this short-lived flurry to a half-percentage point cut in the prime interest rate by a small California Bank. Larger banks did not follow suit, however.

Declining issues led advances by about 2 to 1. Earlier, advances had been ahead by a small margin.

Analysts blamed the collapse on continued investor skepticism, noting that volume during the rally attempt was moderate.

The government's report that its index of leading economic indicators dipped in March after a gain in February also contributed to the market's weakness, analysts said. These indicators tend to foreshadow broad movements in the economy.

On the American Stock Exchange, the volume leader was Milgo Electronic, off ½ to 26½. Other Amex prices included Saxon Industries, off 4⅝ to 57⅞; Asamera Oil, off ¼ to 10; Tyco Laboratories, off ½ to 8¾; Digital Equipment, up ⅝ to 81¼; and Solitron, down 1⅞ to 23⅛.

San Rafael's Baronial Cake Box To Become Viking Pastry

Veteran Marin baker Fred Kittler and his wife Jenny, who have owned and operated the Baronial Cake Box at 1007 C Street, San Rafael, for almost 23 years, have sold out and are retiring.

They have sold to Erick and Mailis Sundell, newly moved to Terra Linda from San Francisco where they recently disposed of their interest in the Scandia Pastry Shop on Powell Street. For several years Sundell was manager of a Woolworth bakery on Market Street and it was here he became acquainted with Kittler. The Sundells were originally from Sweden and they also had their own bakery there.

They were to take over Baronial today but are closing for a brief remodeling period, hoping to reopen shortly after the first of the month. New name will be Viking Pastry and it will be a Swedish-type bakery, specializing in pastries, but will continue with the baking of bread.

The Kittlers, for many years residents of Forest Knolls, are now living in San Anselmo.

NOVATO DRUG STORE OWNER Larry Dean who has operated Dean's Rexall Drug Store at 1205 Grant Avenue for the past 22 years, is also going out of business.

He is selling out all fixtures and stock, but expects to be there until about June 1 before closing the doors. Until then he will keep the prescription department going.

Plans are to continue living in Marin but to take a long vacation - on doctor's orders.

Brown Dahl

DOUGLAS W. BROWN of Belvedere has been named manager of Crocker-Citizens National Bank's Valencia-Mission office in San Francisco. He joined the bank in 1961 following several years of banking and business experience and has served as assistant manager at Healdsburg, Santa Rosa, Belvedere and recently at the Van Ness-California office in San Francisco.

OTTAR M. DAHL of Tiburon has retired as "dean" of Toyota Motor U.S.A. employees. William Moyn of San Rafael succeeds him as San Francisco regional manager. He was previously assistant regional manager.

GOLDEN WEST SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, into which Tamalpais Savings and Loan was recently merged, has appointed Corte Madera real estate broker Lee R. Ceccotti and Lt. Col. Herber C. Leney (Ret.), also of Corte Madera, to its regional advisory board for Marin and Sonoma counties. Both were previously affiliated with Tamalpais Savings.

Roger Pearson of Petaluma and John Anton of Kentfield are directors of Golden West. Pearson is also a vice president of the association and Anton will be elected a director of the parent company, Golden West Financial Corp., at the annual meeting this month.

MOTORCRAFT: Novato Chevrolet dealer Ted Schuman and his entire sales staff attended a recent color film showing at the General Motors training center in Oakland featuring Chevrolet's new entry into the mini-car field to be introduced in August. Known now simply as the XT-887, it is said to embody a new concept in design, manufacture and assembly . . .

John J. Barrie Jr. of Kentfield, president of Paragon Western Lease, was part of a negotiations team in the acquisition by the parent company, Paragon National Corp. of New York, of St. Claire Leasing Corp. and St. Claire Finance Corp. of Santa Clara. New name of the firm is Paragon - St. Claire.

STEVE LIGGETT BEAUTY SUPPLIES, San Rafael, will celebrate its eighth anniversary next Monday night with a hair style show at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Your Feet Hurt? It's Nothing Compared To Old Chinese Rite

So you think your feet hurt? In old China, when a girl was only 4 or 5 years old, her feet were bandaged so tightly the child was barely able to endure the pain. The big toe was free but the other toes were folded under the sole.

Each morning and night the bandages were removed and reapplied more tightly.

In time, the poor toes were bent to such an extent that they almost reached the heels. The goal was to narrow the space between the heel and the ball of the foot so that not even a coin could be inserted without force.

IT WAS TORTURE and explains the Chinese saying "each pair of bandaged feet means a bathful of tears." The feet were so severly mutilated that the victim did most of her work on the knees. The ancient practice was finally abolished in 1912 when the Chinese Republic was established.

Most women pay more attention to their hands than their feet, and as a result, foot pain is a common complaint among the fairer sex. They may suffer in silence for a long time before seeking medical advice.

SENSIBLE SHOES may not be stylish, but they prevent plantar warts, ingrowing toenails, bunions, fallen arches, and arthritis.

More and more parents are determined that their children will not grow up with foot problems.

Shoe size and the feet should be inspected periodically, but it is more important to check the spine and posture. When the spine has a curve in the wrong place, the weight of the body shifts and creates pressure points where there should not be pressure.

EXERCISES FOR THE FEET and correct posture are important, especially in children. Walking properly deserves more attention than it receives. (Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on exercises for posture.) Proper fitting, comfortable shoes also are a must. And don't forget—as the child grows, so do his feet.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

VARICOSE VEIN THERAPY

Mrs. P.V.D. writes: I've seen three doctors and each one has suggested a different treatment for my varicose veins. Our family doctor recommends injections; the second physician said ligation was the answer; the third decided complete stripping was the only solution. Please advise.

REPLY

Stripping eliminates the vein entirely; the other two methods block the passageway via clot formation (injections) or tying off the vein (ligation). Cure probably will be obtained with any one of these procedures, but stripping is the most modern form of therapy of varicose veins.

GAS-FORMERS

C.A.R. writes: I am anxious to ascertain what foods are most likely to produce gas. Can you help?

REPLY

Among the most common gas-forming foods are cabbage, onions, raw apples, coffee, beans, and fried and greasy foods. There are many more, however, as shown in our leaflet. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

DURATION OF 'CHANGE'

B.E. writes: If the menopause starts at 50, at what age will it be completed?

At 50, chances are that the change will last about a year. Menopause means cessation of menstruation. In some women the menses stop suddenly; in others, there is a gradual reduction of the flow. The presence or absence of hot flashes is not a determining factor.

Larkspur Man's Condition Fair

A 21-year-old Larkspur man was listed in fair condition in Marin General Hospital with a fractured skull today after the car in which he was riding overturned just before midnight.

James Vandale of 81 Elm Street was a passenger in a car driven by James E. McKenna, 20, of 216 Ridgewood Avenue, Kentfield.

The California Highway Patrol said McKenna was northbound on Bon Air Road about 11:30 p.m. when the car ran off the roadway and overturned. McKenna was treated for body bruises.

Two Admit To Charges From Marijuana Raid

Two persons arrested in a narcotics raid on a San Anselmo home in November 1968, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to drug charges.

Jeffrey Lynn Evans, 21, of San Anselmo, admitted that he had possessed marijuana for sale on Oct. 1, 1968 and that he had been in a place where narcotics were used on Nov. 10, 1968. He had earlier been charged with a sale of marijuana and possessing pot.

A woman arrested with him, Carolyn Lucille Emmons, 22, pleaded guilty to pot possession.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for both for June 15.

They were arrested at their Redwood Road home, where agents said they found about eight pounds of marijuana.

In Greek mythology, a three-headed dog, Cerberus, guarded the entrance to Hades.

Loud Noises Related In Marinite's Murder Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Nob Hill tenant living directly across the courtyard from Elsie Nyhan has testified she heard loud noises, a woman's voice and saw an unidentifiable man's face in Mrs. Nyhan's apartment at the murder trial of the 72-year-old widow and her son, Daniel.

Eve Porter testified yesterday she could not see the man's face because it was down obscured by portions of the window.

Mrs. Nyhan and her 43-year-old son, a Tiburon resident, are charged with beating to death a friend of Mrs. Nyhan, Mrs. Genevieve Donal, 61, of San Francisco in a Nob Hill apartment in October 1968.

Several other witnesses, including nearby tenants, also testified yesterday.

An earlier witness, Police Officer Richard Duane, testified that the slain woman's body was blocking the door when he arrived at the apartment.

He identified photos showing bruises on the victim's body, a blackened right eye and blood streaming from her mouth.

Both Mrs. Nyhan and her son have pleaded innocent.

Arthritis and rheumatism rank second only to heart ailments among chronic ailments disabling Americans.

It's tough for a youngster to "come back some other time" for payment. As a young businessman, your I-J carrier boy is trying to do a job for you, rain or shine, on time. He really appreciates your paying him the first time he calls to collect. Keep it up, won't you?

TV REVIEW

Reflections On Filming 'Casablanca'

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There are those of us who never can turn off television reruns of the classic 1943 Oscar-winning movie "Casablanca" starring Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman.

What a wonderfully crafted movie it seems, this film that touched the heartstrings of a generation. And how amazing it was, therefore, to hear Miss Bergman, on ABC-TV's Dick Cavett show the other night, tell of the difficulties in making it.

Cavett asked Miss Bergman whether she had a happy memory of the film, and she replied: "Quite a difficult memory because I cannot tell you what confusion there was on that picture. Nobody knew what we were going to do, and I was sure that this picture was going to be the worst picture in the world . . .I wasn't forced to do it, but I was a little worried because they said we had no script."

APPEALED TO HER

She said, however, that the producer to whom she was under contract, David O. Selznick, persuaded her to do "Casablanc." Among other things, he told her she would be beautifully dressed and the most beautiful woman in Casablanca -- and this appealed to her because she felt she had not had enough such glamorous roles.

"So," she recalled, "I said: "Well, the thought is very nice, but I must have something to say, and there isn't a word of dialogue' " But there was Bogart, and, she told Cavett: "Who could resist him? So I came very happy onto the set and was given the first dialogue, and it was written and changed and added to the whole time . . .

"I had certain love scenes to play — you remember I had Paul Henreid; he played my husband whom I thought was dead and then came back." And there was her other love, Bogart. "And I said: 'Well now, I don't know — which one of these two men do I stay with at the end, and who am I really in love with?' And they said: 'Well, you play in between because we haven't made up our minds yet' . . .

"VERY DIFFICULT"

"So it was very difficult . . .if you don't know if you should just pretend that you love this man and if you should play it kind of cool, or should you have certain glances of boredom . . .

"We came to the very end, and you remember the shot with the airplane, and Paul Henreid is flying off, and there I came, and I don't want to leave Humphrey Bogart, and there he stands with Claude Rains, I remember the scene so well, and I said: 'Now, well really, you have to make up your mind.'

"So they said: 'Well, we still haven't made up our minds, so we will shoot it both ways.' So fine. Now I do the first scene saying goodbye to Humphrey and I go into the plan, and I look at him, and we fly off, and Humphrey walked away into the clouds, and they said: 'Print it — that's the end. We don't have to do the other version.' But they didn't know it until they shot it . . . They decided that was a beautiful shot and who would want the other end now that we think of it?

"That is absolutely the perfect end."

Said Cavett: "It's a wonderful lesson in how to make a successful movie."

Police Issue Warning On Fast-Talking Con Artist

San Rafael Police warned businessmen and residents today that a slick-fingered, fast-talking con artist specializing in money changing is operating in Marin County.

Officers said the man described as cleancut and in his early 20s, has cheated two San Rafael businesses out of $10 each on the pretense of changing small denomination bills for larger ones.

Crocker-Citizens Bank told police Friday the man handed a teller a fistful of dollar bills and asked for a $10 bill in exchange.

The teller counted only nine singles and asked for another as she handed him the $10 bill.

The swindler instead produced $11 dollars and asked for a $20 bill instead. In the shuffle of money accompanied by a line of chatter from the thief, the teller handed him the $20 bill, counted out the original $9 he had given her and the additional $11.

Not until the culprit had left did the teller realize the man had not returned the $10 bill she had given him at the start of the transaction.

An identical incident occurred later that day at the Children's Shoe World at Northgate Shopping Center. And a watchful teller foiled a third attempt at the Commonwealth Bank in San Rafael.

Teen-Ager Ordered To Medical Facility

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Craig Burns Champie, 19, formerly of San Anselmo and now living in Santa Rosa, to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day evaluation period before sentencing.

Noting the youth's long arrest-record, the judge asked for additional information about Champie, who has been convicted of stealing a motorcycle and possessing marijuana.

Warrant Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $5,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Harry Elmer Chapman, 43, of Mill Valley, when he failed to appear for a jury trial on charges of possessing methamphetamine and a hypodermic needle as well as reckless driving.

Car Stolen

A white 1961 Volkswagon sedan with license DOD111 owned by Bert E. Calvin of 214 Bayview Street and parked at the Union Station, 929 Del Presidio Boulevard, was stolen late Friday or early Saturday, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Vandals Smash Flat's Window

A rock or metal object, which police said was probably fired from a slingshot, caused $35 damage Saturday to the front window of an apartment rented by Andrew Turrini of 4 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, police said yesterday.

Officers said Turrini told them he saw two persons running from the apartment building after the 8 p.m. incident, but he could not identify them.

Police said the apartment house owner, Rose Cohn, told them she had received a threatening phone call 10 days ago from a man who warned her to stop subscribing to the Independent-Journal.

LBJ Interview Claimed Censored

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Columbia Broadcasting System interview with former President Lyndon B. Johnson deletes, at Johnson's request, a comment questioning the Warren Commission's theory that a single assassin killed President John F. Kennedy, the Washington Post reported today.

The Post said the deletion, made in the final scheduled segment of an interivew with the former president, was requested by Johnson on grounds of national security. The telecast is to be aired Saturday night.

In New York, CBS declined comment on the Post report.

Subdivision Permits Asked

Applications for three small subdivisions and a use permit request for a drug rehabilitation center will be among the items considered today at 7:30 p.m. by the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The subdivisions include four lots on Irwin Street owned by Harry Diner, three lots at 2031 Francisco Boulevard owned by Lee Ceccotti, and two lots located between Greenfield and Terrace avenues owned by Margaret Chapman and Albert and Mary Sarlad.

The day care center for drug rehabilitation hopes to establish its program at the 805 D Street residence of May N. Long.

Novato District Bill Advances In Assembly

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation aimed at helping the City of Novato absorb the Novato Sanitary District was approved Thursday by the Assembly's Local Government Committee.

The Bill, introduced last month by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would change from 80 to 70 per cent the area of taxable or assessable district land which must be within city boundaries to permit absorption of the district by the city.

Speaking in favor of the amendment at Thursday's hearing were George A. Barnwell, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, and J. Wayne Womack, Novato councilman.

The bill now passes to the Assembly floor.

Three Injured, Driver Is Cited After Accident

Three persons were injured and a driver cited for running a red light Sunday following a two-car collision at Fourth and Hetherton streets, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

A car driven by Donna Y. Gould, 34, of 23 Acacia Avenue, Belvedere, failed to stop for a red light at 12:47 p.m. and struck a car driven by Norman Lester Shepley, 54, of 400 Canal Street, police said.

Mrs. Gould and her daughter, Pamela, 3, were treated for facial cuts at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, police said.

Shepley's wife, Alice, 57, was treated at Marin General Hospital after complaining of pain in her left shoulder, the hospital reported.

Appeal Set On New Store Front

An appeal of the Fairfax Design Review board's rejection of a proposed new store front for Fairfax Hardware, 1824 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, will be considered Thursday at 8 p.m. by the Fairfax Planning Commission.

The design review board ruled April 9 that the store front would be used as a sign and would violate a proposed city sign ordinance.

The commission will also consider a request for a conditional use permit from Kermit Sheets to use his home at 78 Wreden Avenue as a two-unit dwelling. The building is zoned single family residential.

Discussion of the proposed sign and zoning ordinances will be continued at the meeting.

LINGERIE SELECTION

Emily Brooks shows a customer the large selection of items in the newly remodeled lingerie department at the Corte Madera store. Women with baby strollers appreciate the wider aisles permitted by the redecoration.

Warm Colors Are 'In' For Kitchens

Gold, yellow, orange, and white—currently the most popular decorating combinations for kitchens and breakfast areas—could be causing many family relation problems.

"Warm colors, generally are cheerful and bright and the perfect choice for the kitchen; the over use of warm colors can produce a prolonged feeling of physical dryness and emotional irritation," says Linda Adams, interior decoration instructor for the Montgomery Wards store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

"Cool colors, too, have a Negative effect in overdone," she added. "Properly used, cool colors are pleasing and relaxing. Overdo it and you way have moods of depression."

Balance is the answer, says Mrs. Adams.

She points out that the kitchen is the center of household activities and should reflect the color choices of the homemaker, and she is quick to say that warm colors are beautiful in the kitchen.

But how do you avoid parched throats and irritated families?

Mrs. Adams suggests that you keep the yellow appliances, the yellow tablecloth, the white ceiling, the off-white, gold speckled floor, and the other copper and gold accents. But change the wall color to a medium pale green, use a matching table cloth, a centerpiece of daisies and greens, white stoneware, and add white tiebacks with daisy trim for your white curtains.

The contrast of warm and cool colors means balance and provides all the benefits inherent in the dominant yellow color scheme.

Mrs. Adams promises improved family relations, physical comfort, and the compliments of friends if her advice is followed.

The proper use of color is one of eight major decorating problems covered in an "Art of Interior Decoration" course offered by Montgomery Ward's.

The eight-week program gives practical approaches to the solution of many problems and promises a professional insight into the steps required to make living more enjoyable. A small fee covers cost of textbook and materials.

Red China Warns U.S. To Keep Out

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China warned the United States today to leave the peoples of Indochina alone and said America will be held responsible for whatever arises from U. S. action in the area.

An official statement by the Chinese government, broadcast by the New China News Agency, said the Indochinese people have "a powerful backing" of the 700 million Chinese people in their fight against "U. S. imperialism."

The statement was made in connection with the recent so-called "Summit Conference of Indochinese Peoples" which brought ousted Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk together with the Communist leaders of North Vietnam, Laos and South Vietnam last Friday and Saturday.

The Peking statement said:

"The Chinese government sternly warns U. S. imperialism:

"Since you have stretched your aggressive claws into Cambodia and are further expanding your war of aggression against Vietnam and Laos, you must be held responsible for the consequences arising therefrom."

Peking said the Indochina summit conference was of "great historical significance." It was attended by Sihanouk; Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos; Nguyen Huu Tho, president of South Vietnam's National Liberation Front, and Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam.

"It (the meeting) is a heavy blow to U. S imperialism and its lackeys," the official statement said.

"U. S. imperialism is the common enemy of the people of the whole world as well as the most ferocious enemy of the three Indochinese peoples."

It said Peking "condemns U. S. imperialism for instigating the Cambodian rightist clique to stage a reactionary coup d'etat.

"The Chinese government and people are closely watching with concern the development of the present situation in Cambodia."

Tiburon Council Renews Pitch To Annex Strawberry

Action Taken To Counter Bid By Mill Valley For Rich Land

Tiburon City Council, fighting Mill Valley's annexation bid, made its own pitch last night to annex lands in the Strawberry area (Other Tiburon council stories, page 12.)

Thus the battle which broke out four years ago over the area containing the tax-rich Town and Country Village Shopping Center was renewed.

Councilmen voted 4-1 to apply to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission "for the most extensive and feasible annexation of the Strawberry area."

Mill Valley has proposed annexation of 110 acres including the shopping center, but the area to be sought by Tiburon, not yet defined, would extend over a larger area.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said the council was talking about annexation of "all of Strawberry and other potential annexations."

The council called for formation of a citizens committee to determine other possible annexations "in the same general area," including Bel Aire.

The lone dissenter was Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood who felt the city wasn't prepared to take such a step at this time.

Mayor Denis T. Rice said the choice was to file an annexation bid "or sit back and be dog in the manger."

Tiburon has "got to show the LAFC we're serious and willing to take those people into the city," he said.

Annexation by Mill Valley would cut the tax base supporting the Richardson Bay Sanitary District and the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire Department which serve residents of both unincorporated area and sections of Tiburon, the council stated.

The loss of revenue in these districts cannot be taken lightly since they serve a substantial area of the peninsula, Fanning asserted.

Councilmen said Tiburon since its incorporation has worked to unite and annex the Tiburon Peninsula and Mill Valley was attempting to annex a

REACTION IN SENATE

Stern No To Arms Supply To Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has made it clear to the administration it opposes any U.S. arms aid to Cambodia despite that embattled nation's plea for enough military hardware to outift a large army.

"The committee was virtually in agreement and very firmly against sending assistance," said Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., after Secretary of State William P. Rogers briefed the panel behind closed doors Monday.

Agreeing with Fulbright, senior Republican committee member Sen. George Aiken of Vermont said he is sure "the President will take into consideration how this committee feels."

Fulbright and Aiken met with newsmen following the 2½-hour session with Rogers. The secretary left hurriedly saying he didn't have time to comment.

Fulbright quoted Rogers as saying the Cambodias had made a "very large request for equipping a very large army," including rifles, trucks, half-tracks and airplanes—but not military personnel.

Pressed repeatedly to put a dollar figure on the amount, Fulbright said it was "in the hundreds of millions but I don't want to get into the numbers game."

"It was a helluva lot," said Aiken.

President Nixon met again today with Secretary of State Rogers, Secretary cof Defense Melvin R. Laird, and foreign afd fairs adviser Henry A. Kissinger to discuss the Cambodian situation. The session went on for nearly an hour but presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there was nothing he could report on the talks.

To a question whether the President has decided what to do about a Cambodian plea for arms aid, Ziegler said that the matter still is under discussion.

Ziegler also declined comment on developments at Monday Senate hearings and on Sen. Fulbright's statements afterward.

Ziegler appeared to rule out any specific request for congressional action in the event the administration says "yes" to the Cambodian bid for arms. The 1961 foreign aid act, he said, authorizes the President to provide aid to countries which request it.

Fulbright said the administration apparently has made no decision on going beyond what it already has done.

Publicly, at least, this has been confined to approving South Vietnamese shipment of captured Soviet AK47 rifles and allowing armed forays into Cambodian territory by South Vietnamese soldiers.

ROCKEFELLER NO LONGER NAIVE

A Millionaire Leaves Ghetto Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Rockefeller, the modest 25-year-old millionaire who became a block worker in Harlem, has retired after more than three years there. Neither Larry nor the block will be the same again.

Larry, a handsome, blond Harvard graduate who is the son of conservationist Laurance S. Rockefeller and nephew of two governors, said he is now much less "naive" about how fast change can be accomplished.

"Now I have an understanding of how deep and complex the problems are and how slow change comes with what great effort and with how many setbacks," said Larry after retiring Monday.

Some residents said Larry has done an immeasurable amount of good and point proudly to a bright, red and white block flag flying above the block as a symbol of their accomplishments.

"It's a symbol of our moving up," said Herbert Battle, a bicycle mechanic who is president of the block corporation. "People you couldn't talk to before will pitch in and help now. Larry didn't do everything for no one. He assisted us, because if someone does something for you it's no good."

Larry said that when he joined VISTA—Volunteers in Service to America, a federally sponsored volunteer program which trains block workers—he envisioned making his block an "extremely different place" after three years but that he immediately experienced setbacks.

One of his youth council leaders became a junkie, city agencies were filled with red tape, and a chicken franchise which he and the block corporation had planned to get to raise funds and employ welfare mothers fell through when a key person backed out.

On the other hand, a park opened Sunday where there once was a rubbish-filled lot and there's now a library in a once-vacant store. There's a classroom building, a full-scale tutoring program, a community center and a preschool building with a full-time teacher.

The block is still blighted by two rubble filled lots, an occasional abandoned car and garbage strewn about.

However, clean-ups are held periodically, 15 trees have been planted and seven previously blank walls are painted with the bright geometric designs by artist William Williams.

Larry has lived in a $90-a-month tenement, shared all the block's problems—even having the tires on his maroon sports car slashed—and learned all the residents' names.

Larry said he is leaving to work in conservation because he believes the block and its corporation can stand on its own. But the residents have been assured he'll be back anytime they need help.

Nudity, Words Block Paper's Funds Again

Photographs of nudes and obscene language have again brought a halt to the funding of the Sonoma State College newspaper, Cossack Steppes, this time perhaps till fall.

President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. forbade the Associated Students to publish a newspaper until a workable publications code could be established.

The Friday edition of the newspaper carried an advertisement which included a photograph of a nude woman as well as articles and letters laced with four letter words that Nichols said offended him.

"It is clear that earlier problems have not been resolved," Nichols said, referring to the freezing of funds after the March 20 edition.

The president later released the funds so the Communications Commission could meet to hear grievances brought against the editor Stanley De Witt. In a 4-to-4 vote with faculty and administrators pitted against student representatives for De Witt, he was retained as editor.

Nichols said that the newspaper is not in harmony with the policies of the state college board of trustees or the college communications code.

Editor De Witt and the student board of directors have defended the publication and called the criticism an attempt at censorship. A lawsuit to force Nichols to release the student funds which support the newspaper has been considered by the Associated Students executive board.

The president ordered that the Associated Students take no part in publishing a newspaper and that no student take part in any newspaper effort that purports to be representative of the student body.

When funds were frozen last month, the newspaper staff published three underground editions financed through personal contributions.

Nichols said any student publishing a newspaper giving the implication of campus recognition would be subject to disciplinary action.

Nichols made no provision for the establishment of a new and more workable communications code, leading students and faculty members to believe no action will be taken until the fall when a new president has been selected and Nichols returns to the ranks of the professors.

The newspaper, which has been strongly criticized by the state college board of trustees, first came under fire in the fall of 1968 with a series of articles on the successful cultivation of marijuana.

Subsequent publications under several different editors have been termed "highly offensive" with the use of nude photography and militant slogans.

Industrial Averages Take Dip

NEW YORK(UPI)—Prices tumbled across a broad front in stepped-up trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Declines routed advances for the 19th consecutive session, while the Dow Jones Industrial Average slumped to its lowest level in more than six years. The closely watched blue chip barometer was off 10.82 to 724.33.

The UPI Market Indicator, measuring all stocks traded, showed a loss of 1.56 on 1,609 issues. There were 1,066 losers and 319 winners.

Turnover of around 12.25 million shores compared with 10,240,000 shares Monday.

In the news background, economist Walter W. Heller said the nation will be lucky if it can hold inflation to an average of 3 per cent a year — about half the current rate — in the next five years.

One Wall Street analyst said that among other things, investors were jittery because they felt "the Administration has not yet mastered the problem of inflation."

Prices declined in moderately active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Amato Tops Big Field For Lagunitas Office

Joseph Amato, assistant superintendent of the Sausalito School District, has been named superintendent of the Lagunitas School District, replacing Marshall J. McCunniff, who held the post for six years. (Another Lagunitas district story, page 3.)

The 50-year-old Amato was chosen for the $17,000-a-year position unanimously last night by Lagunitas trustees. There were 74 applicants for the job. Amato has signed a two-year contract with the district and will take over his new duties July 1.

Amato's position in the Sausalito district, which he had held for four and a half years, was recently eliminated by Sausalito trustees as part of budget cuts for next year.

The new superintendent is a native of Chicago and holds a bachelor's degree from Pacific Union College in Angwin, Napa County, and a master's degree from Stanford University.

Before coming to Sausalito, Amato was principal-superintendent of the Guerneville Elementary School District in Guerneville and the Independent Elementary School District in Hayward.

He holds credentials in general elementary and general secondary education and elementary, secondary and general administration.

He and his wife and 13-year-old daughter Jennifer live at 360 Grandview Avenue, Black Point.

Marine Jets Misfire Into Saigon Unit

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command said today an accidental attack by U.S. Marine Corps jets has killed 10 South Vietnamese troops and wounded 20 others and that fifteen Americans have died in five air crashes.

Military spokesmen said two Marine Corps A4 fighter-bombers attacked a government civilian irregular unit by mistake Monday while supporting Allied troops in battle 77 miles south-southeast of Da Nang. The accident is under investigation.

The military command reported a total of five aircraft losses—three helicopters and an Air Force AC119 gunship in Vietnam plus a fighter-bomber hit on a mission over Laos. Six GIs were wounded.

The costliest crash involved a U.S. Army transport helicopter crippled by ground fire Monday in the central highlands 244 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Eight Americans were killed and one was wounded.

The Air Force AC119 gunship crashed and burned in a rice paddy early today after takeoff from Tan Son Nhut Airport outside Saigon. Six Americans were killed and two others injured.

The twin-engine converted Flying Boxcar crashed shortly after midnight, only hours after the U.S. command reported six dead in the loss of another big gunship, an AC130, over Laos.

FACT BULLETIN #6 (The Strike) Or Who Cancelled The Contract?

In recent union circulars to Marin residents not a word is said that the union cancelled the I-J-Typographical Union #21 contract. The union does not mention that the publisher was notified in writing that as of Nov. 13, 1968, "any agreement—written, oral or implied—or any conditions of employment or other understanding now in effect between San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21 and the San Rafael Independent-Journal will terminate." Nor does the union mention that the union now insists that the very contract which it cancelled must be reinstituted with "unqualified acceptance by the company of all terms of the old contract' before it will sit down and negotiate! We leave it to our readers to judge by what strange logic a cancelled contract can become a condition for negotiating a new one.

Experts Say Inflation Slowing; Others Fear Economic Downturn

WASHINGTON (AP) —Economic indicators point to a sharp slowdown in inflation this fall, two top economists predict. They made their statements on a day the stock market suffered its worst slump in six years and other signs revealed a troubled economy.

In making this assessment in speeches to the United States Chamber of Commerce Monday, Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under former President Johnson, and Beryle W. Sprinkle of Chicago supported Nixon administration contentions that the over-all price rise will slow sharply in the autumn.

But, as they spoke, other indications of a sagging economy caused concern in the business community.

In New York, the stock market's Dow Jones Industrial average fell 12.14 points to 735.15, the worst drop since Nov. 22, 1963, the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

And, in Detroit, General Motors and Ford, the nation's largest automobile manufacturers, said that auto sales and profits were down in the opening quarter this year, although both still finished in the black.

Ford reported its consolidated sales in the opening three months down by 5 per cent, while GM's sales fell by 14 per cent during the same period.

At the White House, President Nixon conferred with his Council of Economic Advisers and five other economists called in for a special discussion of the nation's economic outlook.

Administration officials denied the talks were directly connected to the stock market slump. One informant said the discussion was scheduled some time ago and was "a general bull session—a kind of educational process for the President, to let him hear what others in the economic field are thinking."

Meantime a large bank in California announced it was reducing its prime interest rate from 8 per cent to 7½ per cent in a move it said was designed to boost the nation's economy.

Robert F. Parker, whose Community National Bank at Bakersfield, Calif., operates 17 branches in that state, said he hoped its action will trigger another round of nationwide prime interest rate reductions. Six weeks ago the bank was the nations' second to drop its rate from 8½ per cent to 8 per cent.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington, Heller, now a University of Minnesota professor, told the businessmen "enough slack has developed in the economy" to assure the over-all price rise will slow to about a 4 per cent rate at the end of the year.

"I am not afflicted with the doom and gloom that seems to pervade Wall Street and the business community," Heller said.

He said the situation is ripe for Nixon to call publicly for restraint on prices and wages by industry and labor.

Sprinkel said he disagreed with Heller's call for White House pressure, saying there is nothing supporting it as a workable method to slow inflation.

Hike In Disability Payments Advanced

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to increase disability compensation payments to two million veterans and dependents by an estimated $230 million a year has been passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

Monthly payments to totally disabled veterans would be boosted from $400 to $450 under the measure, and for others the increases would be 11 per cent.

Israel Alert Over Hotter Suez Clashes

TEL AVIV (AP) — A stepup in Egyptian military activity along the Suez Canal heightened concern among Israeli military officials today as more Israeli casualties along the waterway were announced.

The military command said one soldier was killed and one wounded Monday during an exchange of artillery fire across the canal.

It was the fifth fatality in two days among the Israelis dug in on the east bank of the 103-mile waterway.

An Israeli military spokesman told newsmen that 12 soldiers have been killed and 22 wounded since the pace of fighting quickened about April 10.

The Egyptians are again using planes in their attacks following a winter lull and are ranging deep into Israeli-held Sinai.

The spokesman said the shelling lasts longer and 200-500 rounds are directed at a single Israeli position.

Asked if the increase in Egyptian activity could be linked to reported entry into Egypt of Soviet SA3 surface to air missiles, the spokesman said Cairo may feel more confident, now that it has a more sophisticated defense against Israel's air force.

Laos has no paved roads, no railroad and few telephones. Two-thirds of its 91,428 square miles are mountainous jungle, dotted with villages averaging about 200 inhabitants.

New Atom Smashers Are Rushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of four nations are rushing to complete powerful new atom smashers that may prove useful in treating cancer and desalting and purifying water.

The devices, nuclear accelerators, are designed to create new superheavy chemical elements that scientists hope will have many practical uses.

But how these elements are to be produced may give science bonus benefits in medicine and in making salt water drinkable, reports at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society revealed.

The machines sport powerful beams of subnuclear "bullets" of a chemical element to bombard another element in an effort to produce new superheavy material.

OTHER USES

But Dr. H. Marshall Blann of the University of Rochester told in his report how the subnuclear beams hold promise in other fields.

"Outside of nuclear physics there is great interest in the beams for possible applications ranging from radiotherapy (against cancer and other diseases) to water desalinization and purification," he said.

"The rewards to society from research conducted with this new generation of accelerators may well exceed those from any previous particle-accelerator," he added.

The nations involved in the race to complete the machines are the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Germany.

Blann said it appeared France's device, called Allice, will probably go into operation first, possibly sometime this year.

The U.S. and the Soviet Union are running neck and neck, with prospects of having their machines operational by 1972, he said.

EARLIER DATE?

But another American scientist, Dr. Albert Ghiorso of the University of California at Berkeley, where the United States' device is being built, said it may be ready as early as mid-1971.

The most sophisticated machine will be the German device, called Unilac. It's not expected to be ready until 1974 or 1975.

Details of the effort to build the smashers came out after Ghiorso reported discovery of a new heavy radioactive chemical element created by an existing accelerator.

The new-found substance, called Hahnium, is light when compared with the new elements being sought.

It was created by bombarding a rather heavy element, Californium 249, with nitrogen.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON (AP) — A landmark bill cracking down on obscene mail sent to youngsters and to adults who don't want it should sail through Congress "like motherhood and the flag," says a chief sponsor.

The bill, up for House approval today, defines in explicit terms nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement and sadomasochistic abuse considered obscene to minors.

The American Civil Liberties Union opposed it as an unconstitutional restriction of free speech and said Congress should have waited for a report from the President's Commission on Pornography and Obscenity before acting.

But Rep. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa., a principal sponsor, said he had heard of no opposition among his colleagues.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Angie Brooks of Liberia, president of the 24th General Assembly, sent word to friends here Monday that she had married Isaac Randolph, an educator, in Monrovia.

Grades Higher In Past Year

BERKELEY (AP) — Grades awarded at the nine University of California campuses were significantly higher last year than in the 1962-63 school year, a faculty committee says.

After a year-long study, the special committee said there were various reasons for the increase but noted particularly "the higher level of academic sophistication of our students."

Biochemistry Prof. Frederick H. Carpenter of Berkeley said "when you look at campuses like Davis and Riverisde, where there has been no student unrest, and see the same trend in grading, then that sort of washes out the argument that student activism alone has brought high grading by activist instructors."

Grade figures came from each campus and no average was taken.

Hickel Announces Cleanup Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel today announced plans for a national antipollution conference in Washington Sept. 29 through Oct. 2.

Hickel said more than 3,000 industry, education and government leaders will be invited to attend in an effort to carry out President Nixon's plea for "a total mobilization" to clean up the environment.

Dissident Roundup

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet secret police rounded up 160 Tatars to keep them from demonstrating during last week's Lenin centennial celebrations in Moscow, Russian dissidents report. Some of the dissidents fear a widespread purge is beginning.

KGB plainclothesmen arrested 100 Tatars from Uzbekistan, Kirgiz and the northern Caucasas last Tuesday, and another 60 were picked up Wednesday, according to an underground newsletter circulating in Moscow.

The Tatars had come to Moscow to demonstrate in front of the Lenin Library for the return of their Crimean homeland and the restoration of civil rights they lost during World War II.

Criticizes Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plea to lower the voting age to 18 by constitutional amendment has been criticized by a leading congressional Democrat as a means of defeating the Southern-opposed Voting Rights Act.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, termed the President's unexpected legislative maneuver "part of the Southern strategy to kill the voting rights bill."

Nixon touched off the row in Congress by telling congressional leaders in a letter Monday that while he supports lowering the voting age he believes it is unconstitutional to do so by statute. He asked the 18-year-old vote provision be separated from the voting rights bill and passed as a constitutional amendment.

Eggs At Envoy

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Demonstrators threw eggs at the new American ambassador to Holland, Jerome Holland, at the official opening of a U.S. cultural center—but missed.

The eggs were thrown as Holland walked from his car to the building Monday. Police arrested seven demonstrators who formed a ring and burned an American flag.

The demonstrators were protesting U.S. military involvement in Vietnam.

Peale Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale received telephoned greetings from President Nixon before a dinner Monday night honoring the 71-year-old minister for his work in the field of mental health.

Later a taped message from the President was played for the gathering of 1,300 persons at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"Every American should have an interest in all Dr. Peale stands for—a reverence for God and country, a contagious enthusiasm and inspiring advocacy of the positive values in life—and, through all he does for his fellow man, a tough-minded optimism,' 'Nixon said in the message.

Heart Transplant

TORONTO (UPI)—A 50-year-old parish priest was the recipient and an unidentified young woman was the donor Monday in Canada's first human heart transplant in more than a year.

Rev. Edward F. Madigan, dying from heart disease, received the healthy heart late Monnday morning in an operation at St. Michael's Hospital. Cardiovascular surgeons Dr. Clare Baker and Dr. James Yao performed the transfer in 57 minutes.

The priest was in satisfactory condition.

Leaner Hotdogs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department says its new rules against "fatdogs" are working—today's hotdogs have 5 per cent to 6 per cent less fat than was the case last fall.

The rules adopted in October specify that hotdogs and other federally inspected cooked sausages may have a fat content no higher than 30 per cent. Before the rules, such meats had averaged 32 per cent to 33 per cent fat content.

Boots Brown Appeal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has rejected the contention that H. Rap Brown's trial on arson and riot charges should be held in federal court.

The three-judge panel ruled Monday there was no evidence that the black militant's civil rights would be jeopardized by his scheduled trial in the Howard County state court.

William M. Kunstler, chief defense counsel, said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary. A previous appeal for a change of venue was denied by the high court on Jan. 12.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss. . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss. . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try it for 32 days and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male patters baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any weak hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair. . . now is the time to do something about is before it's too late.

For more information, write Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., and if they believe the treatment will help you, they will advise how you can take advantage of this 32 day trial at a special introductory price with a money-back-guarantee. Just send them the informtion listed below. Adv.

Some drunk driver stories are pretty hard to swallow.

Take the one about the drunk driver who ran into a family of four on their way home last Christmas Eve. The family never knew what hit them. But we do. Last year problem drinkers were involved in killing at least 25,000 of us on our highways.

Many problem drinkers need to be helped. But first, they need to be taken off the road. Sooner or later, it has to happen. Make it sooner. To find out what you can do, write the National Safety Council, Dept. A, 425 N. Michigan, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Lagunitas Budgeting Marks Time

The Lagunitas School District board last night continued preliminary budget discussions, but took no action on the budget. (Another Lagunitas district story on page 1.)

Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff said that the board considered possible budget cuts if the proposed tax increase is not approved by the district's voters June 2.

Voters are being asked to approve an increase in the general operating tax rate limit from the present $2.65 to $3.55 per $100 assessed valuation. The increase could mean a total district tax rate of about $4.40 per $100 assessed valuation.

Inmate Vanishes On Work Furlough

A San Quentin work furlough prisoner, scheduled to be paroled in 10 days, failed to report Friday to his job as a truck driver for a private company in San Francisco, and prison officials said today they had no leads as to his whereabouts.

The prison listed Shelby L. Hodges, 29, of Fresno County, as an escapee.

According to Albert R. Jacobs, associate warden, Hodges had left the prison at 6 a.m. Friday but failed to report to his job or return to the prison.

Hodges, who began in the work furlough program on April 6, came to San Quentin in October 1967 on a burglary and two prior felony convictions.

Novato Trustees Eye Ways To Cut Budget

A tentative $8,277,154 budget for next school year, a $31,000 increase over this year's budget, was presented to the Novato Unified School District trustees last night.

In presenting the budget, Supt. James G. Bunker, explained the figure was based on an average daily attendance of 12,200 students in the district schools, according to Edward F. Dolan, district information and personnel officer.

The trustees discussed at the special meeting ways to trim the proposed figure by $285,000 to meet inflation costs and a $245,000 step-increase in salary for teachers, Dolan said.

The propsoed budget includes a carryover of $258,387 from the current year, Dolan noted. Board president Marett B. Boissevain urged that a 3 per cent reserve, that would equal this year's ending balance, be maintained next year, Dolan reported.

Bunker suggested that $72,000 might be trimmed from transportation costs by eliminating bus transportation for summer school students and serving a wider area during the regular school year, Dolan reported.

Another $5,500 could be saved by cutting in half the $10,500 reserved for school sites in the capital outlay section of the budget, Dolan said. The $21,000 for library books could be eliminated and also $12,200 for the district's hot lunch program.

The district's $89,681 reserve for equipment could be sliced to $39,681 and $14,000 might be taken from the district's allotted $281,868 for instructional supplies such as pencils and paper, Dolan said.

The trustees asked Bunker to attempt percentage cuts in all possible areas, Dolan reported, and to compile data on costs of field trips and portable classrooms.

The trustees generally agreed, according to Dolan, that another special tax election shuodl be held this year. They decided to vote on the matter at their regular meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Novato Community House.

The budget will be discussed again at that meeting, Dolan said.

The accident occurred at 2:18 p.m., when the car hit the hydrant and damaged a post and shrubs at the home of Gordon Ehrman at 148 Bret Harte Road, according to police.

Prison Term Handed Down

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday sentenced Larry Donald Prude, 26, of Richmond, to state prison for an armed robbery conviction and ordered his co-defendant, Oscar Moon Hill, 29, also of Richmond, to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day evaluation before sentencing.

The two men had been convicted by Judge McGuire of first degree robbery after they had waived a trial.

Prude's prison sentence was ordered to run concurrently with any others he is now serving. It was reported that he was on parole at the time of the offense.

Hill, who carried the gun in the robbery of a clerk at the Short Stop Market in San Rafael last April, was reported to have a better record than his partner.

A mature male gorilla may be six feet tall and weigh 400 pounds or more. His enormous arms can span eight feet.

Alioto, State Iron Out Sewer Connection Dispute

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Agreement was reached Monday by city and state officials in the fight over new sewer connections in two sections of the city, Mayor Joseph L. Alioto announced.

The ban, which was ordered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board in March to force the city to improve sewage treatment plants, threatened to shut down millions of dollars in construction projects.

Mayor Alioto, after meeting with Kerry Mulligan, president of the State Water Quality Control Board, and William Weber, chairman of the Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, said he could not announce the details of the agreement "without endangering the situation."

The meeting took the place of a scheduled hearing before Superior Court Judge Clayton W. Horn. The hearing was to consider the ban and a temporary restraining order obtained by the city staying the ban.

The hearing was put over until May 8.

Alioto said terms of the settlement would need the approval of the Board of Supervisors and the state and regional water agencies.

The sewer connection affected the Southeast and North Point sewage treatment plants, said by the water boards to be overburdened and responsible for polluting the bay.

Plans For Rohnert Parks Are Studied

Plans to develop major recreational facilities at Alicia and Benecia parks were presented last night in a joint meeting of the Rohnert Park City Council and Recreation Commission.

The landscape architecture firm of Ribera and Sue recommended development projects at the parks that could total a cost of $886,000.

Plans for Alicia Park included the development of grounds on the adjacent John Reed School. Projects suggested by the firm at an estimated cost of $386,000 included drainage, turf and irrigation improvements as well as a picnicking area, softball field, bleachers, tiny tots lot, lighted tennis courts, swimming pool improvements, parking lot and restroom facilities.

Projects suggested for Benecia Park included basic turf development, parking lots, two tiny tot lots, picnicking facilities for 400 persons, remodeling of the park's building, lights for existing tennis courts and softball fields, handball courts, gymnastics area, and expansion of swimming pool facilities to include a wading pool and slope for sunbathing.

Total cost for the Benecia Park improvements was estimated at $500,000.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the plans would be studied further by the recreation commission with recommendations on the plans and means of financing to be made to the city council.

The plans will also be sent to the Cotati School District and Petaluma Board of Education for comment and recommendation.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

CORPORATION YARD—Received plans from architect Lawrence Simons for the development of a corporation yard. First phase plans estimated to cost $90,000 and included land development, a storage building, paving, fencing and outdoor storage areas.

SIGN—Approved the request of Codding Enterprises to relocate and upgrade a billboard during construction of the new interchange at Highway 101.

ELECTION — Scheduled a meeting at 8 p.m. today at city hall to elect a new mayor and vice mayor.

Silt Blocks Boat Visits To Petaluma

Serious siltation problems in the turning basin on the Petaluma River at Petaluma will prohibit the usual mass visits by Marin and Bay Area yacht clubs this summer.

Mervin S. Waters, chairman of the chamber of commerce, called the situation "a disaster." Shoals prevent large boats from maneuvering in the basin.

Waters said that in this condition, only seven or eight boats can be docked at one time. The cause of the heavy siltation is not known.

The problem is limited only to the turning basin, Waters said, noting that the river beyond the D Street bridge is adequate for most craft.

He said the turning basin is in worse condition than last year prior to dredging. Although the basin should be dredged immediately, Waters and City Engineer David A. Young said it is not likely to be done again for three years, the normal dredging cycle.

Guilty Plea To Felony Count In Shotgun Case

John Bonner Davison, 34, of Geyserville, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to felony charges of possessing a sawed-off shotgun and a restricted drug, Desoxyephedrine, when arrested in April 1969, by the California Highway Patrol.

Additional charges of having a revolver and morphine were dismissed.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for July 6.

A second man arrested with Dvison, George Patrick Lake, 32, also of Geyserville, is being sought by authorities. A bench warrant was issued for him when he failed to appear in court shortly after being arrested.

The pair was arrested after an officer approached their stopped car on Highway 101 to ask if they needed assistance. When he noiced that the license plates of the car did not match the registration, the car was searched and the weapons and drugs found.

ABA Backs Blackmun For Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The American Bar Association today endorsed Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun as a man with "high standards of professional competence, temperament and integrity."

The ABA's Committee on the Federal Judiciary characterized Blackmun as "sincere, frank, understanding and cooperative."

He is one who "conscientiously and with an open mind weighs every reasonable argument with careful knowledge of the record, the arguments and the law," the report said.

The assessment was contained in a letter from the committee chairman, Lawrence E. Walsh of New York, to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Judiciary Committee begins hearings Wednesday on Blackmun — the third Nixon nominee for Supreme Court vacancy created last May by the resignation of Abe Fortas. The previous two choices, Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell—both federal appeals judges from the South —were rejected by the Senate.

Crash On Rainy Black Point Road Leaves Four Hurt

Four persons were injured yesterday in an accident on Highway 37 near the Petaluma River Bridge, the California Highway Patrol has reported.

Jean L. Elkin, 45, of 1955 Center Road, Novato, was reported in good condition in the intensive care unit at Novato General Hospital today with scalp cuts and neck sprain suffered in the 5:30 p.m. accident.

Officers said a car driven by Fredrick A. Bickford, 20, of Vallejo, crashed through the center divider and came to rest on the opposite shoulder. When Bickford attempted to return the car to the eastbound side of the highway he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Elkin's husband, Lauren N. Elkin Jr., 49.

Bickford, Elkin and Steven J. Irons, 20, of Sonoma, a passenger in the Bickford vehicle, were treated at the hospital for unspecified unjuries.

The patrol said a heavy rain contributed to the accident.

Environmental Plea By Peevey

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state Senate, has proposed creation of a "state environmental ombudsmand to protect California's environment from destruction."

Peevey, speaking at a beach party Sunday sponsored by the Muil Beach Democratic Club, said the ombudsman should be technicians, biologists, attorneys, accountants, economists and other experts to bring legal action against polluters.

Peevey said the office would be funded by a penny tax on monthly utility bills.

Present laws against pollution offer the average citizen "no recourse but to cry out in anguish," Peevey said .

Youth Cited In Drug Probe

A 15-year-old San Rafael boy has been cited to appear before juvenile officers after a deputy sheriff said the youth had a small cube of suspected hashish in his shirt pocket.

The boy was a passenger in a car which the deputy stopped Friday night near Nicasio Dam because of complaints of cars on private roads in the area. The boy made a furtive gesture toward his pocket, the officer said.

Other teen-agers in the car were released.

Driver Treated For Cuts To Head

Dana Turpin, 48, of Alameda, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a head cut suffered when his car overturned yesterday at 5:10 p.m. on Highway 101, south of Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said his car skidded during a hail storm and overturned after striking a guardrail.

substantial portion of Tiburon's "sphere of interest."

Fanning said the Mill Valley proposal, covering a technically uninhabited area, wouldn't require an annexation election, but Tiburon's proposal would be decided by the people involved.

Four years ago the cities filed conflicting bids for annexation, Mill Valley for the shopping center and Tiburon for the entire peninsula, and there was a bid to incorporate Alto.

The Mill Valley and Alto bids were withdrawn and Tiburon's plan failed when there were protests from owners representing more than 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of the area proposed for annexation.

The Strawberry annexation issue has never been put to a vote, Fanning said. Tiburon's proposal would permit the voters "to have the ultimate choice," he contended.

If 50 per cent of the land owners in the area to be incorporated opposed, there wouldn't be any election, Fanning said.

If that hurdle is cleared, then there would be an annexation election with voters from both the city and area to be annexed participating.

When Miss Ellinwood expressed concern that the move was premature, prompted by Mill Valley's bid, Fanning said the annexation proposal would have been presented to the council in several months anyway.

Regardless of Mill Valley's action, the council was close to considering annexation, he contended. "We have been contemplating it since the previous move failed."

Fanning said if there were popular support from such areas as Bel Aire and Bayview Heights, the city could file such annexation applications simultaneously with the Strawberry annexation.

The north side of the Tiburon Peninsula wouldn't be under consideration, he said.

Miss Ellinwood expressed reservations about expanding the city limits since there were unsolved problems within the present limits.

Councilmen Albert H. Sennett and Fanning, a council committee on annexation, are slated to submit their completed report at the May 11 council meeting when the council is scheduled to proceed toward filing its annexation application.

Youth Held, Two Sought In Burglary

An 18-year-old Oakland youth was arrested yesterday at his home by Oakland police on suspicion of burglarizing Gemini clothing store in Sausalito earlier in the day.

Booked into Marin County jail and held in lieu of $1,500 bail to appear in municipal court today was Gaylon Gary Gilbreath of 157 Isleton Street.

Witnesses to the burglary at 7 a.m. told police three men in a white Mustang entered the store at 14 Princess Street and removed clothing. A passing motorist got the license number.

A check of that number indicated the car is registered to Lulu Mae Franklin on 1003 Bernhardt Drive, Oakland. Oakland police went to that address looking for Charles Franklin Jr., who had been cited at 1:45 a.m. Monday morning by Sausalito police for making a U-turn on Bridgeway at Caledonia and for driving with an expired license. The Sausalito police citation indicated he was driving a white Mustang with two passengers.

As Oakland police arrived at Franklin's house, a white Ford drove up, then took off, according to the Oakland report. The officers chased the car to 157 Isleton, but lost the two occupants in a backyard chase on foot.

Police examined the car and found a brown wallet with papers indicating its owner was Gilbreath, a quantity of leather coats in the trunk, and the traffic citation to Franklin in the glove compartment.

While they were searching, a car containing three men drove up and one got out. According to police, that man was Gilbreath and he was arrested on suspicion of burglary.

Franklin, 20, is still at large and the third is still unidentified.

Probe Into KRON-TV Is Nearing End

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Eleven witnesses testified Monday as the lengthy KRON-TV license renewal hearing appeared to be nearing a conclusion after almost seven weeks.

Al Kihn, former KRON cameraman who opened the hearings March 17, returned to the stand briefly. He said an entry in his detailed diary recalled a 1966 conversation he had with a KRON-TV writer who said he had to do a documentary on Vallejo "because of the station's cable television interests there."

Attorneys for KRON and Kihn exchanged sharp comments regarding whether Kihn's entire diary should be admitted as evidence. Only portions of it relating to KRON-TV have been admitted.

Hearing Examiner Chester F. Naumowicz Jr. said he expects today to be the final day of testimony.

Among those testifying Monday were five public witnesses or citizens who asked to express their views. They were J.B. Neilands, a professor of biochemistry at the University of California; Dora Perry, former public relations woman for Goodwill Industries; J.J. Spain, vice president of the Musicians Union; Andrew A. Stern, senior lecturer in the graduate school of journalism at the University of California, and William Seifert, an instructor in the UC graduate journalism school.

Look Editor Is Firm About Alioto Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The managing editor of Look magazine says he is convinced Mayor Joseph Alioto met with underworld figures, but he isn't certain the meetings were at the Nut Tree restaurant.

The statement was made Monday by Martin Goldman on the witness stand in the trial of Alioto's $12.5 million libel suit against the magazine.

The suit stems from a Sept. 23, 1969, Look article which linked Alioto with the Mafia. One such link alleged by the article was that Alioto held meetings with underworld figures at the Nut Tree, a popular restaurant beside Interstate 80, between San Francisco and Sacramento.

"That he had meetings, I am certain," said Goldman. "But as to where, I am not certain... yes, I am not entirely certain."

He continued, "It is possible they were at the Nut Tree, but I have heard indications they took place elsewhere."

Alioto's attorney, Maxwell Blecher, bore down continuously as Goldman time and again said he could not recall details or they "tended to be blurred."

The article alleged the mayor is "enmeshed in a web of alliances" with the Mafia.

Goldman discussed the prime source of information for the story, Tommy Thomas, former son-in-law of James Fratianno, identified in the article as a "notorious Cosa Nostra killer."

Goldman said he had "all kinds of reasons to place credibility in Tommy Thomas."

Asked whether he rejected as lies Alioto's denials of the alleged meetings, Goldman replied, "I had reason to rely on Thomas as the source."

The alleged Nut Tree meeting was for the purpose of organizing the First San Francisco Bank, the magazine claimed.

The magazine charged that Alioto was influential in arranging a loan from the bank for Fratianno.

Zoning Adjustments Board Wins Support

The Petaluma City Council last night agreed to an expansion of membership on the planning commission and the establishment of a board of zoning adjustments to handle routine matters.

Planning Director William C. McGivern told the council that the planning commission has been constantly bogged down with routine matters such as variances and minor use permits and has not been able to give enough time and study to immediate and long range planning.

Commission chairman Paul Stanley said the group should be making a thorough review of the general plan rather than devoting entire meetings to architectural site designs.

The commission recommended it be expanded from five to eight members with three to serve on the board of zoning adjustments.

While the council appeared to be in general agreement, Councilman Fred V. Mattei questioned if additional staffmembers will be required and at what cost.

McGivern said that only additional clerical assistance will be needed and that he did not forsee an expansion of the professional staff within the next year.

Councilman Albert L. Battaglia suggested that the the board of zoning adjustments could meet during the day so that the planners and secretaries would not be required to attend another night meeting.

Mayor Helen Putnam asked City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to meet with Stanley and McGivern to prepare an ordinance for consideration at a council meeting in May.

Series Of Stereo Thefts Reported

San Rafael police today reported a series of stereo burglaries including a $220 stereo system theft during the weekend at the Pacific Plan office at 1290 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Officers said Super Sound of 509 Francisco Boulevard reported yesterday a $119 stereo was lifted from a store display stand at about 11:30 a.m. The store told police three men, all about 25 years old, had been looking at the unit before it was noticed as missing.

An auto stereo, worth about $200 was reported stolen yesterday from an auto owned by Elnora P. Admire of 3 Stevens Place, San Rafael. Mrs. Admire said the stereo was taken sometime Sunday night or Monday morning from her car parked in front of her home.

San Francisco Backs Bus Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Board of Supervisors has endorsed the idea of the Golden Gate Bridge District running a commuter bus service between San Francisco and Marin County.

Supervisors said Monday night, however, that the bridge district still must get their approval for routes and stops in the city.

The resolution also supported operating ferry boats to and from Marin County and expressed interest in rapid transit.

John A. Ertola, chairman of the board's streets and transportation committee, said "this resolution simply states a general policy of support for an integrated bridge-ferry-bus system as an immediate answer to the commuter problem."

A ONE-MAN MISSILE

A missile streaks from a portable launcher held by a British soldier during a recent test at Aberdeen, Scotland. Called the Blowpipe missile system, the equipment weighs only 40 pounds. After launching, the missile is directed toward its airborne target by radio commands generated by the soldier's use of a thumb button.

Bagley Stings Demos On Tax Reform Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The author of Gov. Reagan's tax reform plan said today Democratic lawmakers "are in for a fiscal bloodbath" if they oppose the billion dollar package.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said the program — which includes withholding of the state income tax — has backing from every major segment of California's economy.

Bagley added that an attack on it by Assembly Democratic leaders "is so phony it's not worth the paper it's written on."

Bagley commented as the Assembly Ways and Means Committee prepared to hear pros and cons of the plan at a full-scale hearing today. Bagley appeared confident the Republican-dominated committee would move the program to the full Assembly.

The "bloodbath" comment was a play on Reagan's controversial statement in regard to campus violence. The governor said he meant it merely as a figure of speech.

Bagley and other GOP leaders have said they are certain legislative Democrats won't vote against such a tax reform package in an election year when 100 of the 120 seats in the Assembly and Senate are at stake.

Monday, Assembly Democratic Leader John J. Miller of Berkeley and George N. Zenovich of Fresno, the Democratic caucus chairman, issued a statement listing "eight glaring errors" in the program.

Heading the list was the allegation that the Reagan plan "soaks the consumer" to give business a tax break of $70 million to $80 million.

Bagley replied that the business community had complained that it pays a disproportionate share of the tax boosts — which will finance homeowner property tax breaks.

Bagley said homeowners will get more than $700 million of the $1 billion total tax break when the program is in full operation in its third year.

20 Weekends In Jail Ordered On Stolen Checks

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Robert Wayne Kitzmiller, 33, of San Rafael, to spend the next 20 weekends in the county jail after his conviction on two counts of possessing checks with intent to defraud others.

He also placed Kitzmiller on probation for two years and told him to make $323 restitution for the checks.

The judge blamed Kitzmiller's alcoholic problem for the offense and said that he would not send him back to state prison, where he has served time, for these offenses since "a 5-year-old child would have known he would be caught."

Kitzmiller cashed stolen checks at a San Rafael bar where he had been known for years.

Parts Of Old Ford Reported As Stolen

Auto parts for a 1929 Ford were stolen from a garage owned by David Wesley Wiles, 20, of San Rafael, sometime Sunday night or Monday morning, San Rafael police said today.

Wiles, who lives at 217 Bayview Street, told police the items taken totaled about $550 in value. They include chrome radiator covers, fenders, bumpers and lights.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Property Tax Ballot Doubtful; Hike Proposed In Tax On Liquor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sponsors of an initiative to drastically cut property taxes appear to have failed in their drive to place the proposed constitutional amendment on the November ballot.

Acting Secretary of tSate H. P. (Pat) Sullivan reported he received only about 20,000 signatures Monday, the first deadline for submitting petitions on the measure.

Sponsors have 40 additional days to gather the remainder of the 520,276 signatures to qualify the measure, which would limit taxes on singe-family homes to one per cent of their actual value.

But author of the proposal, Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, said chances of obtaining the required signatures looked slim.

LIQUOR TAX HIKE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative analyst A. Alan Post, contending California liquor prices are "excessive," has urged the legislature to increase taxes on liquor to balance the 1970-71 budget.

In a letter to the budget-handling Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means Committees, Post said raising the tax on distilled spirits from $2 to $4 a gallon would produce nearly $90 million for the state general fund.

Post also called for the repeal of the fair trade minimum price law on liquor products to provide a savings for consumers. Several repeal bills already have been introduced.

BUSSING CHANGE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An assemblyman has given up his long light for a vote of the people this year on the touchy subject of busing students to achieve racial integration.

Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, said Monday he would not press his proposed constitutional amendment to prevent busing with parental consent. It would take a two-thirds approval of the legislature to put the matter before voters in November. Wakefield indicated he wasn't confident he could get that big a margin in the legislature.

However, he did obtain a new hearing before the Assembly Education Committee on a bill to do exactly what the amendment proposes. The bill would require only a simple majority in each house and approval of the governor to become law.

Wakefield had asked two weeks ago that the bill be shelved in favor of the amendment ,but reversed himself Monday. It was the fourth time the amendment had been heard. The bill now will go through at least two more hearings before the committee votes on it.

POT AT CAPITOL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Police have discovered a small marijuana crop in Capitol Park but officers doubt the weed was intentionally planted by drug users.

"I think it would be a very bad place to try to grow marijuana," said Police Captain James Xanders. "We dug up the plants and gave them to the narcotics people."

One small plant was found flourishing in a flower garden Monday. He said six other plants were discovered last week in a nearby flower bed.

The plants were only a few inches tall and two small to be used in cigarettes, he said.

Xanders said the marijuana found in the park probably hadn't been deliberately planted. He theorized the seeds could have been dropped by birds, contained in fertilizer or "somebody may have cleaned out his pocket."

PRO-VANDEGRIFT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Republicans expressed confidence today that Lucian Vandegrift will be confirmed as Gov. Ronald Reagan's human resources secretary despite Democratic opposition.

"I think he'll make it," said Sen. Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles, a member of the Senate Rules Committee, which last week delayed a vote on confirmation of the former Butte County district attorney.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People criticized Vandegrift for taking the "ax handle approach" to welfare abusers.

Stevens, who said he has not been asked by Reagan to formally sponsor Vandegrift's appointment, said he may request further hearings on the matter.

"He should have a chance to defend himself," the lawmaker said, noting Vandegrift was not allowed to rebut the charges made by his critics.

Sen. Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, said the Vandegrift appointment would probably be approved by the committee and then confirmed by a majority of the full Senate.

"I don't think he'll have any problem," said Burgener. "You might have a party-line vote."

Republicans control the Senate 21-19. Some Democrats have vowed to fight the appointment on the floor if the committee endorses Vandegrift.

TV IN CAPITOL?

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The legislature has started testing closed circuit television systems to tighten Capitol security and prevent a bombing similar to one that ripped the Louisiana Senate.

The Joint Rules Committee in conjunction with the state Department of General Services has asked the television manufacturers to demonstrate their product.

James Schoning, chief Assembly administrative officer, said the first system was demonstrated Monday, although neither the state agency nor the Rules Committee has decided how much they intend to spend for the new security gadgets.

Schoning said future demonstrations were planned before a decision is made on whether to install the closed circuit network.

License Fees Shares Reported

Marin County has received $722,387 and Sonoma County $781,879 as a partial advance on their share of the state-collected vehicle license fees, controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced.

Advances to Marin County cities were Belvedere, $12,761; Corte Madera, $40,496; Fairfax, $36,197; Larkspur, $40,521; Mill Valley, $59,049; Novato, $141,961; Ross, $13,585; San Anselmo, $64,555; San Rafael, $179,179; Sausalito, $32,884, and Tiburon, $30,346.

Southern Sonoma cities advances were Cotati, $7362; Petaluma, $116,581, and Rohnert Park, $28,834.

The amounts given to each city are based on population figures.

Hayakawa Urges Special Training

SACRAMENTO (AP) — San Francisco State College President S. I. Hayakawa says he didn't need any state credentials to pull wires from a sound truck but he did wish he had special training for the day-to-day running of his college.

Hayakawa testified Monday before the Senate Education Committee against a bill to simplify requirements for teaching credentials and eliminate special credentials for administrators.

Referring to an incident that made him a national figure, Mill Valley resident Hayakawa told the committee, "I became famous because I pulled wires out of a sound truck and that didn't take an administrative credential." But, he said, he had difficulty with his routine administrative duties as a new college president because he had had no administrative training.

"At a time when business, industry, government and the armed forces spend millions of dollars to teach management, administration and leadership, we would be doing the teaching profession and the school systems a real injustice by downgrading administration," Hayakawa said.

Hayakawa said he favored a commission of professional educators which the proposed law would create but he thought the commission should have the job of spelling out specific teaching credential requirements. He said it was a poor idea for legislation to spell out such details.

"I think schools of education have very often deserved much of the criticism directed against them," Hayakawa told newsmen before he testified, "but that doesn't mean we do away with colleges of education. It means we improve them."

Hayakawa said the bill, authored by Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-Burlingame, was based on a bias against the value of special teacher training.

Speaking in favor of his proposals, Ryan told the committee: "Einstein probably would have made a poor teacher according to the present rules."

The 11-member committee took no action on the bill Monday. Chairman Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, himself a former college instructor, said the three hours of testimony would be considered by the committee in closed session before a vote is taken.

Kentfield Board Budgets Pay Hike

The Kentfield School District board last night approved a tentative $1,495,275 budget for the 1970-71 school year.

The budget includes a 6 per cent salary scale increase for the district's teaching and non-teaching staffs, Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said today.

He said salary increases for the administrative staff will be considered by the board later.

The district's budget for the current school year is $1,429,629.

The budget will remain tentative, he said, until the district ascertains what its total income for next year will be.

The board also gave final approval to a citizens' advisory council report recommending shifts in attendance area limits to even up the pupil load in the three district schools.

The changes will shift about 50 pupils from Adaline E. Kent School to Wolfe Grade School and 30 from Wolfe Grade to Greenbrae School.

The shifts will be effective in September.

The rental of a classroom to the county for $1,000 a year was approved by the board. The classroom is already used by the county schools office for a hearing handicapped program.

The board instructed Bacich to discuss with the district's county supervisor, Peter R. Arrigoni, and with the county traffic safety engineer proposals to increase safety precautions at the school crossing at Wolfe Grade and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Bacich and the district's business manager were authorized to attend a planned program budgeting system workshop at the Terra Linda Holiday Inn May 22 and 23.

The board adopted a calendar for the next school year. Teachers will report Sept. 1, students Sept. 10. The calendar contains 175 school days.

The board also approved the hiring of three new teachers for next year: Wendy Portnuff of San Francisco, at $9,320; Terri Monte of San Rafael at $10,400, and Robert Caine of San Rafael at $6,500.

Miss Portnuff was also hired effective April 20 as a replacement teacher for the rest of the present school year for $2,000.

The entire current teaching staff was rehired for next year and tenure was granted to Diane Davis, Robert Geurts and Elizabeth Lyons, all teachers at Wolfe Grade School; William Tasca, the district's foreign language instructor, and Dale Alstrom, district instrumental music teacher.

The board adjourned to its next regular meeitng May 11.

Womack Criticizes 'Needless Welfare'

"Too many people are working too hard to support families to be able to afford the cost of needless welfare," according to Wayne Womack candidate for supervisor for the Fifth District.

At a coffee meeting Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter, 2155 Vineyard Road, Novato, Womack advocited a wide-spread and workable state and county program where able-bodied individuals can be taken off the welfare rolls and suitable employed.

"Let me set the record straight," said Womack. "I believe in a just welfare system which covers our senior citizens, children and those in genuine need, but I do not believe in welfare fraud and the welfare way of living. I believe in able-bodied persons being taken off the welfare rolls and employed.

"One of the many tasks of the Marin County Board of Supervisors is sitting and listening to each welfare applicant to determine if they are to receive the minimum or maximum amount to which they are entitled, according to present law," said Womack. "Your supervisor from the Fifth District is in a position to try to keep welfare costs down—yet be fair."

Birth Defect Conference Tomorrow

The Marin Chapter of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes Teen Action Program will sponsor its second youth conference on birth defects for all Marin County high school students at San Rafael High School Auditorium from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Students who haven't preregistered still may attend the conference by informing their school authorities, said Joseph Gargiulo, principal of North Marin High School who is in charge of transportation.

Chartered buses will leave San Marin High School at 1:45 p.m. and Novato High School at 2 p.m., Redwood High School at 1:45 p.m., Ross School at 1:55 p.m. and San Domenico school at 2:15 p.m.

The conference will include films, talk and panel discussion on genetic counseling, chromosomal disorders and congenital malformations.

Injuries Minor In Auto Accident

Marion Hewitt, 25, of 181 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, suffered a head bump and a swollen left ankle in a two-car crash at 12:05 a.m. Sunday, north of the north tower of the Golden Gate Bridge.

California Highway Patrol officers reported yesterday that she was a passenger in a southbound car driven by Lloyd L. Dulbecco, 36, of Daly City, which collided with a southbound car driven by John Patrick Olsen, 66, of San Francisco, which had slowed because of a stalled car in front of him. She refused hospitalization, officers reported.

Group To Get Nominations

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen will receive nominations for election to key posts, including the Golden Gate Bridge District board at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Dean N. Meyer, who represented Marin cities on the bridge board, didn't seek reelection to the Mill Valley Council, and therefore gave up his bridge board seat.

The council also will consider nominations for election to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board, a seat now held by John A. Miskimen, a San Rafael city councilman, whose term on the district board is to expire.

Elections are scheduled to be held at the May meeting of the council.

Pessner Is Backed By Irate Taxpayers

Hugh O. Pessner, a Greenbrae Republican, has been endorsed for state senator by directors of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

The directors also have endorsed a state Senate resolution which calls for a review of Field Act standards, under which public buildings in California are judged for earthquake safety, but took no action on a request for endorsement of a Senate bill which calls for a cost-of-living adjustment in the payment schedule of Aid to Families with Dependent Children

Additional Clerks' Pay Hike Denied

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday denied a request from law enforcement clerks for an additional 5 per cent salary increase.

Victor J. Van Bourg, attorney for Office and Professional Workers Local 3, said the 5 per cent approved by the board to be effective in July was not sufficient and that the clerks de-

The supervisors pointed out that a survey made by County Administrator David L. Nichols showed that the clerks' salary was comparable to that paid by private industry and that an additional raise could not be justified.

Van Bourg said the raise request was reasonable because the clerks received only a 2.5 per cent increase last year while other county employees received as much as 12 per cent.

In addition to the annual July raises, all county employees also receive a cost-of-living raise in March.

The union, which represents 80 clerks has received strike sanction from the Sonoma County Labor Council. Nichols said that employees who miss three days of work without just cause must be automatically fired, according to county employment regulations.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors also:

D STREET — Approved plans to widen and improve D Street from the Marin County line to San Antonio Road. Bids will be opened May 26 at 3:15 p.m.

WORKSHOP — Gave permission to Rolland C. Webb, clerk of the Southern Municipal Court, to attend a court administration workshop at San Jose State May 4-8.

INSURANCE — Approved establishment of an insurance committee to study new fringe benefits for county employees. Committee members will be named later.

Napa Valley Hit Hard By Frosts

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Spring frosts have caused the worst damage in about 20 years to the grape crop in the Napa Valley, sources of many California wines.

Al Delfino, Napa County agricultural commissioner, toured stricken areas 75 miles northeast of San Francisco Monday and estimated damages at $3 million.

He said about one third of the 22,000 acres of wine-producing grape buds were frostbitten and would not produce grapes.

Stereo Stolen

A stereo tape deck worth $70 was reported stolen yesterday from an auto parked in a lot at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, police reported yestrday. Owner Evan Daily, 7 Edgewater Road, Belvedere, said the stereo was taken between 9 and 9:30 a.m. from the locked car by forcing open a window.

Mill Valley Schools Budget Surplus Fades

Supt. James A. Collins presented a tentative budget to the Mill Valley School District board last night and then watched as proposed additions by trustees shrank the reserve fund from $192,000 to an $18,000 deficit.

With Chairman William P. Everts Jr. and John H. Cutler out of town, three trustees, led vice chairman John K. Robinson, were told by Collins that "anything that happens must happen out of the $192,000 surplus," and then discussed adding $60,000 in increment raises for personnel, a $40,000 inflation factor and a 5 per cent cost-of-living wage increase that would cost $110,000.

Addition of these programs, a total of $210,000, would eat up the reserve and leave the district $18,000 in debt, Trustee John G. Eliot pointed out.

"So you're telling us," Trustee Joseph E. Bodovitz said to Collins, "that unless some manna comes from heaven, we'll have to cut some programs to give teachers a raise." Collins said this was so.

The budget, which Carroll D. Killingsworth, district business director, emphasized several times was tentative, was $3,177,000. It was up from the adopted 1969-70 budget of $3,069,000 but matched item for item this year's estimated final budget.

Collins said he had "agonized" over decisions not to ask for any increases for the coming year. "We're in the midst of painful times,' 'he said, "The same situation in which school districts all over the state are finding themselves. But we have to start somewhere and I believe this is where we must start."

Killingsworth said some of last night's recommendations by trustees would be included in a revised tentative budget to be presented to the board at its next regular meeting May 11 at 8 p.m. in Park School.

Mill Valley School District Board Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Announced no action was taken as a result of a closed session to consider disciplinary action against a student.

MARIN CITY — Saw Collins display a copy of "Marin City U.S.A.," which he called "a quality piece of work," and heard him say that copies of the magazine produced in Marin City had been purchased for the district's libraries.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Agreed to hold a four-week summer school program in cooperation with Sausalito at six schools: Alto, Homestead, Marin Terrace, Park, Tamalpais Valley and Edna Maguire.

FACILITIES — Accepted for study a report from Collins on proposed facility changes in the district next year that would include moving three portable classrooms to Edna Maguire School.

AGENDA — Agreed to schedule on an upcoming meeting's agenda a review of the district's gifted children program.

DEVELOPMENT — Heard a proposal by Collins that a volunteer committee composed of an architect, engineer and attorney be formed to review the effect of planned developments on the district. Killingsworth said that five developments in the planning stages would add 473 students in five years.

LEAVES — Approved maternity leaves for teachers Lorna Strotz, Park School, and Delores Nicholas, Tamalpais Valley School; and one-year personal leaves for teachers Donalee Fey and Nancy M. Campbell of Edna Maguire and Sally Willetts of Old Mill. The board declined a leave extension to teacher Mary Ann Steel.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Teachers Chizuko Williams, Marin Terrace; Ann Halversen, Homestead, and Rhoda J. Brassfield, Marin Terrace.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired four interns at Edna Maguire school for next year at salaries of $7,197; Marita Hayhurst, language arts; Stacia Horn, physical education; Laurie Kirk Laurie, arts and Keith Wilson, language arts, arts.

Boating Safety Classes Slated

A series of boating safety classes for Marin Boy Scouts will be conducted from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday and May 9 and 16 by the Marin Power Squadron.

The course will cover fundamentals of equipment, government regulations, rules of the road, lines, compass, first aid and accidents, fire safety and boat hanndling.

Registration, limited to 30 boys, may be made at Scout Hall, Second Avenue and A Street, San Rafael.

Robin Sweeny Not Mayor Of Sausalito

Robin Sweeny was incorrectly identified as mayor of Sausalito in a story in Saturday's Independent-Journal reporting the Golden Gate Bridge District directors' approval of purchase of a ferry.

Alexander R. Imlay is mayor of Sausalito. Mrs. Sweeney was appearing as acting mayor in his absence to present the City of Sausalito's views and concerns in connection with establishment of ferry service between the city and San Francisco.

FCC Orders End To Press Special Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission today ordered an end to preferential telegraph and telephoto rates for the press.

The FCC ordered American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Western Union to file any new rate schedules needed within 30 days and to eliminate the preferential rates within 50 days.

The decision applies, the FCC said, to "private line services for press associations, news agencies, radio networks, radio broadcasting stations, newspapers, periodicals, and other general circulation publications publishing general news for public informatin."

The FCC affirmed an initial decision issued June 17, 1969, by hearing examiner Forest L. McClenning, and agreed with him that press spokesmen had failed to prove that application to them of commercial wire rates would significantly impair the dissemination of news.

The FCC said ATT&T and Western Union were receiving unreasonably low earnings from private line telegraph services and that there were "no service or cost differences that would justify either lower press rates or preferential press conditions, such as part-time leasing privileges, lower night rates, or other clock-hour rate differences advocated by the press."

Greenbrae Collision Injures Novato Man

James Spencer, 22, of 667 Olive Street, Novato, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a sprained neck suffered in an auto accident at 4:05 p.m. yesterday at the east entrance to the Bon Air Shopping Center in Greenbrae.

Larkspur police said Spencer's vehicle collided with a car driven by Evelyn Fink, 25, of 414 Via Hidalgo, Greenbrae, as he was leaving the parking lot and she was entering.

Behr Asks Funds Shift For Point Reyes Land

Peter H. Behr, chairman of the Save Our Seashore Committee, has asked the Department of the Interior to make funds available immediately for purchase of land in the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Behr, reacting to reports that land destined for inclusion in the seashore was being sold at suddenly inflated prices, asked the department to "reprogram funds already appropriated for acquisition of public lands elsewhere and replace such funds with the $7 million which should be approved and available well before June 1."

Behr, whose committee collected 450,000 signatures on petitions which played a major role in securing congressional and administration appropriation of money to complete the seashore, called recent sales "a slap in the face to a public interested in the park."

Portions of the Lake Ranch in the seashore area were recently sold by its owner, A. W. Sweet of Oregon, to his brother and acquaintances at prices ranging from four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

Behr, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Fourth Senatorial District, also asked the Department of the Interior to request the Department of Justice to file a complaint in condemnation at once against any property owner within the park boundaries who is obviously expecting to create evidence by private sales of market values greater than they otherwise would be."

Faculty Seeks Isla Vista Probe

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — The academic senate at University of California campus here has asked the Santa Barbara County Grand Jury to investigate the actions of demonstrators and law officers in the recent Isla Vista disruptions.

Prof. James L. Walters, senate chairman, said Monday the unanimous vote by the faculty body mirrored faculty concern that officers might have used excessive force in putting down the trouble.

One student was fatally wounded by a bullet police say was apparently accidentally fired by an officer.

Lottery System For May's Draft

Marin County's draft quota of 39 men for May will be held to men with lottery numbers under 145, according to Joy Kinzer executive secretary of the Marin Selective Service board.

A typographical error in Saturday's Independent-Journal changed the meaning of a sentence to indicate that only two Marin men would be drafted in May.

Tiburon Delays On Plan For Downtown

Tiburon City Council last night over the strong opposition of Councilman Branwell D. Fanning postponed approval of the Buskirk-Noble downtown plan. (Another Tiburon council story page 1)

The vote to delay action on the plan, long in the making, until May 11, was 4-1 with Fanning dissenting.

Mayor Denis T. Rice said at the outset of a scheduled hearing that perhaps the council wasn't ready to "bring it to a head tonight."

Fanning said the plan approval "has been delayed and delayed" after months of study," and contended further delay would be the "same old stall and stall and restall."

Other council members indicated there were some parts of the plan that were open to study, such as the call for a boatyard, and the road plan.

John S. Hoffmire, former mayor, said if changes were made the plan would have to go back to the planning commission, and then he could foresee a delay of six months. He said the questions that arose during public hearings could be resolved after adoption.

Fanning moved that the council adopt the plan, but there wasn't any second. "I feel the public expected action and we should move ahead tonight," he said.

Still no second and he commented: "If the downtown plan fails after six years work by lack of a second, so be it."

Rice said the plan would be the first matter on the agenda at the next council meeting at 8 p.m. May 11 at city hall.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood as the city's representative to the Association of Bay Area Government with M. Carlisle Becker as alternate, and Miss Ellinwood to the City-County Planning Council with Becker as alternate.

COMMITTEES — Appointed to the council's administration and finance committee, Rice, chairman, and Albert H. Sennett; to the public services committee, Miss Ellinwood, chairman, and Sennett; to the lands and development committee, Fanning, chairman, and Becker.

AD HOC COMMITTEES — Created a special committee on annexation of areas outside the city consisting of Fanning and Sennett, with a recommendation from Rice that there be a special committee on acquisition of city hall facilities and possibly a special committee on downtown, and a recommendation from Fanning that there be a policy committee consisting of the council and the chairmen of the planning commission and parks and recreation commission.

REZONING — Approved rezoning several parcels, owned by North Bay Properties Inc. along Marinero Circle from multiple and single family to planned development, with the intention to hold density at 32 units but the possibility of up to 38 if design of the proposed project warranted it.

RESTAURANT PLAN — Approved a precise plan for additions to Kappie's restaurant at 38 Main Street, submitted by Fred G. Zelinsky.

DRAINAGE PROJECTS — Approved four projects to better surface water drainage systems in the city, at a cost of $9,000 in gasoline tax funds and $3,000 from the general fund.

DIVISO STREET — Authorized calling for bids to improve Diviso Street at Centro West Street, estimated to cost $6,700.

SPRING FESTIVAL — Endorsed plans by the Parks and Recreation Commission to a Spring Festival at Richardson Bay Park, and suggested May 16 rather than May 9 as the date.

POLICY MEETING — Agreed with a recommendation by Sennett that the council have a special meeting within the next four or five weeks to discuss council procedures and the "direction of the community."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until May 11 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Planning Commission Spot Open

Tiburon is seeking applicants for the city planning commission because the April 14 municipal election created a vacancy.

Albert H. Sennett,a planning commissioner, was elected to the city council.

Mayor Denis T. Rice last night issued a call for interested residents to apply for the seat.

Councilmen held a closed session at 12:20 a.m. today to discuss appointing a planning commissioner, but no action was taken.

Seaman Will Be Drummed Out Of Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seaman Roger L. Priest, ordered demoted and drummed out of the Navy for "promoting disloyalty and disaffection" through his antiwar newsletter, says he expected a harsher sentence but will appeal it just the same.

With tears in his eyes, the 26-year-old sailor from Houston, Tex., told reporters he found the sentence of a five-man Navy court-martial Monday "amazing . . . I'm very fortunate."

Priest could have been imprisoned for a maximum of six years on the two counts for which he was convicted last Thursday. He was found innocent of the two more serious charges, urging desertion and soliciting sedition by members of the armed services.

The young sailor called the punishment unwarranted and added he doesn't think "what I've done is bad."

Unless Monday's sentence is reversed, Priest will be reduced from seaman apprentice to seaman recruit—the lowest pay grade—and given a bad conduct discharge.

The sentence was seen as a disappointment to the prosecution.

The convictions came on charges against the May and June 1969 issues of "OM," Priest's newsletter.

De Gaulle 'Great'

PARISH (UPI) — The newspaper France-Soir released today the results of a poll that showed 57 per cent of Frenchmen polled thought Charles de Gaulle was a great president but only 32 per cent regretted his departure. DeGaulle resigned a year ago.

Slide Fear Voiced In Condominium Area

Oceana Marin subdivision, where condominiums and townhouses have been approved north of Dillon Beach, is a dangerous slide area and should not be developed before a thorough engineering and geological survey, in the opinion ofa p rofessor of geology at the University of California in Berkeley.

The warning, by Prof. Clyde Wahrhaftig, was presented to the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday by Acting County Planner Werner Von Gundell.

The commissioners asked Von Gundell to let the Marin County Board of Supervisors know about the slide dangers.

A rezoning to allow 340 condominiums, some of them to be built on bluffs overlooking the Pacific Ocean and Estero de San Antonio, will go before supervisors May. 5.

"The coast north of Dillon Beach is underlain largely by unstable masses of relatively impermeable crushed sandstone and shale, and is subject to very active landsliding," wrote Wahrhaftig.

He said his studies show that in the near future, a block of upland along the bluff-top about 40 feet wide and 100 to 200 feet long will drop into the sea, and that blocks of upland 20 feet or more wide could slip away overnight.

"Geologic considerations zased on our brief survey suggest the very strong liklihood that the planned urban development will be unsuccessful . . ." said the professor.

"A sewage disposal plant, if disrupted by sliding, may pose a threat of epidemic requiring the area to be condemned and access prohibited."

This is the same development that drew strong disapproval from former county planning commissioner, Michael Praszker, on April 13, just before he retired from the commission.

Praszker, a soils engineer, warned fellow commissioners who approved the development that cluster homes on the bluffs north of Dillon Beach could result in disaster because of the poor soil condition and the San Andreas fault.

A total of 675 units have been approved on 688 acres of Oceana Marin. Bodega Bay Lands Inc. and Highway Properties Inc., owners of the property, plan a mixture of residential including conventional homes, townhouses and condominiums.

Tires Taken

Four tires with a total value of $112 and four wheels worth $178 were stolen Thursday from three 1970 Fiats parked at Doug Dicker Sport Car Center, 933 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police reported today.

Campground In Bolinas Is Rejected

A travel-trailer campground in the pastoral Horseshoe Hill-Paradise Valley area of Bolinas was turned down yesterday by a 6-to-0 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission.

Claude and Louise Powell, who own 17 acres on the west side of Olema-Bolinas Upper Road, wanted rezoning from limited agricultural to resort-commercial so that campsites for travel-trailers could be installed.

Capt. David Edwards and attorneys Warren Perry and Roderick P. Martinelli, who own property in Bolinas, declared that the area is surrounded by "country-type residentials" of three to five acres. They charged that trailer campsites would destroy the rural setting.

"It's the wrong zoning, at the wrong place at the wrong time," said Perry.

County Planner Rowland Darneil recommended against the rezoning. He said the Bolinas-Stinson Beach master plan has other areas closer to Bolinas set aside for resort-commercial, but Upper Road is designated for low density residential.

On a motion by Hugh Dougherty and a second by John F. West, commissioners denied the rezoning. Clay Wright, real estate man, represented Mr. and Mrs. Powell in the rezoning request.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

BIKE TRAILS — Incorporated into the county parks and recreation master plan a system of bicycle trails from Sausalito to North Marin. The trail plan calls for use of existing roads, and wherever possible, the improvement of existing paths or construction of new trails devoted primarily to cycling.

TOMALES FILL — Continued until June 8 a request by Sven B. Berg to build an eight-foot retaining wall about 35 feet into Tomales Bay on his property adjacent to Marshall Hotel, and put fill behind the wall so that summer homes can be built. Bryan R. McCarthy, attorney for Berg, asked for the continuance.

VARIANCE — Continued until May 11 a request for variance on lot split by Maurice Schoder, who owns property at 366-A Richardson Way, Tamalpais Valley. Deputy Zoning Administrator Ralph D. Cairns opposed the request because one of the lots proposed by Schoder has no access to a public right of way but will be served by a 10-foot alley.

DETACHED BUILDING — Denied by split vote Robert Franceschini's request for a detached building to house pool equipment at 100 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow. Cairns said Franceschini's home is a corner lot, which requires that a detached building be placed in the rearmost quadrant, not in the location proposed by the owner.

TOMALES BAY FARM — Set May 11 as the time for a public hearing to reconsider Herbert Angress' plans for his Tomales Bay Farm north of Marshall. Planning commissioners had approved the master plan for 62 acres of Angress' property, but county supervisors last week dissected the plan, approving only 22 acres on the bay side of Shoreline Highway.

Artist Takes On A New Role

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A fairly new kind of position—Affiliate Artist—should be of great interest to women with high musical qualifications, and to men too.

Holding such a position is soprano Elizabeth Cole, who has been assigned to the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. She is one of three on the West Coast, the others being in Seattle and Los Angeles.

"The title is Affiliate Artist, not Artist-in-Residence," the vivacious brunette explains, "for we visit the performing arts centers or educational institutions where we are assigned several times during the year. I am in residence at the seminary for three periods of 10 days each.

"During this time our total artistic resources are available to the institutions and communities for such activities as performing formally and informally, talking and demonstrating many phases of performing arts in workshops or conferences that may be held in living rooms, coffee shops or just under the trees.

"OUR PRIMARY purpose is to be cultural ambassadors, creating new and more audiences for the performing arts and breaking down barriers between the audiences and performers.

"Affiliate Artists is founded on the idea that America needs her artists as much as they need her. Many performing artists have had to pay for economic stability by exiling themselves to state-supported theaters of Europe or by taking another job and making a hobby of the profession they love and have taken years to perfect.

"Also being an Affiliate Artist offers a performer the chance to continue developing his art in that capacity and privately. We are paid the year around just as if we resided continually at our place of assignment.

"The program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts, various foundations and business corporations. Sears Roebuck is my sponsor.

"Affiliate Artists are not just talented young beginners," the singer stresses," for the age range is about 28 to 40, and they have a very high level of training and experience so that they are really qualified to be leaders in their institutions and communities."

Miss Cole is an example of the caliber of artist in the program.

She is a graduate of Vassar College with a B.A. degree as music major in voice and piano, and she has done graduate work at the Juilliard School of Music and Columbia University in New York City.

Her vocal and dramatic versatility has won acclaim for her on opera stages from New York to Honolulu, in Broadway musical comedy and operetta. She has appeared in every major TV network and in concert in such places as Carnegie Hall and Town Hall and with many big symphony orchestras. She was a performing member of the Lincoln Center Repertory Company in New York.

Miss Cole went on to explain why after such a distinguished performing career she decided to become an Affiliate Artist.

"THE CONCERT field is dead," she says, "especially in the East, except for top names, and big urban musical organizations like operas and symphonies are in trouble because of rising costs. The arts are going through a tremendous revolution, and artists are going to have to create their own audiences of a different sort and go to the audiences instead of waiting for the audiences to come to them.

"Also they are going to have to redefine their standards of success—at present, a large filled formal concert hall where people are used to being performed at.

"Success should be merely doing the thing for which you are trained and for whihch you put your life on the line. Art centers in smaller communities are better than great big halls. In smaller communities you can create an atmosphere favorable to the arts among ordinary people, not the privileged few. A smaller community is a good place for an artist to live and raise a family because he has a stake in its artistic future. He may even be able to control what is offered in the performing arts instead of allowing commercial agents to determine this."

Having a family was another reason Miss Cole chose to become an Affiliate Artist. She is the widow of playwright Morton Wishengrad and mother of two children, Nina, 15, and Dan, 13, both of whom have performed on stage with her in the East.

"I could not accept many leading roles because I was not free to travel," she says, "when I became a mother. I found I had to give them up, but I just had to keep performing somehow."

"I have been an Affiliate Artist two years and was one of the first 10, but when I was assigned to the Theological Seminary here I thought, 'Good heavens, what am I going to do with a bunch of ministers!' Now I see they are human, with many of the same problems artists have.

"Most are from fairly conservative backgrounds and are about to enter a life very different from what they grew up in. They want to be where the action is. A lot of them have talents they would like to integrate into their ministry.

"MANY MINISTERS are now using music to get to young people. They have found they can go from rock to other types of music. It helps them break down barriers.

"One of the things I will do here is act as a liaison between the seminary, which is rather isolated, and the community. It has many cultural resources which have been available to the community, and there probably could be more things on campus that could be free to the public."

Miss Cole and Wilbur Russell, head of music at the seminary, are already planning some programs for her next visit in the fall.

During her just-concluded second visit she performed at the Tamalpais Retirement Center in Greenbrae, at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo and at San Quentin prison.

She hopes to broaden contacts with the community, singing with some of the Marin musical organizations, which may be persuaded to open rehearsals to the public—a very good way to create new interest in music, she says. She also hopes to go into the public schools and perform for business organizations like Rotary.

"Getting business leaders involved," she suggests, "is a good way to introduce music to people who do not necessarily know much about it, and besides, business can use the arts. Sears Roebuck is at present underwriting 18 Affiliate Artist appointments, including mine.

"One of the greatest ways to build new audiences is getting to the children before they are in junior high school when their tastes are being formed They make great audiences. Retirement villages or homes are another good field."

The San Francisco Theological Seminary is an excellent place for the Affiliate Artist program, because the arts and their relationship to man, his life and his faith have long been a keen interest of the seminary faculty and student body.

ONE OF THREE Affiliate Artists on the West Coast, Elizabeth Cole sees her role at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo as that of cultural ambassador. "In smaller communities you can create an atmosphere favorable to the arts among ordinary people, not the privileged few," she says.

British Mothers Push Marriage Before Career

By JACK HILL
London Express Service

LONDON — A girl's worst friend is her mother, 200 women delegates at a national conference were told Friday.

And the reason — claimed woman journalist Nina Gadd — is because in many cases the mothers of Britain are putting marriage before careers.

There were gasps and giggles at the 40th annual Women's Trade Unions Council meeting in Weymouth's pavillion when 35-year-old Miss Gadd — a National Union of Journalists delegate from the Central London Branch — got up to support a motion calling for wider government publicity on its training plans for women.

It went through unanimously — but only after ash blonde Nina had declared through the rostrum microphone:

"The reason why girls don't get opportunities in education and training is because their worst friend is the mum in many cases.

"Mothers of Britain encourage girls to get their man. Jobs are a stopgap between school and marriage."

She went on: "If only a mother would realize that it's far better for her daughter to get a good education and learn a profession properly, this would probably lead to a fuller life and happier marraige."

In some small towns, Miss Gadd said, "social pressures by parents and their contemporaries are so great that young girls spend far more time hunting for husbands than in carving out a career."

Perhaps because of these "social pressures," she suggested, some young people tried to escape by taking drugs and "dropping out."

Too many women today were merely regarded as domestic drudges "because they have little knowledge apart from what goes on in their kitchen.

"It is claimed in many cases," said Miss Gadd, "it's the women's own fault. I don't agree with this generalization.

"The conditioning of British girls makes early marriages the Utopian peak of a girl's life."

And finally she had this bit of advice for the mothers of Britain:

"Wake up and actively encourage your daughters to train themselves for a career in the widest sense — so that at marriage they do not become just cabbages."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

How Can We Bring About Peace If Neighbors Can't Get Along

DEAR HELEN:

We all say we want peace, but if we can't make it work in a small community, a neighborhood block, or in our own homes, how do we expect to ever bring about world peace?

How many people are there who really get along with their families? How many neighbors seem to enjoy fighting and feuding? Look at all the dissension about the way your city is run.

It seems that we're saying, "We want peace so bad we'll fight for it!" That's like the father saying to his kids, "Shut up and get along, or I'll brain you!"

We'll never have peace anywhere unless we learn to love our fellowman, and that doesn't mean only the ones who look and think like us. Why can't people really like each other? — FOR TRUE PEACE

DEAR FTP:

Because people don't really try to understand each other. May that day come. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm dating a boy who has had trouble with the law. He's been busted twice for drugs. He wants me to go away with him, but I'd rather wait a year and get married. My folks are raising Cain about me going with him. How can I make them understand the problem is just insecurity? — KNOWS SHE CAN HELP

DEAR KSCH:

Your parents do understand the problem is just insecurity — theirs. It won't be solved until you break off with this two-time loser.

You're headed for a messed-up life of drugs and drifting unless you drop the little mother role and realize that a boy can only be helped when he's ready to help himself. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If my big brother and I could get along together, things would be a lot quieter around the house.

I can't help arguing with him when he acts so darn superior. He says I act bratty, but it's just because he riles me into it.

How can I make life easier for both of us, and especially my parents? — TROUBLED 12-YEAR-OLD GIRL

DEAR GIRL:

Try praise. Let your brother know you think he's great (even if you must act a bit), and pretty soon he may start living up to the role. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was practically engaged to this fellow I never met. We started corresponding when he was in the Service (he's a friend of a friend), and he wrote for two years. He said we'd be married when he came home, and I believed him.

Now I hear from the friend who introduced us that he is engaged to another girl, and the wedding date has been set.

I've saved all of his letters. Could I take him to court for breach of promise or something? — LEFT 3,000 MILES FROM THE ALTAR

DEAR LEFT:

A man can't be sued for changing his mind about marrying a girl he never met.

"Breach of promise?" Such suits went out of style with the flapper. How did a teen-ager ever hear the phrase? — H.

Pat Nixon Is 'Interested' But Mum On Equality Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First Lady Pat Nixon is "very interested" in women's equality but prefers not to discuss it publicly while Congress is studying legislation in that field, the White House said Monday.

"She does not speak out on issues where she does not consider herself an expert, and particularly matters of legislation," said Mrs. Connie Stuart, Mrs. Nixon's staff director.

Reminded that President Nixon has long been on record in favor of the amendment proposed, a constitutional amendment on women's rights, Mrs. Stuart replied: "Mrs. Nixon does indeed support what her husband believes."

"She has indeed indicated a great interest in this type of legislation . . .but does not like to speak because it is pending before Congress," Mrs. Stuart said.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., introduced the amendment, which would rule that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

PAT NIXON

Similar women's rights amendments have been introduced during every congressional session since 1923. The Senate approved such amendments in 1950 and 1953, but they died in the House.

Both Mrs. Nixon and her daughter Julie Eisenhower "are aware women do not always have equal rights," Mrs. Stuart said, and "obviously they hope they will."

Women's groups have been urging the White House to make a public a task force report on women's rights and responsibilities submitted to Nixon last Dec. 15. The report cites "discriminatory practices against women" and urges passage of the equal rights amendment.

It also recommends that Nixon set up a White House office on womens' rights to provide a link between government and private programs to wipe out such discrimination.

Barbers Celebrate 50 Years

Nina and Carl Michael Barber of Mill Valley, teen-age sweethearts since they met in Denver, Colo., were married 50 years ago today, and their four children will host a reception for them Saturday.

Nina and Carl attended schools in Denver and were working when they met, she as a stenographer and he as a machinist with the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad. They were married on April 28, 1920, in Denver.

Three years later they moved to McGill, Nev., when Mr. Barber got a job with the Kennecott Copper Company in Ely, and they lived there 21 years. At the end of that time they moved to their present home in Mill Valley on Amicita Street.

Mr. Barber worked at Marinship during World War II until it was closed and was employed as superintendent of the shop at A. G. Schoonmaker until he retired last year.

The Barbers' oldest son, Robert John Barber, was killed in an accident while he was in training for the U.S. Navy Air Force. They have two sons and two daughters.

Their daughter Claire Ruth, Mrs. Phillip Hyatt of Loma Verde, has three children, Catherine and Michael Hyatt, and Mrs. Michael Burrell of Novato, whose children, David and Beth Ann, are the Barbers' only great grandchildren.

Their daughter Nina Jane, Mrs. Harrison Miller of Colorado Springs, Colo., has three children, Gary Michael, Karen and Cherryl.

Gordon Grant Barber of St. Helena has four children, Deborah, Steven, Albert and Justin, and Richard Carl Barber of Yorba Linda, Colo., has two children, Kevin Michael and Kerri.

Gardening is the major interest of the Barbers, but Nina Barber also enjoys crocheting and making wall plaques of crushed glass, beads and marbles and taking family movies.

Mr. Barber, his wife says, is known as Mr. Fix-It for the neighborhood.

Mrs. Barber is a charter member of the Women's Auxiliary of Muir Woods Post 6741, Veterans of Foreign Wars, founded in 1947 and has held all of its offices. She is the current treasurer.

The Barbers are members of the Senior Citizens of the International Association of Machinists.

The reception given by their children will be held Saturday from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall in Mill Valley with some 60 guests attending.

Hospital Tour For Expectant

A kaffee klatch for expectant women in the Petaluma Hospital District will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma. Mrs. Margarethe Kircher, R.N. in the maternity department will conduct a tour of the hospital for the guests.

The hospital is located at Hayes Lane and El Rose Drive in Petaluma.

If you don't get the point of this new research*, you're losing customers

The percentages of women planning, shopping and spending for each item in a week are very small.

This finding, from the most complete research ever done on the retail customer, is nothing to brush off lightly. (Unless you want to brush off business).

Let's see what it means: Take women's dresses. Only 7 women out of 100 interviewed in Week I planned to buy a dress soon. In Week II, 5 out of 100 actually shopped for a dress. And only 3 bought. But the ones who bought weren't necessarily among the 7 who planned to buy!

This pattern is true for every item in all stores, except food and drug-sundries (the necessities). The market is fantastically small on any given day, in any given week. It is not a huge, faceless group just waiting for your merchandise.

Take major appliances: the findings show that 16,700 women must be reached to sell every 100 major appliances sold in all stores in town in a week!

And wouldn't you know it? Three out of four items bought by women in the second week of the survey weren't even planned in the first week. So, those who plan don't necessarily buy, and those who buy didn't even know a few days before that they would soon make a purchase decision!

The point is: no store can know when or where women will actually buy. If you're out of the market with your advertising you're out of sight, out of mind. But if you're in, with a consistent schedule of smaller-space ads to supplement your larger ads, you draw this ever-changing, dynamic market to you. You turn "planners" into buyers of your items. And you get the random buyer to become an actual purchaser.

Your ads in the Independent-Journal give you "market command." Because here you reach 70% of all Marin County households. You reach a tremendous audience. And you get immediate response. Just a better way of doing more business. Call your I-J Ad-Man now and make this research work for you.

Nixon To Hold Off School Plan Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has decided against pressing for a Supreme Court ruling on the legality of segregated schools resulting from housing patterns, the Justice Department's top civil rights lawyer says.

The reason, Jerris Leonard said Monday, is the administration has no solutions to offer should the high court strike down unofficial—or de facto—segregation as unconstitutional.

Leonard thus made clear what President Nixon had implied in his recent statement on school segregation in which he said the administration would avoid "provoking the courts into extreme decision."

The Supreme Court has not ruled that "racial isolation by itself requires a constitutional remedy, even where that racial isolation may be brought about by official action or inaction," Leonard told newsmen.

The high court has held unconstitutional the official—or de jure—type of segregation existing in the South but has not spoken on the question of whether the Constitution requires widespread busing to achieve racial balance in neighborhood schools.

Leonard also said statewide desegregation suits once contemplated against Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina may not need to be filed since, he said, voluntary compliance is coming along.

Famous Rockwell Painting Stolen

NEW YORK (UPI)—An oil painting by Norman Rockwell of a doctor ministering to a broken doll while a young girl anxiously looks on was reported stolen Monday by a New York physician who valued it at $50,000.

The original painting, reproduced on the cover of the defunct Saturday Evening Post, apparently was stolen from the office of Dr. George Roberts on the first floor of a Brooklyn apartment building where he also lives.

The office had been closed over the weekend, Roberts told police.

New York Police On Strike Verge

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

As they approach a midnight deadline for a strike by 80 per cent of the force, New York City policemen have scheduled a meeting to decide their response to a city-requested court order prohibiting the strike. Elsewhere, Minneapolis teachers moved to end a three-week strike.

New York City obtained the temporary court restraint Monday after Mayor John V. Lindsay charged that the policemen's salary demands would "drive the city into bankruptcy." He added that the "unlawful action ... could place in jeopardy the safety of the citizens."

President Edward J. Kiernan of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association said the strike, which he contended was a "job action," was called to back police demands for an additional $2,700 in pay over their 27-month contract.

Kiernan conceded that the plan violates the state's Taylor Law, which forbids strikes, work stoppages or slowdowns by public employes. The city used it as the basis for obtaining the court order, but the law has been violated in several walkouts.

The PBA has based its salary demand on a contract clause that calls for salaries of patrolmen to be maintained in a ratio of 3.0 to 3.5 to those of sergeants, who were given a pay hike in February. Current pay for a first-grade patrolman is $10,950 a year.

In Minneapolis, the Minneapolis Federation of Teachers Local 59, AFL-CIO, scheduled a vote Tuesday on a tentative contract.

Jubilation swept a meeting of the 1,800-member MFT Monday when word was received of the tentative agreement. Details of the settlement were not immediately available, but one union leader praised its provisions regarding class size and preparation time.

During most of the strike—the city has kept the schools closed to the system's 68,000 pupils.

In another development, the Chicago Sun-Times reported that the top leadership of the Teamsters Union has been summoned to Washington for a final preballoting review on Thursday of a tentative national contract.

The contract provides $1.10 an hour in increased wages over three years. However, wildcat strikes by truck drivers have developed in scattered locations to demand a better settlement.

Under the contract that expired March 31, drivers earned $4.15 an hour.

In North Brunswick, N.J., Robert J. Coar, president of Teamsters Local 701, said his local has reached the "first major breakthrough in the East" by obtaining a three-year contract with wage increases adding up to $1.65 an hour.

Some Chicago truckers earlier won a similar agreement with carriers and many of the striking truckers have cited the $1.65 figure as their demand.

Carr said his agreement was worked out with Moore Trucking Co. of Piscataway.

Meanwhile, pressure mounted in the protracted New York newspaper negotiations as the printers union increased by an hour the length of its slowdowns at the New York Times.

The printers, who have singled out the Times for slowdowns since union contracts expired March 30, increased the length of their no-work periods to an estimated 15½ hours out of 21½ working hours.

The printers have been considered the key union in negotiations between 10 unions and the Times, the Daily News, the New York Post and the Long Island Press.

The unions have turned down a management offer which provided wage increases totalling 24.79 per cent over three years.

Stolen Auto Found Stripped At School

A 1947 Buick belonging to Harry W. McCarley, 59, of 119 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, was discovered stripped at Miller Creek School Saturday, after it apparently had been used by joyriding juveniles, police reported today.

McCarley had earlier listed the car as stolen, the police said.

Work Furlough Inmate Missing

A San Quentin work furlough prisoner, scheduled to be paroled in 10 days, failed to report Friday to his job as a truck driver for a private company in San Francisco.

The prison listed Shelby L. Hodges, 29, of Fresno County, as having escaped.

According to Albert R. Jacobs, associate warden, Hodges had left the prison at 6 a.m. Friday but failed to report to his job or return to the prison.

Hodges, who began in the work furlough program on April 6, came to San Quentin in October 1967 on a burglary and two prior felony convictions.

FCC Survey Pinpoints Phone Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Statistics gathered by the Federal Communications Commission indicate the nation's phone service has deteriorated over the past two years with New Yorkers—as many of them suspect—getting the worst service of all.

Los Angeles seems to be getting some of the best service.

The FCC, in a study initiated last fall has collected figures from the Bell Telephone System on the quality of phone service in 20 major population areas, and is awaiting statistics from seven independent telephone companies.

While a final analysis is still in the works the commission's Common Carrier Bureau is willing to reveal the raw statistics, but not interpret them.

But some of the figures speak for themselves.

NEW YORK SERVICE

They show, for example, it takes longer to get a phone installed in New York City than anywhere else. And once you get it, you'll have a harder time getting a dial tone or an operator on it. If you ask the operator to help put your call through, she'll have a harder time doing it from New York than anywhere else.

New Yorkers also find themselves seeking phone repairs more often than anybody except the folks in Southern Florida, and, like the Floridians, they have to call back more than most people to get it.

On the other hand, New Yorkers' experience with direct-dialed calls, both incoming and outgoing, seems about typical.

BEST RECORD

Los Angeles shows the best service record in only one of the nine major tests—Angelenos don't have to call back so often after they order repairs.

But their service can be rated best in general because performance in each category usually is above average.

Whether the phone service in one area is better than in another depends what kind of service is studied; and whether any service is good or bad depends how fast and reliable one expects it to be.

The FCC has drawn no conclusions yet from its statistics, but by adding each area's rank in all nine categories a kind of score can be reached to serve as a rough rule of thumb—a tally of who seems to be having the most or least problems.

Approximately 100 million automobiles are now registered in the U.S.

$3,500 MOUSETRAP

Festival Troupe In Fight To Stay Alive

By LARRY MOWELL

The Festival Theater, Marin's innovative experimental theater for the past nine years, is faced with extinction unless it can raise $3,500 before its new play's scheduled opening night, May 8, according to producer Elizabeth Berryhill.

The theater group led by its producer and founder, Miss Berryhill, made a bold jump into experimental theater last summer and landed in very deep water.

"I Wish I Were A Trumpet," written by Miss Berryhill and Mark Bucci of New York, took a financial bath, costing $25,000 that has threatened the existence of the theater.

Miss Berryhill's group has a mailing list of more than 12,000 people who have expressed interest in following performances, but the greatest support in its time of crisis has come from its cast.

At Friday's rehearsal of the new play, "Better Mouse Trap," opened to the public to raise funds, the cast itself pledged to cover $1,675 of the debt, Miss Berryhill said. All are working without pay.

The theater which has delighted so many Bay Area residents for 24 years, got only $400 in outside donations instead of the hoped-for $4,800.

Festival's woes began last year when it separated from a two-year, $48,000 federal education grant, which had keyed it to children's theater, and struck out for the uncharted waters of experimental theater.

The Festival has performed a smorgasbord of plays ranging from "Rumpelstiltskin" to "All My Sons" by Arthur Miller and Samuel Beckett's "Waiting For Godot."

In all its work the theater group has won a reputation for courage in presenting new material; a trait that finally endangered its existence.

The Festival Theater, started by Miss Berryhill in Berkeley in 1946 came to San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo in 1960 with its Straw Hat Revue, "The Face Is Familiar" and "The Cup of Trembling," based on the life of persecuted German theologian Deitrich Boenhoffer.

Miss Berryhill wrote and directed both works and has written many of the group's productions since then.

"Better Mousetrap" is no exception. She wrote it and directs the revue that is not a revue or a play or anything conventional, it's a theatrical cheesehouse, according to Miss Berryhill.

It is as avant-garde as its predecessor that failed so miserably, but Miss Berryhill is optimistic about it.

If some saviors produce $3,500, the Festival Theater will present a very innovative play in Mousetrap. "We're completely changing the environment of Festival Theater. . .," Miss Berryhill said.

Rows of chairs for the audience have been replaced by small tables for food and the stage is gone, replaced by a series of screens and small stages.

The 12-member revue cast will be an all-purpose one—singing, dancing, working the lights and even waiting on tables.

For the revue itself, Miss Berryhill has gathered songs, sketches, poems and graffiti into 20-to-30-minute units with intermissions enabling the audience to order food and chat.

"Mousetrap" is designed for informality and friendliness and enjoyment of life, according to its author.

Meanwhile, she is waiting to find out whether the theater group can survive.

How Do You Judge A Judge? Voter League Tries

How do you judge a judge?

Answers to that question are important to Marin voters this year because, for the first time in nearly a quarter-century, they will have a choice of candidates for a judgeship.

Thirteen candidates are in the field for the municipal court vacancy created by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.'s decision not to seek another term. It is the first time there has been a contest for a court position in Marin since the late N. Charles Brusatori defeated Carlos Freitas for a Superior Court seat in 1956.

THE CENTRAL MARIN League of Women Voters went to many attorneys — the men most knowledgeable about the courts — seeking answers to the questions, "How do you judge a judge?"

The league also asked each of the 13 candidates: "What opportunities for effecting change do you foresee as a municipal judge?"

The answers they got, plus a description of the Municipal Court for the Marin Central Judicial District, in which the vacancy occurs, and of the jurisdiction of municipal court are contained in a "Briefs on the Judiciary" folder the league has just issued. It will be distributed to league members and any others who want it. Copies may be obtained by writing or calling the league at P. O. Box 2174, San Rafael, or Mrs. H. James Compton, voter service chairman, in Kentfield.

THE LEAGUE FOUND that, in addition to knowledge of the law, a judge's qualifications should include a wide variety of legal experience, fairness, wisdom, patience, objectivity, and dignity. None of these, of course, is easy to judge in a candidate with whom the voter is not personally acquainted.

"The above qualities," says the league's folder, "comprise the characteristic known as 'judicial temperament,' considered to be the most important qualification for a judge. . .

"A judge must possess the ability to communicate clearly, to express himself and charge the jury with duties on a level which can be readily understood by the layman. He must provide a just and fair trial for each individual, striking a balance between efficiency and careful application of justice to each case."

IN THEIR RESPONSES to the league's question, many of the candidates stressed speeding up the trial process. Several of them advocated night court. Others put stress on strict enforcement, or on retaining or recapturing the dignity of courts.

The candidates — all attorneys, since that is a requirement — are Charles R. Best of San Anselmo, A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr. of Mill Valley, Jack L. Blaine of Greenbrae, Howard K. Morehouse of San Rafael, Harry E. Rice of Tiburon, Donald Rosenberg of Tiburon, Robert A. Smallman of Kentfield, Frank Solomon Jr. of Marinwood, Thomas T. Storer of Novato, Joshua W. Thomas of Novato, Tom Thorner of Kentfield, Harold J. Truett of San Anselmo, and Ernest C. Zunino of Fairfax.

BEST suggested improving court efficiency by appointing attorneys at temporary referees to dispose of non-jury matters.

BJORKLUND emphasized: "Enforce the law as the legislature intended it to be enforced; . . decisions based on this law and not on what they think this law should be."

BLAINE held that "most changes must of necessity be legislative," but cited the need "to work with citizenry to restore respect and dignity to courts."

MOREHOUSE stressed the need for speedier justice. He suggested eliminating minor traffic charges from municipal court, as provided in proposed legislation.

RICE declared: "By appropriate sentencing, convicted pushers and perpetrators of violence can be isolated from society."

ROSENBERG proposed a night court for traffic cases, and simplifying procedure in minor traffic cases "by expanding 1968 legislation which I drafted." He proposed treatment facilities instead of jail for alcoholics. "We must," he said, "restore public confidence in the courts."

SMALLMAN said: "Purpose of the courts is determination of guilt or innocence and should not be used for an attack on our American system of jurisprudence . . . Convicted drug pushers must be punished severely . . . Unecessary delays must be eliminated."

SOLOMON advocated night court for both traffic and small claims cases, "simpler procedures, fewer delays, . . . improved methods of scheduling jury matters."

STORER held that the municipal court judge "can effect a positive influence upon the community" and perhaps "improve relationships with young people."

THOMAS urged reduction of delays by granting continuances only with good cause, adoption by municipal court of the superior court's jury selection system, and emphasis on the responsibilities of probation.

THORNER said, "The judge's attitude and his explanation of the law are as important . . . as the law itself."

TRUETT proposed transferring juvenile traffis cases to juvenile court and appointing referees to handle minor contested traffic matters.

ZUNINO called for "re-evaluation of judicial attitudes" and promised to try to "eliminate the tremendous backlog of cases pending." He, too, suggested a night court.

Conflicts Of Interest Widespread Among Judges

The extent of conflict of interest, as it affects the judiciary, is becoming more and more evident as the Senate looks closely into the qualifications of Supreme Court justices for the first time in many years.

The first disclosure of such conflict came with President Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination of Justice Abe Fortas to replace Earl Warren as chief justice. Although Fortas had been confirmed as associate justice earlier with only cursory study, his nomination to head the court touched off a bitter wrangle based largely on his receiving legal fees from wheeler-dealer Louis Wolfson while a member of the court.

A much lesser conflict of interest was dredged up to against Clement Haynsworth when President Richard M. Nixon nominated him for the court. It resulted in Haynsworth's rejection by the Senate.

NOW, REP. GERALD R. FORD, R-Mich., has initiated a move for impeachment proceedings against Justice William O. Douglas. And the heart of Congressman Ford's case lies in the conflicts of interest represented by Douglas's association with pornography publisher Ralph Ginzburg, and with Albert Parvin, former associate of gangland figures whose Parvin Foundation has figured in a series of Washington scandals running back to the Bobby Baker case.

And a couple of very minor conflicts of interest have been brought to light involving President Nixon's newest Supreme Court nominee, Harry A. Blackmun.

THERE HAS LONG been a sort of protective myth about gentlemen who don the judicial robes. The public, by and large, has chosen to believe that in becoming judges, these men cast aside more mundane interests.

Of course, this isn't true. Appointment to the bench does not cut a man off from the business associations he may have established as an attorney. And many attorneys build their fortunes through the corporations they serve.

Since widespread conflict of interest involving judges seems indicated by the recent disclosures, it might be well to require that every judge file a public declaration of all his financial holdings. Such a requirement was included in the California conflict of interest law which the judges of our state Supreme Court decided was unconstitutional.

MARIN VOTERS have this year, for the first time in many years, an opportunity to choose among a wide field of candidates for one judgeship, that on the municipal court bench being vacated by Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

Wouldn't a statement of financial holdings by each of the 13 candidates give Marin voters the same kind of information that has played such a heavy role in Senate actions on Supreme Court justices?

Of course, this would do nothing about disclosing conflicts that may involve our judges already on the bench. But it would be a start.

"While you're at it, chief, just in case . . "

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Names Reversed On Two Letters

Some kind of composing room gremlin reversed the names on two letters to "What Our Readers Say" in last Friday's Independent Journal.

As a result, a letter on "Max Rafferty's Reading Gains" written by Gail B. Rey of Belvedere appeared over the name of Jan Hayward of Terra Linda. And a letter on "Knitting, 'Feelies' Good for Children" (on which the lines of the headline also were reversed) appeared over Mrs. Rey's name.

Mrs. Rey is one of Rafferty's campaign officials in Marin. We don't know how Mrs. Hayward feels about Rafferty, but she is a booster for such projects as knitting in nursery school.

The Independent-Journal regrets the error and hopes everything is now set straight.

Who Best Serves Catholic Church?

There are 50,000 "statistical" Catholics in Marin. Many, I am sure, were appalled to read in your April 22 issue of the refusal of Msgr. Thomas J. Bowe, pastor of the new $6,000,000 cathedral, to permit I-J pictures and story. What has the San Francisco Typographical Union strike, with over $100,000 sabotage to date, got to do with the new cathedral which needs favorable publicity, especially in the suburbs?

Msgr. Bowe and Msgr. Donnell Walsh, chancellor of the archdiocese, may not realize that the I-J publishes more reviews of Catholic books (which I write) than the Monitor, "official newspaper of the Archdiocese of San Francisco." More Marin Catholics read the I-J than all Catholic publications combined.

Who best serves the Catholic Church and all faiths, the I-J or union terrorists?

Catholic Distressed By Priest's Stand

Today I am ashamed to be a Catholic, and also ashamed that I scrimped for 30 months to pay a pledge to rebuild your catehdral.

Enclosed please find the building certificate, which you may keep which was awarded to my husband and myself upon completion of our pledge. Also enclosed please find an article clipped from last night's Independent - Journal (April 22). I have underlined the offending statements which are purported to have been made by Msgr. Walsh speaking on your behalf. What right do you have to speak for the thousands of Catholic in this archdiocese and elsewhere who made the sacrifices and paid the pledges to build, what in my opinion is a monstrosity but more than that a total waste of money? In this day when children are starving all over the world and a goodly number of the world's population goes to bed hungry each night the sight of such grandeur makes one quite sick to the stomach.

I would like to know what kind of man is in such a position of authority as to be the spiritual leader of our archdiocese yet can make so irresponsible a statement as to say "he is in complete agreement with Msgr. Bowe even though he is not familiar with the issues." He claims "we do not interfere with our priests.". Maybe it is about time you started interfering when they make totally irresponsible statements to the press that give the whole Catholic Church a black eye . . .

Young Man's Blood On Reagan's Hands

When the actor-governor of one of the United States of America can call for "bloodbaths" one week and cry crocodile tears the next because someone was killed — something is rotten.

The San Rafael I-J is a study in reaction, with their April 21 editorial canonizing Kevin Moran, and calling for "tougher laws" (Ronnie's goal in stirring up trouble). When a young man watching in Berkeley was killed, reaction's view was "so what, he shouldn't have been there."

Right, no one should be killed — but Ronald Reagan has the blood on his hands. Since the day he took office he has been encouraging violence. It's his ticket to re-election.

Editorial Support Helped Tax Issue

Please accept this letter as my sincere expression of appreciation to the Independent-Journal for your very supportive editorial on behalf of our April 14 school tax and bond election.

As you well know, this district was quite successful, with the community reaffirming strongly its desire for quality education in its schools. I am certain your editorial on behalf of the district had considerable influence upon those who read it. ...

I know I speak for the board of trustees, the vast majority of parents, and all the employees in the school district when I say thank you for helping us maintain a quality school system in Dixie.

Snow And Music Help Build Austria Back To Prosperity

VIENNA—On the day after the treaty was signed in 1955 freeing Austria of occupation troops, Bruno Kreisky, then state secretary for foreign affairs, got a rude shock. He was told by a highly placed British official that Austria was economically not a viable country and therefore its future was dark.

Kreisky (who has just become chancellor heading a minority government of Social Democrats) pondered this a moment. Then he said: "You forgot one important resource we have. Snow."

IN THE 15 YEARS that have intervened, Austria has harnessed mountain rivers fed by melting snows to create large resources of electric power for industry. The Austrian schilling is today one of the strongest currencies in Europe.

Snow supplies another form of revenue. Skiers from all over the world use Austria's superb slopes and thereby contribute to the flow of tourist dollars. On a per capita basis Austria's earnings from tourism are greater than those of any other country in Europe. Kreisky puts tourist revenue at $300 million and the returns from electric power at $200 million.

And there is an intangible that is attracting thousands of visitors who never see the ski slopes. That is music. In the capital of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Strauss and Brahms, the Austrians have made music a national industry.

WITH THE MUSICAL arts in the United States struggling to stay alive, the relationship between government and the performing arts in this country of 7,400,000 population is instructive. The government provides a subsidy of about $20 million for opera, theater and such galas as the annual Salzburg Music Festivals. When he was foreign minister, from 1959 to 1966, Kreisky often wryly observed that the subsidy for the performing arts was larger than the budget for the foreign ministry.

It has produced splendid rewards. An initial performance at the Vienna Opera the other evening of Verdi's "Macbeth" was of a standard that New York or London might envy. Voices, staging, chorus, the ensemble were superb, and repeatedly the packed house stopped the opera with prolonged bravos and applause. Music is for the Austrians not merely a tourist attraction but a cherished heritage.

The subsidy also covers a theater presenting light opera, where a recent production was "West Side Story," and a straight dramatic theater. It also pays part of the cost of the Salzburg Music Festivals that draw so many students and music lovers each year.

All this would be impossible without the federal subsidy and, so far as the visitor can tell, no one questions the role of government in the performing arts. It has, of course, ancient lineage. The opera and the state theaters were under royal patronage when the Hapsburgs ruled the Austro-Hungarian Empire. This meant that the money to sustain these cultural institutions, above and beyond revenue from the box office, came out of the public purse.

Indochina Trial Balloon Shot Down By Peking

By BRUCE W. MUNN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The Soviet Union held out promise of a new Geneva conference on Southeast Asia recently and, after letting the idea incubate for 92 hours, deftly but definitely backpedaled.

Diplomatic sources at the U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Vienna say that Russian Ambassador Jacob Malik was talking not to the United States and the West but to Communist China when he told a news conference:

"The real situation appears to be that only a new Geneva conference could bring about a fresh situation and relax tensions in the Indochina peninsula."

VIENNA REPORTS said the Soviet Union backed off the suggestion because of negative reaction from Communist China and North Vietnam, both of which would be represented at new talks on the Vietnam-Laos-Cambodia situation.

Later, in a recorded interview, Malik added qualifications.

"Only a new Geneva conference alone can decide the problem of activity of the (international control) commission (for Indochina)," he said. "However, convening such a conference is unrealistic at the present time."

The International Control Commission—now all but defunct—was set up by the 1954 Geneva conference to police agreements ending the French Indochina war. The Soviet Union and Britain are cochairmen of that conference and could convene a new meeting for the purpose of giving the Control Commission a bigger role in keeping peace.

THE DIPLOMATIC trial balloon— this one probably shot down by Red China—is not new to the Kremlin. Nor is Malik's role as a clever middleman.

In February, 1949, Malik and U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup met at the United Nations—one version is that it was in a men's room—and as result of a Malik reply to a Jessup question, negotiations followed that ended the Berlin blockade.

In May, 1951, U.S. Ambassador George C. Kennan called on Malik to talk about the Korean war. Malik offered views which he expanded later in a U.N. radio broadcast and armistice talks followed.

Bridge Board Adopts Gag Rule For Long-Winded Commuters

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin commuters like children, are to be seen but not heard at board meetings of Golden Gate Bridge District directors.

This was the directors' paternal lesson last week when they adopted a policy to permit members of the public to address them only with the unanimous consent of all directors.

Even persons who request in writing to speak at a board meeting, and then come expecting to speak, can be blackballed by any one of the 18 directors.

And if anyone wanting to speak survives these tests of his determination, he still will get a voice only if he "can be accommodated on the agenda."

IN ONE of the least enlightened pronouncements heard recently at the bridge board, San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras said, "If there is some reason a director doesn't want someone to speak, he should have that right." He actually is one of the commuters' best friends on the bridge board, but his imperial view this time did not do him credit.

Several directors, led by Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley, unsuccessfully argued for requiring only a majority of board members' approval to speak, but he won only four other votes.

In fairness to the board, the new policy was generated by a horde of gloriously uninformed commuters which recently beset its meetings. Granted that such persons should not be given board time to get a basic education, the repressive new policy still was unwarranted.

The board has an out, of course. It can ignore the new policy unless it sees fit to use It. This has been the case with its policy to wait two weeks to act on committee recommendations.

Little has been heard of this policy, and it now is common to see recommendations voted in committee on Thursdays come before the board for final action the next morning.

It may be more efficient, but does little for democratic processes.

FURTHER INSULT was heaped on Marin commuters last week by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, which tried to scuttle the bridge district's joint bus and ferry system when it came before a committee of county supervisors.

Chamber members, of course, eagerly welcome commuters when they go shopping. To kick when these same Marinites try to get to work seems ungracious.

Rohnert Park's Quiet Days Ended By Election Bitterness

Rohnert Park — A placid and calm community on the surface — saw a city council election vigorously fought on a highly personal basis and appears headed for months of continued controversy.

The city was incorporated in August of 1962. Past election campaigns have been low-key affairs generating little interest. Now that the city has reached a population of more than 6,000, those days seem to be a vague part of history.

Incumbent city Councilmen Arthur N. Roberts and James W. Rogers met strong challengers in Louis G. Beary and Billy C. Ayers. As in any small town, the campaign was largely waged over the fencetops. There were rumors of corruption and badly managed personal lives being bandied about.

EVEN THOUGH the election is done with both men re-elected, the matter does not rest.

Spearheaded by developer and attorney Paul Golis, the drive against Rogers, as well as Councilman Jack Buchanan and City Mgr. Peter M. Cahinan continues.

There are those who believe the action to seek a grand jury investigation into business dealings the three men have with the manager of Storer Cable TV is the culmination of years of increasing animosity between Golis and the council.

Golis, known as the "father of Rohnert Park," was the original developer. He has been at odds continually with the council when development varies from his original plans for the community.

Supporters of the councilmen and city manager maintain that only spite caused Golis to level the charges. His supporters claim that he could not longer remain silent about corruption he knew was evident.

An investigation by either the grand jury or state attorney general's office would clear the air over specific conflict of interest charges, but whether it would mend the basic divisions in the community is uncertain.

ROHNERT PARK is unusual in that it is a totally planned city with virtually no "old—timers" or precedents to follow.

Golis, in requesting approval for his various development projects, has been at odds with the council, but has not caused residents and community leaders to choose sides. Now that is inevitable.

How deeply the community will be polarized cannot yet be estimated. The many supporters of the defeated council candidates appear to be rallying for the ouster of the three men.

Council supporters, who were in the majority at the election, view the investigation as an unnecessary waste of time and money and seem reluctant to expect the councilmen to divest themselves of all money-making ventures for their council salary of $150 per month.

ART BUCHWALD

Very Deep Southern Strategy: The Carswell Senate Boom

WASHINGTON — The Republican Party, through its southern strategy committee, has pulled off one of the most interesting political coups in modern history. They managed to make a practically unknown federal judge the leading candidate to win the senatorial race in Florida this year.

I can now reveal how they did it.

THE REPUBLICANS were very worried about winning a senatorial seat in Florida in 1970. None of their candidates had any glamor or charisma and Florida had been written off to the Democrats.

But then someone in the White House (there is still some confusion as to who it was) remembered that there was a Supreme Court vacancy.

"Why don't we," he suggested, "use the vacancy as a means of building up someone to run for senator from Florida?"

"How?" one of the denser Republican Party officers asked.

"Let's put someone up for the Supreme Court from Florida who couldn't possibly be confirmed. Then after he is turned down, he'll announce he's running for the Senate. By this time he'll have become a household word."

AN OLD-TIME political pro said, "Wait a minute. Suppose we find this guy, put him up for the court, and the Senate confirms him? Then we'll have wasted a lot of time and money."

"Agreed," a southern strategy expert said. "The trick is to find someone for the court that the Senate wouldn't confirm in a million years."

The strategy committee agreed to find someone in Florida that the President could nominate for the court, at the same time one the Senate would turn down. After going over the records of every judge in Florida they finally concluded that federal Judge Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee was their man.

A quick check of the nation's law schools revealed that the majority of the deans were against him, which was encouraging as far as the southern strategy committee was concerned. Judge Carswell would also be opposed by labor, liberal and black groups, a good sing — not only to keep him off the court, but also to be used later in the senatorial campaign.

AT THE NEXT meeting of the southern strategy committee everyone made his report. The White House man said, "The President wants to make it perfectly clear he's willing to go along with this strategy to get a Republican senator from Florida, but he doesn't want it to take too long because he does want a justice on the Supreme Court, and he can't afford to nominate too many straw men."

The committee assured the White House man that Carswell would be defeated in no time and then the President could get on with filling the seat.

But what the southern strategy committee hadn't counted on was how close the Carswell vote would be. Many senators, who were not informed as to what the Republicans really wanted Carswell for, indicated they would vote for him for the court.

This scared the pants off the Republican strategists, as they didn't want to lose Carswell for the Senate election. They also had assured the President, Carswell could never make it for the court, which was the only reason President Nixon had nominated him.

In desperation they called up Bryce Harlow, the White House lobbyist, and said, "Bryce, you've got to help Carswell lose."

REALIZING the implications of what was at stake, Harlow immediately started calling up senators saying Margaret Chase Smith was going to vote for Carswell. He had someone leak to her what he was doing, and predictably she voted against Carswell and saved the day for the southern strategy.

It was one of the smoothest operations Washington ever saw. Now the big question: Can the Republicans defeat Judge Blackmun so he'll get to run against Hubert Humphrey in the Senate race in Minnesota?

$113,250 Worth Of U.S. Bonds Bought

Marinites purchased $113,250 worth of U. S. Savings Bonds during March, William P. Murray Jr., county savings bonds chairman, has announced.

Murray said statewide sales totaled about $30 million during March and this represented about a $1 million increase over the total collected the same month last year.

New Directors Are Elected

The Mariner Cove Improvement Association has elected five board members to two-year terms.

The five are Lawrence Elleson, Richard T. Hollingsworth, Herber C. Leney, Virgil Hammock and William J. Ridyard.

Ridyard, president of the association, said the board would meet May 13 to elect new officers.

The association's annual dinner, which was to have been held in conjunction with the annual meeting Friday, was cancelled because of too few reservations.

Ridyard said the board has discussed the possibility of dropping the dinner each year, but decided to continue it.

Center Action To Be Charted

The Tiburon City Council will decide its next action in opposing Mill Valley's attempt to annex 110 acres of commercial land at the Strawberry Shopping Center area when it meets today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Mill Valley opened another round last week in the four-year feud with Tiburon over the tax-rich parcel when it asked the Marin County Local Agency Formation committee to approve the annexation.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on the Buskirk-Noble general plan for downtown Tiburon. The council declined at its regular meeting last Monday to approve the plan until two new councilmen were seated.

Woman Forger Gets 100 Illegal Pills

A young woman about 21, using a forged prescription from a San Francisco physician, obtained 100 seconal tablets Thursday from the Northgate Drug Co., 290 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael police reported today.

The bogus prescription was made out to a Jean Simpson of 1461 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, on a prescription blank from Dr. Carmelo C. Celestre. Dr. Celestre told police he would report the forgery to San Francisco police.

A Tournament Champion Who Is Willing To Take A Gamble

TV producer Barry Crane didn't win his top spot in the all-time master point ranking by sitting tight. Crane's willingness to go for broke both in the bidding and in the play is illustrated in today's hand, taken from a regional tournament played last month.

WEIRD BIDDING

If the bidding seems weird, it isn't because the tournment was held just across the street from Disneyland; a few tournament players stick to the textbook methods recommended for rubber bridge players. Crane's opening bid was based on the fact that no-trump contracts score more than minor suits. West's overcall of two diamonds was, of course, artificial, promising length in spades and in some other suit. (Don't bother to try this yourself; not even tournment players agree on this kind of artificial bid.)

If West had led the king of hearts, you wouldn't be reading about this hand. But West led a spade, and Crane was sure of the first ten tricks instead of losing the first ten.

NOT SATISFIED

Craine saw how narrowly he had escaped from disaster, but he was not satisfied. He cashed one of the top clubs, noting the fall of the jack, and then ran the six diamonds to see if anybody turned blue in the face.

West discarded two low hearts, then two low spades. His next discard was the jack of spades, made with obvious reluctance. West finally parted with the king of hearts with even more reluctance.

KNEW HAND

Crane knew just what was going on. Even though he was already sure of a good score for 10 tricks at no-trump, Crane led his remaining club, and took a finesse with dummy's nine. This gave him all 13 tricks and a clear top.

Tournament bridge is a very comfortable game as long as you don't look down.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your left, bids one club. Your partner doubles, and the next player bids two clubs.

You hold:
S Q 10 4
H- 10 9 6 3 2
D- 10 9 6 4
C- J.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You have only two points in high cards (don't count anything for the jack of clubs), but you have length in one major suit and help for the other major. This is just about enough for a free response to the take-out double.

Vandal Cuts Power At Police Station

The San Rafael police station lost its communication system for about 30 minutes Saturday after a vandal smashed a Pacific Gas and Electric meter on San Rafael Hill that services the station.

The police used the Marin County Communications Center services at the Civic Center until their power was restored, they reported today. The breakage was discovered at 4:30 a.m.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, April 28, the 118th day of 1970 with 247 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1788 Maryland was admitted to the Union as the seventh state.

In 1945 Fascist leader Benito Mussolini was executed by Italian patriots.

In 1951 the war with Japan officially ended when a peace treaty with the United States and 47 other nations was signed.

In 1969 French President Charles De Gaulle resigned after being defeated in a referendum.

Store Seeking Carnival Permit

An application from the Disco store to operate a carnival in its parking lot at Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive May 20-24 will be before the Larkspur Planning Commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The commission also will consider applications for a zoning change on property at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane, for architectural supervision for a proposed warehouse at 30 Rich Street, for a lot split of property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near El Portal Drive, and for architectural supervision for a bank and office buildings at Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue.

Discussion of parking policies, definition of an enclosed structure, and time limits on approved architectural supervision is also on the agenda.

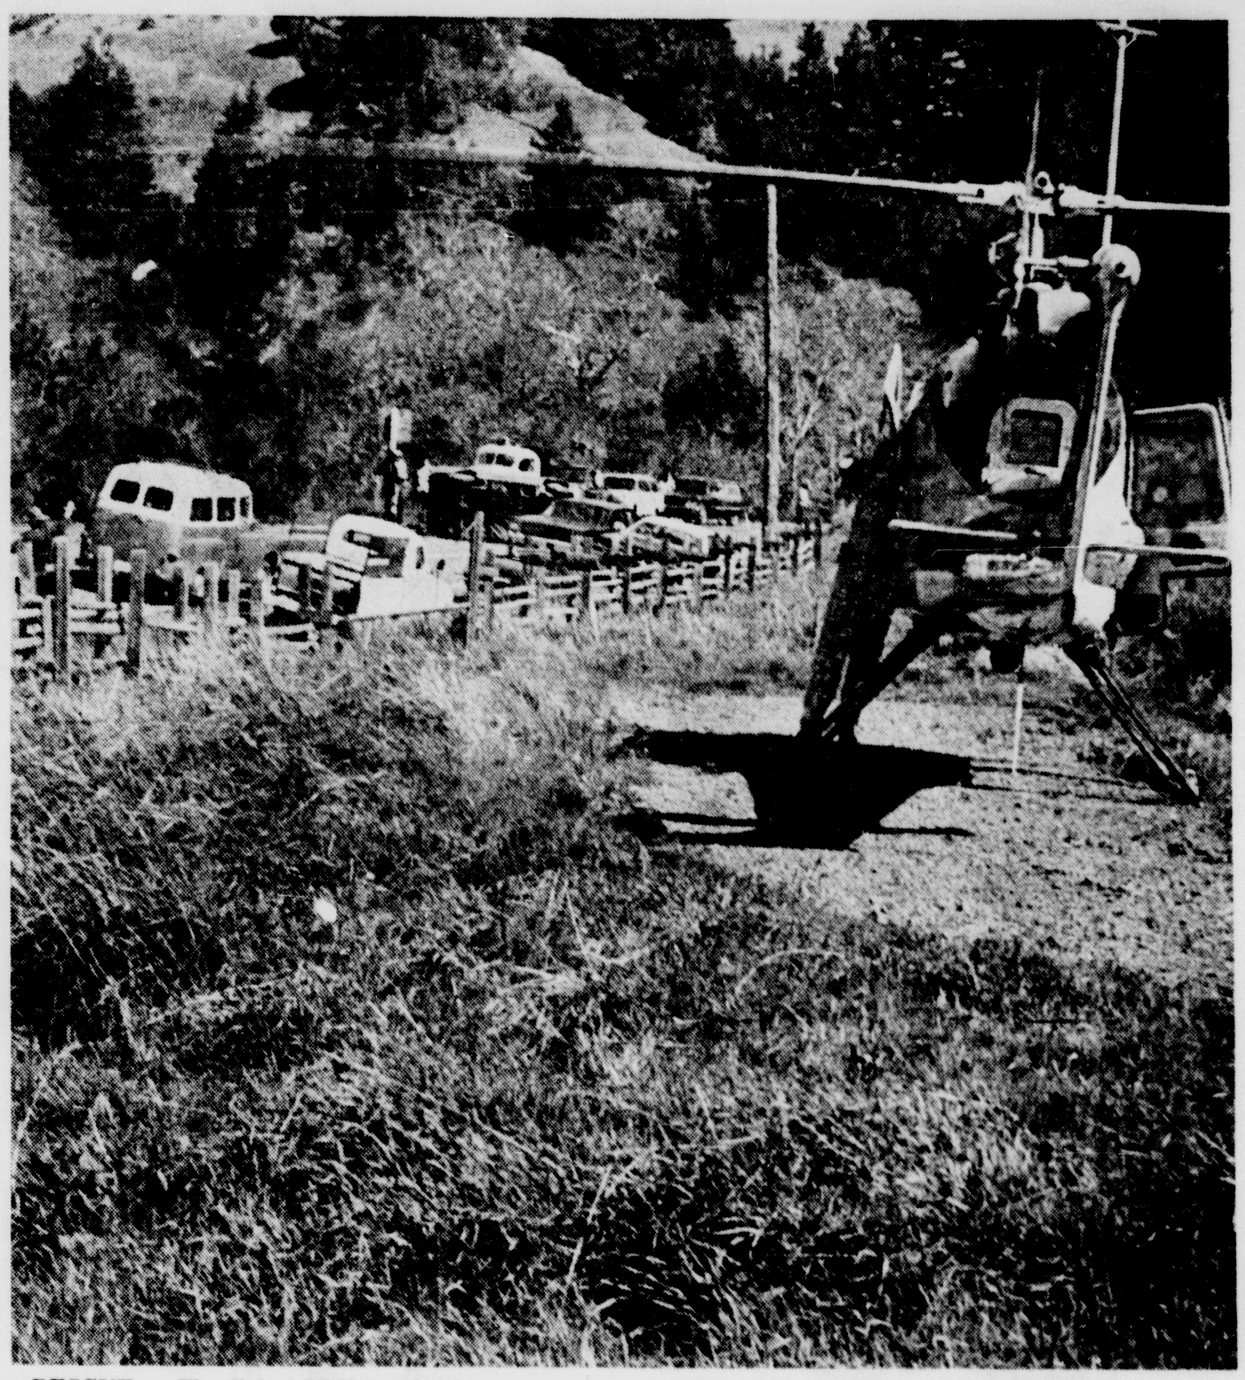
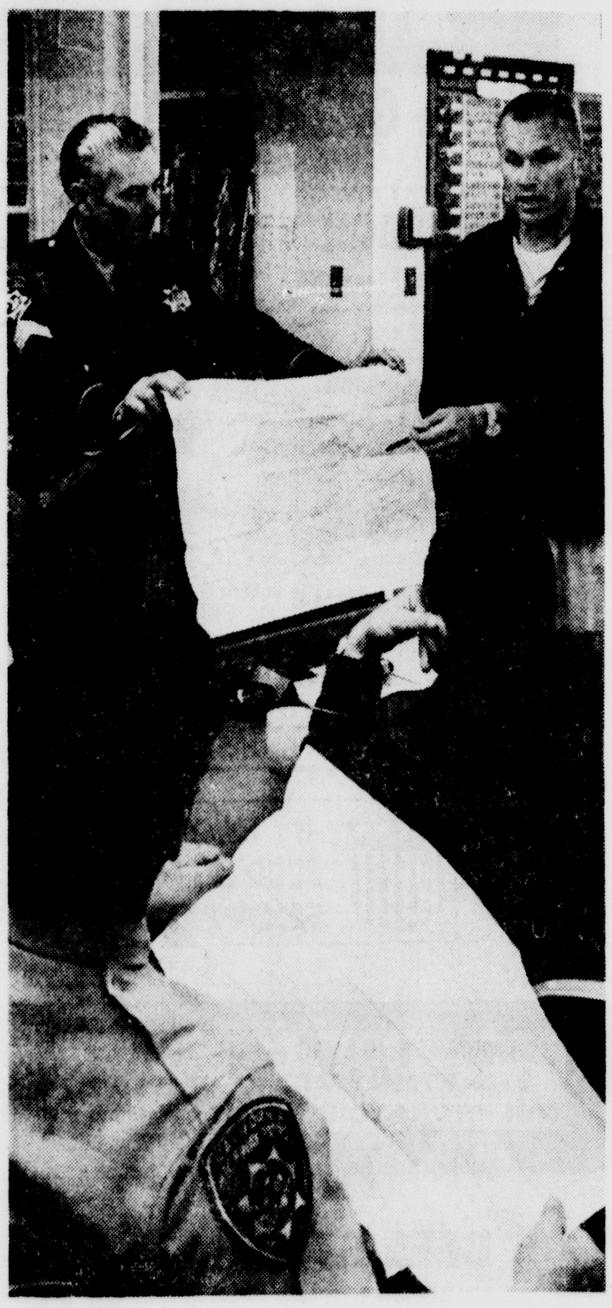
A Copter View Of Traffic

SEARCHING — Patrolman David Hayitt guides a turbo-jet California Highway Patrol helicopter over Highway 101 in San Rafael as observer, Patrolman Joseph Hansen, points out a possible trouble spot. The 130-mile-per-hour chopper is used to observe traffic patterns.



RESCUE — The Fairchild-Hiller helicopter, most effective in remote areas like West Marin, rests in a field after offering assistance to officers in West Marin dealing with the overturned car on the highway. (Photo by John Grant; other photos are Independent-Journal photos by Alfred Arn)



MAP READING — Hayitt shows other patrolmen how to give a map location to him so that all patrolmen will know how to summon the chopper in emergencies. Sgt. James C. Duke holds the map.

A DAY'S WORK — Buzzing over accident scenes like this one at Sir Francis Drake and Highway 1 in Olema to offer assistance is all in a day's work for the speedy helicopter. The patrolman standing next to his car managed the Sunday accident without any help from the helicopter.

SUNDAY RUSH HOUR — The helicopter looks down on a ribbon of cars strung out on Highway 101 at Grant Avenue in Novato. Working with a patrolman on the ground, Hayitt and Hansen and Highway Patrol Captain Dan Lyons cleared the Sunday traffic jam in about 15 minutes.

WHERE TO? — Hayitt and Hansen confer at Novato Airport prior to taking off. The $107,900 vehicle was purchased with federal funds last year to test a jet helicopter's effectiveness.

THE HUNT — Hayitt and Hansen scan West Marin for reference points for future flights in the area. The helicopter can reach any point in the Bay Area in minutes for emergencies.

BIRD FOOD — Hayitt helps Novato Airport employee John Mowatt gas up the whirlybird. It holds four people and two stretchers as well as fuel.

JIM GILMARTIN

An Unusual Athlete, That Bob McLennan

Bob McLennan is hurdler and captain for the University of California track and field squad.

For a guy who has the second best time in Cal lumber skimming history and who is given a chance to win the Pacific-Eigh Conference 440-yard intedmediate hurdles championship, McLennan is an unusual athlete.

Why? Because he pays his own way to Cal! No scholarship, no nothing — a fact that embarrasses Cal's new coach Dave Maggard into apologizing: "Oh, I do take him out to lunch once in a while."

That McLennan didn't receive the almighty athletic free ride to the hallowed halls of Berkeley didn't surprise those who watched him at San Rafael High School four years ago. He finished fifth and eighth in the Marin County Athletic League hurdles races, he recalls, and performances like that did not exactly draw talent scouts rushing to his doorstep.

But, McLennan is one of those rarities so admired in the world of sports. He's one of those guys who makes up for the lack of talent with sheer determination.

'Attacks Hurdles Fiercely'

"He attacks the hurdles fiercely and he just gets stronger and stronger as time goes by," reports one Cal track observer, who adds, "His form is a long way from perfect, but he more than makes up for it with determination."

McLennan admits he is not a model of form, attributing "my less than blinding speed" to his good times "since my form is so bad."

Bob, an impish looking, 21-year-old shaggy haired blond continues to surprise Cal track followers. For example, in a recent meet against a strong Oregon team, he scored a double victory with a 14.2 seconds clocking in the high boards and 51.7 in the intermediates, both his all-tie bests (without the aid of wind) and also both No. 2 ranking in the all-time Cal lists.

Not bad for a young man whose only "free ride" is an occasional lunch from a thankful coach.

McLennan, who is majoring in social and cultural theories of political philosophy, hopes to enter the Harvard law school next semester.

Chances are good that this young man will succeed in anything he undertakes.

Anyone who can do so much with so little has to be listed as a favorite.

You might say McLennan already has cleared a lot of hurdles . . .

Miss Walsh Scores Upset

SHARON WALSH'S performance in the Ojai Valley Tennis Tourney in Ventura County was quite gratifying to the 18-year-old San Rafael High School senior.

Although she lost in the finals of the women's singles, Miss Walsh recorded a big upset in Saturday's semi finals, a 6-4, 6-4 decision over seventh-ranked U.S. women's player Betty Ann Grubb of Santa Monica, the Ojai tourney's defending champ.

ANOTHER MARIN girl who fared well at Ojai was Abbe Wise, lefthanded sophomore at the Katharine Branson School in Ross who reached the semifinals, the best performance of any Marin junior division entrant. She finally lost in the semis to a girl who went on to win the girls' 16 group title.

Miss Wise's teammates from Branson School who performed well at Ojai were Ann Elliott, Cathie Tuttle, Wendy Boyd, Rachel Robb, Ann Welisch, Jessica Brown and Jane-Leslie Morris.

One Reggie Flies High, Other Still On Ground

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Reggie is flying high. Oakland's Reggie can't get off the ground.

Reggie Smith had a perfect day Monday lifting the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Oakland Athletics with an eighth-inning home run.

Reggie Jackson of the A's, who blasted 47 homers last year and hit .275, went hitless in three trips to the plate.

DOBSON VS. LEE

Going into tonights game, with Chuck Dobson, 1-3, scheduled to pitch against Boston's Bill Lee (of Terra Linda), 0-1, Jackson had eight hits—three of them homers—in 57 times at bat for a .140 average.

Jackson, at his request, was moved up to No. 3 in the batting order from No. 7.

Oakland Manager John McNamara had moved Jackson down to No. 7, figuring he would get more good pitches to hit.

The pitchers seem to want to avoid throwing strikes to Jackson no matter where he hits.

In last weekend's series at Yankee Stadium, New York pitchers walked Jackson five out of the eight times they faced him.

Against Red Sox winner Vicente Romo Jackson flied out deep to center, struck out swinging with two men on base, and grounded out.

Smith, meanwhile, tripled and singled twice before hitting his game-winning homer off loser Jim Hunter, 3-2.

Smith's triple and Hunter's wild pitch gave the Red Sox a 1-0 first inning lead. They made it 2-0 in the third on a walk and singles by Smith and Carl Yastrzemski.

Frank Fernandez of the A's hit his first homer of the season, a solo blast into the left field screen, in the fourth. Don Mincher tied it for the A's at 2-2 in the sixth with his sixth homer, a solo shot inside the right field foul pole.

DOUBLES

Doubles by George Scott and Rico Petrocelli put Boston back on top 3-2 in the seventh, but Rick Monday's solo homer, his second of the year, tied it again in the eighth.

Mincher's shot would have been a two-run homer but for a fine play by Yastrzemski in left field. Sal Bando singled off the wall but was cut down trying to stretch it into a double when Yaz barehanded the ball and fired a strike to second. Mincher then followed with his blast.

THE SPORTING GENTRY: BOB CUMMING

Competitive Rowing Comes To Marin

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Bob Cumming is retiring from Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. Thursday and instead of a gold watch he would probably be more comfortable with a wooden oar.

Cumming, 65, is an engineer for Pacific T & T and has been with the company for 42½ years. He is also president of the Marin Rowing Association, a new club still in its first year of existence.

Cumming and the other members of the club, with the joint sponsorship of the Greenbrae Sailing Club, are going to let Marin County people see what competitive rowing is all about this Sunday with a series of races in Corte Madera Creek, starting at noon.

There will be two teams from University of California at Berkeley and two from Stanford competing in 1,000-meter races, and a schoolboy team from Redwood High School will be up against a team from the Lake Merritt Rowing Club of Oakland in a 500-meter test. There will also be girls' teams from Lake Merrit's club and some single and double shell events.

Following the rowing, four classes of sailing races will be held on the same course, stretching from opposite Tamalpais Retirement Center in Corte Madera to the finish line on Corte Madera Creek opposite the Greenbrae fire station on South Eliseo Drive. There will be three races in each of four classes — El Toro, Melody, Sunfish and Banshee. The sailing is scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

The rowing events will be in four-oared shells with coxwain. Members of the Redwood team are John Vallee, bowman; Woody Buckner, Mike Sullivan, Steve Barbour and Eric Gray, coxswain.

Cumming, a native of Paisley, Scotland, still carries his Scottish brogue. He keeps active in rowing and says it's a great exercise.

"You can row as hard or as easy as you want," he said. "We started the club for two reasons — for exercise and to do something for the kids, give them a chance to learn rowing."

There are 15 adult members and six boys from Redwood High in the club.

After leaving Scotland in 1919, Cumming lived in British Columbia and then moved on to the United State in 1927. In July of that year he was living in the Bay Area and two months later started his long career with Pacific T & T.

While living in Canada, a friend introduced Cumming to the sport of rowing and when he came to the Bay Area he joined the South En Rowing Club of San Francisco, and was active in that club from 1928 to '35.

Wanting to advance with the Pacific Telephone Co., he went to Healds Engineering School in S. F. from 1932 to '33 and was able to work his way up from his starting job of installer.

Cumming, who now lives in Kentfield, was one of the key men to start the Marin Rowing Club last June. "There were nine of us then and now there are 15," he proudly says.

Working with Cumming for the Sunday free show are A. L. Horstmeyer Jr., vice president of the Marin Rowing Association, and Dennis Beall and Jim Gray, commodore and vice commodore of the Greenbrae Sailing Club.

The 44-foot long shells to be used in Sunday's races have been provided by the Lake Merritt Rowing Club and honorary regatta chairman will be Larkspur Mayor Benton A. Sifford Jr.

N. L. RABBIT BALL

Jansen Says Glue The Cause Of It

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—If the baseball is going farther faster this season, as some pitchers claim, San Francisco Giants pitching coach Larry Jansen thinks he knows the reason.

Jansen, who has been doing some carving with his pocket knife, claims the newest balls have a rubberized glue just under the leather cover and that balls manufactured earlier do not have the glue.

Charles Feeney, in his first season as National League president, replacing Warren Giles, already has denied a dozen times that the ball is any different than it was 30 years ago.

RUBBERIZED

"Last year, we started to get balls with a rubberized glue between the leather cover and the inside wrapping," Jansen said Monday as the Giants were off, awaiting Tuesday night's game in Candlestick Park against the New York Mets.

"If anything is making the ball go farther faster this season, the glue must be it," Jansen says.

The Giants were issued 750 dozen balls at the start of the season, all with Giles' signature stamped on them.

Jansen inspected the balls with Feeney's signature when Giants visited Houston, Cincinnati and Atlanta.

"I've torn open discarded balls and found some Giles balls with the glue and some without," Jansen said. "The Feeney balls I've opened all have it."

At Houston, Jansen pointed out, the Giants hit five homers in their first two games there. All last season, the Giants hit only three homers in the Astrodome.

10 HOMERS

In an Atlanta-Cincinnati game 10 homers were hit.

"These things run in cycles," says Feeney's public relations assistant, Dave Grote. "I might point out that there have been some good pitching performances, such as Wayne Simpson's one-hitter and Tom Seaver's 19 strikeouts.

"Every year, somebody says the ball has been changed to make it livelier. It's not so."

He can't convince Giants' second baseman Ron Hunt, who wears a thigh bruise he swears was made by a lively ball hit by a teammate in batting practice.

When Hunt examined the injury, he joked, "there was Feeney's autograph."

UMPIRES OR USHERS FOR A'S, RED SOX

BOSTON (AP) — Ed Runge's American League umpiring crew ran into unexpected problems yesterday before the start of the Oakland A's-Boston Red Sox game.

Bill Kunkel, a member of the crew, was stricken ill shortly before the game, leaving Runge, Bill Haller and Jim Odom to work as a threesome.

The crew's equipment also was lost, at least temporarily, in shipment from Kansas City. Runge, Haller and Odom donned Fenway Park usher's uniforms and Red Sox caps for the game.

Six-Run First Inning Does Job For Cal's

Cal's Steak House scored six runs in the first inning and went on to defeat Mike's Bar and Grill, 11-5 last night in the San Rafael adult softball league.

In other games, Round Table Pizza downed Native Sons, 8-3, and the Harding Gophers won by forfeit over the San Rafael Jaycees.

Day At The Movies Works Wonders For Chamberlain

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain spent the day at the movies . . . and the New York Knicks paid for it later.

Chamberlain studied films of last Friday night's loss to New York, then adjusted his style accordingly to lead Los Angeles over the Knicks 105-103 in the National Basketball Association playoffs Monday night.

The title-hungry Lakers thus tied at 1-1 the best-of-7 championship series which resumes in Los Angeles with games three and four Wednesday and Friday nights.

NOT PROUD

"I watched movies of the first game . . . and I wasn't too proud of my performance," said the gimpy-kneed Chamberlain, who let Reed slip by for 37 points as the Knicks grabbed the opener 124-112.

It was different Monday night as Chamberlain turned into an animated horror show for Reed. The king-size Los Angeles center, despite knees ravaged by surgery and chronic arthritis, took down a game-high 24 rebounds, scored 19 points and intimidated Reed.

The play of the game came in the closing seconds when Chamberlain practically jammed a Reed layup down his throat. The shot would have tied the score.

CREDIT

"I have to give Chamberlain credit," said Reed. "He did a heck of a job rehabilitating himself after that operation on his knees earlier this year.

"I play with bad knees and I know what he's going through to play. It's a double effort to do it on those knees."

Chamberlain missed 70 games of the regular season after knee surgery, and admits the operation and the years are beginning to take their toll.

"I'm sure not the Wilt of old," the muscular, goateed giant said, "but it doesn't matter if the team plays as well together as we did tonight. "Some people expect the miracle job because my name is Chamberlain. But Reed has always been tough for me to handle.

"I just try to do my best, take the shot that I have most confidence in. We won tonight because the team did the defensive job."

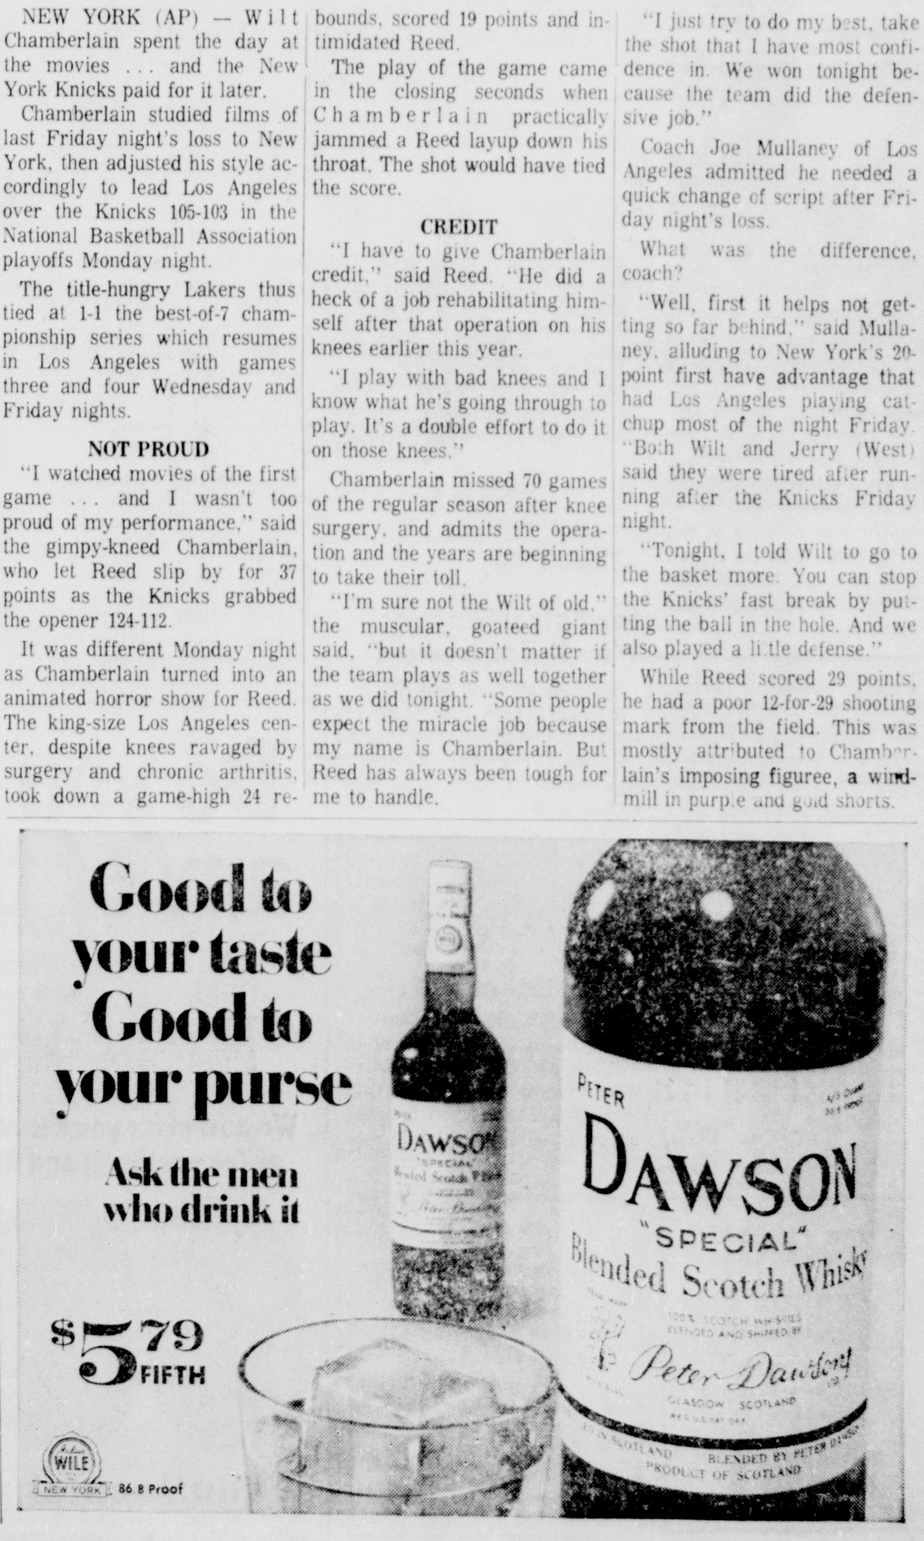
Coach Joe Mullaney of Los Angeles admitted he needed a quick change of script after Friday night's loss.

What was the difference, coach?

"Well, first it helps not getting so far behind," said Mullaney, alluding to New York's 20-point first have advantage that had Los Angeles playing catchup most of the night Friday. "Both Wilt and Jerry (West) said they were tired after running after the Knicks Friday night.

"Tonight, I told Wilt to go to the basket more. You can stop the Knicks' fast break by putting the ball in the hole. And we also played a little defense."

While Reed scored 29 points, he had a poor 12-for-29 shooting mark from the field. This was mostly attributed to Chamberlain's imposing figuree, a windmill in purple and gold shorts.



FISH AND GAME

Some Timely Advice On Fishing Sierra

By AL GIDDINGS

I have received some calls about fishing the Sierra where one has a chance for larger trout in some of the mountain lakes. People ask if the baits and gear are the same? What about trolling and fly fishing?

First of all, one has to get to some of these mountain lakes. It's a good idea to check with the Department of Fish and Game in Sacramento or with the Forestry Service before trying to reach lakes with altitudes over 5,000 or 6,000 feet. Many of the roads are snowed-in, and in many cases the lakes are frozen over. Some of the higher altitude lakes are not fishable until July.

But let's say we have successfully reached a Sierra lake. A light cartop boat can certainly be a big help. Trolling is usually a pretty sure way of getting fish. I usually start by trolling streamer flies, fairly large, tied on a number six or eight hook. If you use a fly rod with a sinking fly line, no sinker is usually needed. If you use light monofilament line, a small sinker can be added for better depth.

Small, quiet motors, certainly no larger then 10 horsepower, are best. Slow speeds are also best, so your motor should be finely tuned before leaving home.

IF FLIES don't work, try lures such as a Wobblerite, abalone killers or small Dardevle. If there are big fish in the lake, trolling with flat fish or the new Rapala or Rebel is the most effective. If you have the boat but no motor, rowing a calm lake is fairly easy.

It is also possible to just drift and cast these different lures. If the lake isn't too deep, anchoring (use two anchors, front and stern) to keep the boat still can be great if you can find the baits the fish are hitting. Good baits? I like roe or large nite crawlers, but people catch fish on cheese, liver, worms, salmon eggs and even marshmellows. The new Potsky eggs have been killers, but they are expensive.

Remember, too, that the Sierra lakes can be very clear, making light leaders essential. I remember going to French Lake above Truckee where the fish would only take a single egg with a number 12 gold short-shanked hook hidden in the egg, and only tied to a one half pound test tippet. No one else in the lake caught a fish, though the fish could be seen all along the shoreline. We had to tie a new set-up after every fish or so. And having a small landing net is most essential under these conditions.

I guess I've left out the most sure-fire trolling method. Using attractor blades with a worm or a grub, or even a lure or a fly trailing can be deadly, but it's not my choice as the most sporting method. But lots of people do it this way, especially in the midsummer when the fish are deep.

EVERY ONCE in a while you may be on a lake when there is an ant or a bug hatch or some type going on. When this happens, get your fly rod out, using a tapered floating fly line, a nine foot tapered leader and a fly that resembles the bugs hatching or flying around you. This can be the ultimate in fishing.

I remember an ant hatch on Webber Lake some years back. It was a ball with fish rising all over the place. They hit like a bomb, and being mouth hooked were able to give exceptional fights. Sure, lots are lost, and it's easy to release a hooked fish, all of which makes the sport what it is!

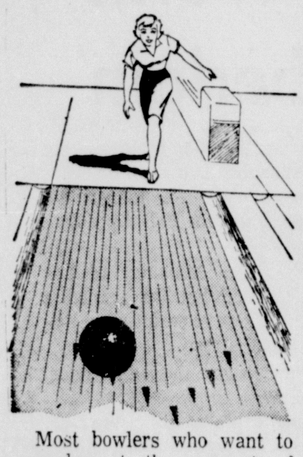
Casting out the fly, watching it sit and drift on the surface; then having a fish take it completely out of the water, and having you either hit or miss the set will keep you alive.

Bob Wise, the old Webber Lake pro, says, "Cast to the rise. The fish, after taking a bug, always looks back to see what he missed. And if your fly hits the spot, you'll have a fish on!"

Now you can't beat that advice.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Most bowlers who want to complement the amount of hook they develop choose a spot over which the ball should be rolled. This is generally the second spot from the right (see illustration). This type of bowler depends on a consistent pocket hit, or at least comes as close as can be expected. But remember not to look at the pin until your ball has rolled over the selected spot.

MARIN HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS NOTES

North-South Ball Game Set June 18

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Gary Hughes, baseball coach at Marin Catholic High School has announced the selection of coaches for the first annual North-South Marin County Athletic League game, to be played the evening of June 18 at Albert Park.

Heading the North team, which will be composed of players from San Rafael, Terra Linda, Novato and San Marin, will be San Rafael's Jack Sims.

Al Endriss of Redwood will coach the South, whose players will come from Tamalpais, Redwood, Drake and Marin Catholic.

Hughes, who says he got the idea for such a game a few years ago, brought the affair into reality this year when he found a worthy sponsor, the San Rafael Knights of Columbus.

All proceeds from the game will go to set up a scholarship for needy students in Marin County, Hughes said.

QUESTION: WHO'S the best knuckleball pitcher in the MCAL? Answer: Jerry Warburg, Redwood's junior varsity star who has won six games and lost none while leading the Giants to first place with a league record of 5 and 0.

Warburg, who has allowed seven earned runs in 40 innings (Redwood has played 13 games overall), struck out 43 and walked only 5, could never claim that his teammates don't support him. They've scored 50 runs in league games so far against only 15 for the opposition. Third baseman Jamie Williams is the team's leading hitter with a .451 average.

THIS YEAR'S award for the "Athlete Who's So Much Better Than Everyone Else That It's Silly" goes to Novato diver John Summerfield. His coach, Harland Bartholomew, puts it succinctly: "Wherever he dives people just stand around and stare at him. They've never seen anything like him before."

Neither, to be sure, has the MCAL. Only a sophomore, Summerfield is rated as having a good chance to take all the marbles in the upcoming North Coast Sectional meets. As for the MCAL meet this Saturday, Summerfield is to the rest of the league's divers as the Lions were to the Christians.

SPEAKING OF favorites, Tamalpais' doubles team of Andy Moffat and Terry Moor are, according to coach George Gustafson, a good bet to make it to the finals in the NCS tournament May 9 at Cal State in Hayward. They took Jerry Suyderhoud and Andy Giddings of Drake, 6-1, 6-0 Saturday to gain the right to represent the MCAL in post season action.

The league's singles entry will be either Suyderhoud or Redwood's Bob Knight, who were to square off this afternoon when the schools met at Drake.

WHEN THE Tam and Terra Linda swimming teams collide this afternoon at Terra Linda, the MCAL championship will be on the line, but in the B class it's all over. Terra Linda, led by Rick Lund and Casey Flaherty, has a perfect 13 and 0 record, while every other team in the league has lost at least twice.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Cubs' Joe Decker A Slow Starter

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Decker, a former pitching star at Petaluma High School, is a slow starter, but luckily for the Chicago Cubs Hank Aguirre and Phil Regan are fast finishers.

That triumvirate teamed up Monday night to pitch the Cubs to their 11th consecutive victory, a 1-0 squeaker over Pittsburgh. The last time the Cubs won 11 in a row was 1945, which just happens to be the last time they won the National League pennant.

FOURTH STARTER

Somehow (translation: New York Mets) the Cubs didn't win in 1969. And one of the reasons was their overworked pitching staff. But if Monday night's game is any indication, Manager Leo Durocher has finally found his long-sought fourth starter.

His name is Joe Decker. Well, actually, his name is George Henry Decker, but as far back as he can remember—he'll be 23 on June 16—everyone's called him Joe, or Joey, and he doesn't know why.

And the Cubs don't much care, by George. Not after the way the 6-foot, 175-pound righthander throttled the Pirates on six hits for 8 1-3 innings.

TRIPLE

Decker left after Roberto Clemente's one-out triple in the ninth. Aguirre walked Bob Robertson, but Clemente was nailed in a rundown when Al Oliver tapped back to the mound. Regan then came on and got Jerry May to bounce into a game-ending force play.

Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 4-3 in the only other NL action. Montreal's scheduled game at San Diego was rained out.

In the American League, it was Cleveland 5, Minnesota 1; Boston 4, Oakland 3 and Washington 6, Milwaukee 5 in 10 innings.

SIXTH YEAR

Decker, who beat the Mets on the final day last season for his only other major league decision, is in his sixth year as a pro. But his development was slowed in 1966-67-68 when he attended Arizona State University and didn't play baseball until June.

"By the time I was ready to pitch," he recalled, "the season was half over. What complicated things even more was the fact that I'm a slow starter."

Decker got in shape for baseball this season by serving a five-month hitch with the Arizona National Guard. He didn't get to the Cubs' camp until mid-March.

"Our hours in the Army were supposed to be from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. and then we were supposed to be on our own," he said. "But it never works that way. They'll find something for you to do—guard duty, raking detail or some other special duty.

NO THROWING

"I didn't throw a baseball while I was in service. The only thing I managed a few times was to do some running in my combat boots."

He threw enough baseballs Monday night to impress Pittsburgh skipper Danny Murtaugh.

"I liked him, I liked him," Murtaugh said. "He's got a fine arm, and also a good knowledge of the hitters. He couldn't make that many good pitches by accident."

The Cubs' run was unearned and came with two out in the third inning when Glenn Beckert tripled off Steve Blass and scored when catcher Manny Sanguillen let the relay get by him for an error.

FIVE GAMES

The Phillies ran their winning streak to five games thanks to the potent bat of Rick Wise, a good hitting pitcher. Wise singled to start a two-run rally in the third, with Don Money and Johnny Briggs singling home the runs.

In the fourth, after Larry Hisle alertly scored from third on a pop foul to the third baseman, Wise singled across what proved to be the winning run

Joe Hoerner came on in the seventh to nail down the victory after the Dodgers scored twice in the fourth on Willie Crawford's double and added an unearned run in the sixth.

The 20-year-old Haywood was the overwhelming choice, receiving 17 first place votes from the 20 sports writers voting. The ABA commissioned the U. S. Basketball Writers Association to make the selection.

Roger Brown of Indiana received two first place votes and Mel Daniels of Indiana, last year's MVP, received one. However, Rick Barry of Washington was second in the overall voting.

Haywood received 97 points of a possible 100, and Barry had 48 points. Daniels, Brown and Bob Verga of Carolina were next in the voting.

KENTUCKY DERBY

No Clear-Cut Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs is set to take a double-barreled shot at a goal that eluded his late, and famous, father, Hirsch—win a Kentucky Derby.

But John makes it clear that should either Personality or High Echelon win Saturday's 96th running of America's most famous horse race, the credit belongs to his father who bred both colts.

WIDE OPEN

"It will be without question a win for him," said John Tuesday morning while observing his two charges, both owned by his mother, at Churchill Downs.

Should the victory come — Hirsch Jacobs missed in seven tries—it will be accomplished in the most wide-open Derby in many years.

Without a solid favorite coming out of the series of Derby preps, a field of 18 to 20 3-year-olds is saping up for the $125,000-added, 1¼-mile classic.

At least four starters were expected to come from today's one-mile Derby Trial in which 11 were entered including High Echelon; California Derby winner George Lewis, Gotham winner Native Royality, Supreme Quality and Admiral's Shield.

High Echelon, considered the lesser half of the Jacobs threat, definitely will run in the Derby, barring injury, Jacobs said.

GOOD CHANCE

Besides Personality, the winner of the Wood Memorial, others given good chances of winning include Raymond Curtis' My Dad George, the probable early favorite after consecutive victories in the Flamingo, Florida Derby and Stepping Stone; Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen, the 1969 juvenile champion, and Samuel J. Agnew's Terlago, winner of the Santa Anita Derby.

Also drawing interest is Robert Lehmanns' Dust Commander, upset victory in the Blue Grass Stakes, a race that has produced seven Derby purse winners in the last 11 years.

But if bloodlines were the sole basis for winning a Derby then it is easy to understand John Jacobs' enthusiasm over Personality's chances Saturday.

"To him (Hirsch Jacobs) this one is the epitome of breeding," John said. "He felt now he had reached the peak. He said he felt this should be a classic horse."

Personality is by Hail To Reason, a champion race horse and sire, out of the champion mare, Affectionately.

Hail To Reason, a winner of nine races as a 2-year-old, the only year he raced, has sired many stakes winners including Proud Clarion, winner of the 1967 Derby.

Affectionately, by Swaps, winner of the 1955 Derby and sire of 1963 winner Chateaugay, won numerous stakes during a lengthy racing career.

Two Derby hopefuls worked out Monday. Native Royality went three-eighths of a mile in 34 seconds and out a half in 46. Mrs. J. Simpson Dean Jr.'s Holy Land moved a mile in 1:39 2-5 and galloped out another eighth in 1:53.

In other Derby developments, Silent Screen, My Dad George and Charles Windle's Cassie Red were walked, Her-Jac Stable's Naskra was shod and Kuhn's and Hickey's Robin's Bug, winner of the Survivor Stakes at Pimlico last Saturday, arrived at the Downs.

Soccer In Denver

Teutonia, champion team of the San Francisco Soccer League, will take on the Denver Kickers Sunday, May 3, in Denver, Colo., in the semifinals of the U.S. championships.

Playing on their home field, at an elevation of 6,000 feet, the Denver team will be favored to win over the San Francisco team, which includes some players from Marin County.

Buy Plough For Sound Growth Stock

By Roger E. Spear

Q. For retirement we are building a portfolio committed primarily to growth stocks. Can you suggest a suitable purchase at this time? — A.F.

A. Plough, Inc., which produces cosmetics, medicines and household products and operates a radio network, appears to fit your objectives. Well-managed with an excellent trade position, PLO has exhibited a genius for stable growth over an extended period. Profits increased at a compounded annual rate of approximately 15 per cent over 1957-1969. Moreover, this medium-sized (1969 sales of only $134 million) producer has achieved this healthy growth at a seemingly effortless pace.

The company has no long-term debt and less than seven million common shares outstanding. Net sales for 1969 improved 10 per cent while per-share profit, assuming conversion of outstanding preferred stock and after deduction of federal surtaxes, was $2 compared with $1.85 in 1968. Continued gains are expected in 1970.

In short, Plough is an attractive commitment for long-haul purposes.

Q. I bought Research-Cottrell at a higher price than it is now. Should I hold or sell at current levels? — L. K.

A. Research Cottrell reported a 47 per cent advance in sales for the first quarter ended January 1970. Net income rose 7 per cent but, because of a greater number of shares outstanding, per-share results were flat year-to-year at 12 cents. Under current market conditions, high-multiple glamor stocks, such as RC, are extremely vulnerable to profit taking.

Loss For Western

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Western Airlines reported a loss of $2 million for the first quarter on revenues of $67.8 million compared with $2.8 million loss a year ago on revenues of $58.8 million.

Another Bad Session For Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market suffered another sharp decline today, with the Dow Jones average plummeting once again to a new six-year low. Trading was active.

Earlier in the day, the market jumped a notch, and at one point the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up almost two points.

Analysts attributed this short-lived flurry to a half-percentage point cut in the prime interest rate by a small California Bank. Larger banks did not follow suit, however.

Declining issues led advances by about 2 to 1. Earlier, advances had been ahead by a small margin.

Analysts blamed the collapse on continued investor skepticism, noting that volume during the rally attempt was moderate.

The government's report that its index of leading economic indicators dipped in March after a gain in February also contributed to the market's weakness, analysts said. These indicators tend to foreshadow broad movements in the economy.

On the American Stock Exchange, the volume leader was Milgo Electronic, off ½ to 26½. Other Amex prices included Saxon Industries, off 4⅝ to 57⅞; Asamera Oil, off ¼ to 10; Tyco Laboratories, off ½ to 8¾; Digital Equipment, up ⅝ to 81¼; and Solitron, down 1⅞ to 23⅛.

San Rafael's Baronial Cake Box To Become Viking Pastry

Veteran Marin baker Fred Kittler and his wife Jenny, who have owned and operated the Baronial Cake Box at 1007 C Street, San Rafael, for almost 23 years, have sold out and are retiring.

They have sold to Erick and Mailis Sundell, newly moved to Terra Linda from San Francisco where they recently disposed of their interest in the Scandia Pastry Shop on Powell Street. For several years Sundell was manager of a Woolworth bakery on Market Street and it was here he became acquainted with Kittler. The Sundells were originally from Sweden and they also had their own bakery there.

They were to take over Baronial today but are closing for a brief remodeling period, hoping to reopen shortly after the first of the month. New name will be Viking Pastry and it will be a Swedish-type bakery, specializing in pastries, but will continue with the baking of bread.

The Kittlers, for many years residents of Forest Knolls, are now living in San Anselmo.

NOVATO DRUG STORE OWNER Larry Dean who has operated Dean's Rexall Drug Store at 1205 Grant Avenue for the past 22 years, is also going out of business.

He is selling out all fixtures and stock, but expects to be there until about June 1 before closing the doors. Until then he will keep the prescription department going.

Plans are to continue living in Marin but to take a long vacation - on doctor's orders.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Your Feet Hurt? It's Nothing Compared To Old Chinese Rite

So you think your feet hurt? In old China, when a girl was only 4 or 5 years old, her feet were bandaged so tightly the child was barely able to endure the pain. The big toe was free but the other toes were folded under the sole.

Each morning and night the bandages were removed and reapplied more tightly.

In time, the poor toes were bent to such an extent that they almost reached the heels. The goal was to narrow the space between the heel and the ball of the foot so that not even a coin could be inserted without force.

IT WAS TORTURE and explains the Chinese saying "each pair of bandaged feet means a bathful of tears." The feet were so severly mutilated that the victim did most of her work on the knees. The ancient practice was finally abolished in 1912 when the Chinese Republic was established.

Most women pay more attention to their hands than their feet, and as a result, foot pain is a common complaint among the fairer sex. They may suffer in silence for a long time before seeking medical advice.

SENSIBLE SHOES may not be stylish, but they prevent plantar warts, ingrowing toenails, bunions, fallen arches, and arthritis.

More and more parents are determined that their children will not grow up with foot problems.

Shoe size and the feet should be inspected periodically, but it is more important to check the spine and posture. When the spine has a curve in the wrong place, the weight of the body shifts and creates pressure points where there should not be pressure.

EXERCISES FOR THE FEET and correct posture are important, especially in children. Walking properly deserves more attention than it receives. (Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on exercises for posture.) Proper fitting, comfortable shoes also are a must. And don't forget—as the child grows, so do his feet.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

VARICOSE VEIN THERAPY

Mrs. P.V.D. writes: I've seen three doctors and each one has suggested a different treatment for my varicose veins. Our family doctor recommends injections; the second physician said ligation was the answer; the third decided complete stripping was the only solution. Please advise.

REPLY

Stripping eliminates the vein entirely; the other two methods block the passageway via clot formation (injections) or tying off the vein (ligation). Cure probably will be obtained with any one of these procedures, but stripping is the most modern form of therapy of varicose veins.

GAS-FORMERS

C.A.R. writes: I am anxious to ascertain what foods are most likely to produce gas. Can you help?

REPLY

Among the most common gas-forming foods are cabbage, onions, raw apples, coffee, beans, and fried and greasy foods. There are many more, however, as shown in our leaflet. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

DURATION OF 'CHANGE'

B.E. writes: If the menopause starts at 50, at what age will it be completed?

At 50, chances are that the change will last about a year. Menopause means cessation of menstruation. In some women the menses stop suddenly; in others, there is a gradual reduction of the flow. The presence or absence of hot flashes is not a determining factor.

Larkspur Man's Condition Fair

A 21-year-old Larkspur man was listed in fair condition in Marin General Hospital with a fractured skull today after the car in which he was riding overturned just before midnight.

James Vandale of 81 Elm Street was a passenger in a car driven by James E. McKenna, 20, of 216 Ridgewood Avenue, Kentfield.

The California Highway Patrol said McKenna was northbound on Bon Air Road about 11:30 p.m. when the car ran off the roadway and overturned. McKenna was treated for body bruises.

TV REVIEW

Reflections On Filming 'Casablanca'

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There are those of us who never can turn off television reruns of the classic 1943 Oscar-winning movie "Casablanca" starring Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman.

What a wonderfully crafted movie it seems, this film that touched the heartstrings of a generation. And how amazing it was, therefore, to hear Miss Bergman, on ABC-TV's Dick Cavett show the other night, tell of the difficulties in making it.

Cavett asked Miss Bergman whether she had a happy memory of the film, and she replied: "Quite a difficult memory because I cannot tell you what confusion there was on that picture. Nobody knew what we were going to do, and I was sure that this picture was going to be the worst picture in the world . . .I wasn't forced to do it, but I was a little worried because they said we had no script."

APPEALED TO HER

She said, however, that the producer to whom she was under contract, David O. Selznick, persuaded her to do "Casablanc." Among other things, he told her she would be beautifully dressed and the most beautiful woman in Casablanca — and this appealed to her because she felt she had not had enough such glamorous roles.

"So," she recalled, "I said: 'Well, the thought is very nice, but I must have something to say, and there isn't a word of dialogue' " But there was Bogart, and, she told Cavett: "Who could resist him? So I came very happy onto the set and was given the first dialogue, and it was written and changed and added to the whole time . . .

"I had certain love scenes to play — you remember I had Paul Henreid; he played my husband whom I thought was dead and then came back." And there was her other love, Bogart. "And I said: 'Well now, I don't know — which one of these two men do I stay with at the end, and who am I really in love with?' And they said: 'Well, you play in between because we haven't made up our minds yet' . . .

"VERY DIFFICULT"

"So it was very difficult . . .if you don't know if you should just pretend that you love this man and if you should play it kind of cool, or should you have certain glances of boredom . . .

"We came to the very end, and you remember the shot with the airplane, and Paul Henreid is flying off, and there I came, and I don't want to leave Humphrey Bogart, and there he stands with Claude Rains, I remember the scene so well, and I said: 'Now, well really, you have to make up your mind.'

"So they said: 'Well, we still haven't made up our minds, so we will shoot it both ways.' So fine. Now I do the first scene saying goodbye to Humphrey and I go into the plan, and I look at him, and we fly off, and Humphrey walked away into the clouds, and they said: 'Print it — that's the end. We don't have to do the other version.' But they didn't know it until they shot it . . . They decided that was a beautiful shot and who would want the other end now that we think of it?

"That is absolutely the perfect end."

Police Issue Warning On Fast-Talking Con Artist

San Rafael Police warned businessmen and residents today that a slick-fingered, fast-talking con artist specializing in money changing is operating in Marin County.

Officers said the man described as cleancut and in his early 20s, has cheated two San Rafael businesses out of $10 each on the pretense of changing small denomination bills for larger ones.

Crocker-Citizens Bank told police Friday the man handed a teller a fistful of dollar bills and asked for a $10 bill in exchange.

The teller counted only nine singles and asked for another as she handed him the $10 bill.

The swindler instead produced $11 dollars and asked for a $20 bill instead. In the shuffle of money accompanied by a line of chatter from the thief, the teller handed him the $20 bill, counted out the original $9 he had given her and the additional $11.

Not until the culprit had left did the teller realize the man had not returned the $10 bill she had given him at the start of the transaction.

An identical incident occurred later that day at the Children's Shoe World at Northgate Shopping Center. And a watchful teller foiled a third attempt at the Commonwealth Bank in San Rafael.

Teen-Ager Ordered To Medical Facility

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Craig Burns Champie, 19, formerly of San Anselmo and now living in Santa Rosa, to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day evaluation period before sentencing.

Noting the youth's long arrest-record, the judge asked for additional information about Champie, who has been convicted of stealing a motorcycle and possessing marijuana.

Warrant Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $5,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Harry Elmer Chapman, 43, of Mill Valley, when he failed to appear for a jury trial on charges of possessing methamphetamine and a hypodermic needle as well as reckless driving.

Two Admit To Charges From Marijuana Raid

Two persons arrested in a narcotics raid on a San Anselmo home in November 1968, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to drug charges.

Jeffrey Lynn Evans, 21, of San Anselmo, admitted that he had possessed marijuana for sale on Oct. 1, 1968 and that he had been in a place where narcotics were used on Nov. 10, 1968. He had earlier been charged with a sale of marijuana and possessing pot.

A woman arrested with him, Carolyn Lucille Emmons, 22, pleaded guilty to pot possession.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for both for June 15.

They were arrested at their Redwood Road home, where agents said they found about eight pounds of marijuana.

In Greek mythology, a three-headed dog, Cerberus, guarded the entrance to Hades.

Loud Noises Related In Marinite's Murder Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Nob Hill tenant living directly across the courtyard from Elsie Nyhan has testified she heard loud noises, a woman's voice and saw an unidentifiable man's face in Mrs. Nyhan's apartment at the murder trial of the 72-year-old widow and her son, Daniel.

Eve Porter testified yesterday she could not see the man's face because it was down obscured by portions of the window.

Mrs. Nyhan and her 43-year-old son, a Tiburon resident, are charged with beating to death a friend of Mrs. Nyhan, Mrs. Genevieve Donal, 61, of San Francisco in a Nob Hill apartment in October 1968.

Several other witnesses, including nearby tenants, also testified yesterday.

An earlier witness, Police Officer Richard Duane, testified that the slain woman's body was blocking the door when he arrived at the apartment.

He identified photos showing bruises on the victim's body, a blackened right eye and blood streaming from her mouth.

Both Mrs. Nyhan and her son have pleaded innocent.

Arthritis and rheumatism rank second only to heart ailments among chronic ailments disabling Americans.

Police said the apartment house owner, Rose Cohn, told them she had received a threatening phone call 10 days ago from a man who warned her to stop subscribing to the Independent-Journal.

LBJ Interview Claimed Censored

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Columbia Broadcasting System interview with former President Lyndon B. Johnson deletes, at Johnson's request, a comment questioning the Warren Commission's theory that a single assassin killed President John F. Kennedy, the Washington Post reported today.

The Post said the deletion, made in the final scheduled segment of an interivew with the former president, was requested by Johnson on grounds of national security. The telecast is to be aired Saturday night.

In New York, CBS declined comment on the Post report.

Novato District Bill Advances In Assembly

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation aimed at helping the City of Novato absorb the Novato Sanitary District was approved Thursday by the Assembly's Local Government Committee.

The Bill, introduced last month by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would change from 80 to 70 per cent the area of taxable or assessable district land which must be within city boundaries to permit absorption of the district by the city.

Speaking in favor of the amendment at Thursday's hearing were George A. Barnwell, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, and J. Wayne Womack, Novato councilman.

The bill now passes to the Assembly floor.

Three Injured, Driver Is Cited After Accident

Three persons were injured and a driver cited for running a red light Sunday following a two-car collision at Fourth and Hetherton streets, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

A car driven by Donna Y. Gould, 34, of 23 Acacia Avenue, Belvedere, failed to stop for a red light at 12:47 p.m. and struck a car driven by Norman Lester Shepley, 54, of 400 Canal Street, police said.

Mrs. Gould and her daughter, Pamela, 8, were treated for facial cuts at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, police said.

Shepley's wife, Alice, 57, was treated at Marin General Hospital after complaining of pain in her left shoulder, the hospital reported.

Appeal Set On New Store Front

An appeal of the Fairfax Design Review board's rejection of a proposed new store front for Fairfax Hardware, 1824 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, will be considered Thursday at 8 p.m. by the Fairfax Planning Commission.

The design review board ruled April 9 that the store front would be used as a sign and would violate a proposed city sign ordinance.

The commission will also consider a request for a conditional use permit from Kermit Sheets to use his home at 78 Wreden Avenue as a two-unit dwelling. The building is zoned single family residential.

Discussion of the proposed sign and zoning ordinances will be continued at the meeting.

REMODELED SHOE DEPARTMENT

Men's shoes is one of 17 departments at the Corte Madera store of Montgomery Ward that received new carpeting, fixtures and decor in a $100,000 remodeling job. Kyle Skov and Maria Carter demonstrate how the new fixtures allow the display of more merchandise in less floor space and permit wider aisles for improved customer service and convenience. Other departments included in the remodeling were fashions, yardage, lingerie, fashion accessories, d r a p e r i e s and linens, f l o o r coverings and building materials and plumbing. The balance of the store will be remodeled next year.

NEW HOME FURNISHINGS CENTER—Lillian Lidsey (left) and Linda Dumas look over the newly redecorated home furnishings department at Wards in the Corte Madera Shopping Center. The department now has a full-time interior decorator to help customers with the correct selections in home furnishings.

LINGERIE SELECTION

Emily Brooks shows a customer the large selection of items in the newly remodeled lingerie department at the Corte Madera store. Women with baby strollers appreciate the wider aisles permitted by the redecoration.

Warm Colors Are 'In' For Kitchens

Gold, yellow, orange, and white—currently the most popular decorating combinations for kitchens and breakfast areas—could be causing many family relation problems.

"Warm colors, generally are cheerful and bright and the perfect choice for the kitchen; the over use of warm colors can produce a prolonged feeling of physical dryness and emotional irritation," says Linda Adams, interior decoration instructor for the Montgomery Wards store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

"Cool colors, too, have a Negative effect in overdone," she added. "Properly used, cool colors are pleasing and relaxing. Overdo it and you way have moods of depression."

Balance is the answer, says Mrs. Adams.

She points out that the kitchen is the center of household activities and should reflect the color choices of the homemaker, and she is quick to say that warm colors are beautiful in the kitchen.

But how do you avoid parched throats and irritated families?

Mrs. Adams suggests that you keep the yellow appliances, the yellow tablecloth, the white ceiling, the off-white, gold speckled floor, and the other copper and gold accents. But change the wall color to a medium pale green, use a matching table cloth, a centerpiece of daisies and greens, white stoneware, and add white tiebacks with daisy trim for your white curtains.

The contrast of warm and cool colors means balance and provides all the benefits inherent in the dominant yellow color scheme.

Mrs. Adams promises improved family relations, physical comfort, and the compliments of friends if her advice is followed.

The proper use of color is one of eight major decorating problems covered in an "Art of Interior Decoration" course offered by Montgomery Ward's.

The eight-week program gives practical approaches to the solution of many problems and promises a professional insight into the steps required to make living more enjoyable. A small fee covers cost of textbook and materials.
